

HEADACHES ALMOST DROVE HER WILD

Until A Friend Advised Her To Use "Fruit-a-tives"

NEWBURY, ONT., May 29th. 1913. "About four years ago, I was in a dreadful run-down condition, weak and hardly able to walk up stairs. Weakness peculiar to women was the chief trouble. I had Headaches that almost drove me wild, and most distressing constipation. I took many dollars' worth of medicine from the doctors without any good results.

A neighbor advised me to take "Fruit-a-tives" and they proved to be the best medicine I ever got and the only medicine to do me any good. Today, I feel as a young girl, and am able to go about my household duties as usual. My health is splendid and "Fruit-a-tives" is the cause of it." MRS. WM. ## rites for Dixie Shaft

Washington, D.C., April 27—This was the date originally fixed for the unveiling of the Confederate monument in Arlington National Cemetery, but owing to unavoidable delay in constructing the base for the memorial the unveiling has been postponed until June 4. On that date the unveiling will take place and will be accompanied by an elaborate program already arranged. Col. Hillary A. Herbert, former secretary of the navy and president of the monument commission, will preside. The funds for the monument was raised by the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the president-general of that organization will formally turn the memorial over to President Wilson, who will deliver an address of acceptance in behalf of the nation. Former President William H. Taft, who directed that a site in Arlington be set aside for the monument, also will be a speaker at the unveiling ceremonies.

THE MEDERIC MARTIN STORIES

(Canadian Courier.)

Now that Mr. Mederic Martin is Mayor of Montreal for two years, some people are savage and some satisfied. The stories about him are as varied as the prophecies.

One is to the effect that the day after his election, he went around to see the editors of all the papers. Practically none of them had supported him, although the Graham papers the Star and the Herald-Telegraph did not oppose him. Martin went to see them all. "Now," he said, "Mr. Tarte, (or Mr. Nicol or whoever it might be) you opposed me as Mederic Martin, but I want you to support me as Mayor Martin. You will have suggestions to make, and I want you to make them to Mayor Martin. If you do not help Mayor Martin then he will not be happy." And more to the same effect. It is said that the newspaper editors were greatly impressed by this action and though they fought him hard before, they will now wait and see if he intends to initiate necessary reforms and give Montreal good government.

Another is told of how he met a charge of not being well educated in English. "They say," said he to an audience of electors "that I shall not be able to make a proper speech in English if royalty should visit Montreal during my term as mayor. Well now, let us see. Who writes the mayor's speech on such occasions? Did any mayor ever write his own speech? No my friends, they are written for him by the secretaries at the city hall. They keep these men there for that purpose. If, then, royalty should visit our city the secretaries will prepare an English speech for me. And I tell you, my friends that I can read an English speech as well as any mayor Montreal has ever had."

MILITARY EXTREMISTS

(Canadian Courier.)

Canada's military efficiency is in danger from two men—the one who has a patriotic shudder every time he sees a young man tolerate military discipline and the other is the man who wants to see Canada have an army. Because these two men are active just now, common-sense military training is suffering.

Strange how the father of a family of boys convinces himself that physical training and military discipline are not good for his boys. One can understand the man from the east end of London coming to Canada, and preaching this—because he detests all discipline. He seizes to avoid work, to have the privilege of beating his wife, and the joy of living on the wages of her and her children. One can even understand the professional socialist whose living depends upon his condemnation of the capitalist and the gentlemen. But how some industrious, intelligent Canadian fathers fail to see the tremendous value of military discipline for young men is a most beyond comprehension.

On the other hand, the present Minister of Militia is in danger of going to the opposite extreme. He is doing good work in organizing cadet corps and in getting young men to drill at the right period of their physical development. But he has not cut down the extravagance of a permanent army or modified the expenses of "headquarters." Further armaments were needed but the speed is too great. There is a danger of the people being frightened. The Minister should not prejudice the whole military situation by an undue forcing of the pace.

7,000 FOR HEART BALM; A WITNESS ARRESTED

(Toronto Globe.)

A verdict for seven thousand dollars for breach of promise in the Davis vs. Wettlaufer suit in the Assize Court yesterday was followed by the sensational arrest of County Constable McMullen, court crier, serving during the trial, and a witness in the case, on a charge of perjury.

The award of the jury came after a three days' trial before Mr. Justice Latchford, the last day being largely occupied with addresses by counsel and the judge. The plaintiff in the case was Miss May Davis, and the defendant, George Wettlaufer her employer, both of whom lived in Buffalo. She sued for fifteen thousand dollars. A stay of thirty days was granted. Wettlaufer's conduct and relations with the plaintiff came in for scathing denunciation, not only from the counsel for Miss Davis, but from Mr. Justice Latchford, who heard the case.

JUDGE'S DENUNCIATION

"With the blackguardism of this man's act in seducing this young woman you have nothing to do," said the Justice to the jury. "If a man had broken a typewriter or damaged the table it stood upon, he probably would be sent to jail, but an employer may ruin the life of a woman, honestly born, tenderly nurtured, carefully educated, and escape responsibility." He went on to say undoubtedly the girl had been unfairly treated in entering into the agreement with Wettlaufer.

Mr. Robert Harding, counsel for plaintiff, denounced the defendant in scathing terms, declaring that he was now living in Toronto with another woman, and reading an extract alleged to have been written by the defendant to the plaintiff that they were as much man and wife in the eyes of God as any other man and wife.

Mr. Robinette, counsel for Wettlaufer criticized Constable McMullen for his part in the evidence. McMullen was also court crier in the case and took off his gown to give evidence for the plaintiff. He did some work for Miss Payner in connection with the suit and was given ninety dollars for it.

ARRESTED IN THE COURT ROOM

McMullen was arrested yesterday before the court had adjourned for the day on a charge of perjury alleged to have been committed in connection with the Wettlaufer-Davis breach of promise suit.

The officer was pursuing his duties in the court all day except for the few minutes that he took the witness stand and gave evidence on behalf of the plaintiff in the action. About four o'clock Detective Montgomery arrived with a warrant for his arrest and sat in the court room for some time with it in his pocket while McMullen performed his court duties. McMullen was informed and shortly afterwards was arrested outside while the court was still in progress. He went immediately with the officers and Assistant Crown Attorney Hughes to the Crown office, where he was allowed his freedom on bail of two thousand dollars, provided by Mr. James McCormick, Grosvenor street. His arrest was made after all the witnesses for the day had been heard in the Assize Court and when counsel had started his address to the jury.

The charge was the result of information laid by Mr. Wettlaufer, defendant in the breach of promise action, in which McMullen gave evidence for the plaintiff.

SILVER FOX RANCHES MAKE BIG PROFITS

(Toronto News)

Mr. J. E. B. McCreahy, Charlottetown contributes the following account of Silver Fox Ranching in Prince Edward Island to The Montreal Standard.

A single pelt of silver fox from a ranch in Prince Edward Island, Canada was sold by D. Lamson & Co., of London, in April 1910 for $2,700. Other pelts from the same ranch were sold to the same purchasers at the same date for $2,650 and $2,500 each, respectively. Twenty seven skins including the above brought $38,005.

Since 1910 practically no pelts have been sold from the Prince Edward Island ranches, excepting of foxes that died from occasional accident, or such as had grown too old to breed. The reason for this is obvious. The profits from fox-breeding had proved to be so exceptionally large that many desired to enter the business and the demand for breeding foxes absorbed all that were produced. Breeding foxes were sold in 1910 for something more than their pelts value, say $3,000 to $4,000 per pair, and a number of new ranches were established.

EXCEPTIONAL PROFITS.

The profits were in many cases large and in some cases exceptionally so. One well known and reliable citizen of Charlottetown told me that his first venture was to join with three others in the purchase of a pair of foxes, each putting in $1,000. One year later he took out profits of $17,000 including his original investment of $1,000. A lady of my acquaintance, invested $500 in fox shares in the autumn of 1911 and a year later drew profits of $11,000.

Down to 1912 the business of fox-breeding was conducted as a private enterprise by individuals or partnerships. In that year the first fox companies were incorporated by special acts of the Provincial Legislature. There were ten of these companies whose authorized capital was from $20,000 to $60,000 each, making $335,000, in all. After the session many more companies secured incorporation under the Joint Stock Companies Act by Letters Patent. At the session in March and April, 1913 there were thirty-three fox companies incorporated by act of the Legislature, and since that time many more companies have been incorporated under Letters Patent. But many fox ranching concerns, including some of the largest, are still not incorporated.

RESULTS OF CENSUS.

Down to 1913 there were no statistics available of the fox breeding industry and many guesses as to the number of ranches and foxes therein were quite wide of the mark. But at the last session of the Legislature provision was made for imposing a tax of 1 per cent upon the value of the young foxes born from year to year, such tax to be in lieu of the tax on income derived from this source. Under the provisions of this act an enumeration was made in August last of all the fox ranches and the foxes in captivity in the Island together with a sworn valuation of the young foxes reared during the year.

As a result of this census, it was found that there are 277 fox ranches of which 130 are owned by incorporated companies and 147 by individuals or partnerships. In these ranches 3,130 foxes of all grades are in captivity of which 1,602 are classed as silver black, 565 cross and 130 ton of the young foxes this year was slightly over $3,717,162 from unclassified foxes. The sworn valuation which the Provincial Government derives $37,176.

50 PER CENT IN DIVIDENDS

The value of the young foxes of 1913 as found by the official enumeration was considerably under the actual value at present selling prices but was still sufficient to pay 60 per cent on the capital invested in the business in January, 1913 (estimated at $6,000,000) less the cost of

Specialist Could Not Remove Stone in The Bladder

GIN PILLS PASSED IT

JOLLETTE, P. Q. "During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in the Bladder.

He decided to operate but said the stone was too large to remove and too hard to crush. I returned home and was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS.

They relieved the pain. I took two boxes and went back to the specialist. He said the stone was smaller but he could not remove it although he tried for two hours and a half. I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS, and to my great surprise and joy, I passed the stone.

GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did me so much good, I will recommend them all the rest of my life."
