

HIS HEALTH IN A TERRIBLE STATE

"Fruit-a-tives" Healed His Kidneys and Cured Him

HAGERSVILLE, ONT., AUG. 26th 1913.

"About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My Kidneys were not doing their work and I was all run down in condition. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised, I decided to try them. Their effect, I found more than satisfactory.

Their action was mild and the result all that could be expected.

My Kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old-time vitality. Today, I am enjoying the best health I have ever had."

B. A. KELLY

PRaises GOD FOR FALL OF ANTWERP

London, October 12.—The Daily News correspondent, G. F. Stewart, telegraphing from Rotterdam on Monday says: "It is announced that the Kaiser has telegraphed to his aunt, the Dowager Grand Duchess Baden as follows: 'Antwerp was occupied this afternoon, without fighting, God be thanked, in deepest humility for this glorious result. To him be all honor.'

"Holland has been today bombarded with copies of the Kolnische Zeitung, which has apparently taken upon itself the task to spread amidst the Dutch the bitterest vituperation of England and her motives regarding the defense of Antwerp. Never before (the correspondent adds) have I seen so many men in the streets anxious to force upon me copies of this paper.

"It is obvious the whole thing is a carefully prepared attempt to counteract the effects of the Dutch feeling of the presence of thousands of refugees who have crossed the frontier during the last four days. The natural effect of even seeing these people without hearing their stories, is to cause a revulsion of feeling against Germany. The paper has collected all the denunciations of England that it could find in other journals and it quotes with relish such comments as, 'Antwerp is the sacrifice to England's self-seeking ambition and cowardice. England forced this catastrophe. England is too cowardly to set her own national power in the field. England has tricked Belgium and brought her to the shambles.'

All loyal Canadians will be glad to know that the federal government has decided to send another contingent of twenty-two thousand men to help quell the Kaiser.

BIG SURPRISE TO MANY IN FREDERICTON

Local people are surprised at the QUICK results received from simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, the German remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. Mr. George Y. Diblee states that this simple remedy draws off such a surprising amount of old foul matter from the body that A SINGLE DOSE relieves sour stomach gas on the stomach and constipation INSTANTLY.

CRIME IN ENGLAND

What Statistics Show on the Matter of Hanging

If the death penalty is a deterrent of crime, murders would be anachronisms in England. For 600 years sentenced out the death penalty for a most any crime. Men and women have been hanged for cutting down a tree, for draining a fishpond, for killing a bird. For burning coal in the limits of the City of London on man was hanged under Edward I. Elizabeth's reign thirteen were hanged after one assize for consorting with gypsies. Fewer than one hundred years ago there were 222 capital crimes in England. Not until the horrible execution of Mary Jones in 1891 for shoplifting was the public conscience awakened to the terrible cruelty of the law, and the death penalty was abolished for this offence. In 1830 there was but one capital crime in England, murder; but three more were added when the present code was adopted in 1861.

One result of the savage code that existed in 1820 was that juries refused to convict. At one time it was a hanging matter to steal linen, but the Irish linen manufacturers besought Parliament to abolish the penalty because it was impossible to secure convictions against the thieves. The same reluctance to convict in capital cases remains now. For instance, in 1891 England secured convictions in 76 per cent. of its non-capital cases and in only 33 per cent. of capital cases. In the last ten years Holland, with no capital punishment, secured convictions in 28 out of 35 homicide cases; and Belgium had 101 convictions in 132 cases. In 1911 London convicted only six in 22 murder cases, and in the same year New York convicted only 13 out of 148.

"PLOUGHING BY WIFE"

A Farmer Whose Second Wife Was His Waterloo

Lafe Choate, a Missouri farmer, who a couple of years ago became famous or infamous when it was disclosed in the Divorce Court that he hitched his wife with a pair of mules and made her help to plough, has married again, and according to the newspapers at Liberty, Missouri, he has found a Tartar, or at least a wife who is not to be imposed upon. The second Mrs. Choate was not familiar with the "ploughing by wife" incident, but she was soon informed of it by her neighbors, and promptly put her foot down. Being a woman of 176 pounds, it did not take her long to persuade Lafe that she was of different calibre from his first wife, and was not to be driven or whipped like a horse. She intimated that if he did not behave he would himself be harnessed up with the mules and made to plough. According to the newspapers, which joyously record these and other interesting particulars, "Lafe got good instantan," and is now a very ordinary henpecked husband.

Locomotives For Denmark

Great efforts are being made in Denmark to render the country independent of foreign locomotive builders, and in connection with this it is announced that the Danish State railway authorities have just placed a contract with the Frich Aktieselskab of Aarhus, for the supply of several engines. The Danish demand is, however relatively so small, says Scientific American, that any home concern is likely to experience much difficulty in competing on equal terms with the huge locomotive building undertakings in Germany, England and the United States.
