MUTT AND JEFF IN PANAMA

In the latest Gus Hill production "Mutt and Jeff in Panama" which comes to City Opera House on Saturday next, it is believed that the acme of stage perfection has been reached. Here we have an offering which is unique in many ways. It is a combination of farce, melodrama and musical comedy with enough plot and interest to lift it a notch or two above the ordinary play.
"Mutt and Jeff" are too well known to need further introduction to local patrons of the theatre. Their exploits and adventures have been the source of considerable amusement for years and their presence has become part and parcel of our very existence.
In the new play which was written by Owen Davis "Mutt and Jeff," have plenty to do. They are here, here and everywhere and what they do is the signal for merry laughter, hilarity and mirth. The company this season is a large and especially competent one, enlisting the services of fifty people who understand their business and who are well trained in their particular field of endeavor. The music and lyrics are by Leo Edwards and Will H.
Cobb, who have supplied plenty of song hits, dances and ensemble features. There will no increase in prices.

COMING NEXT MONTH.

"Dowager" writes to the St. John Times from London:—"The Earl and Countess of Ashburnham expect to return to Canada in June and will spend the summer in Fredericton, Lady Ashburnham's former home.
Since her arrival in England Lady Ashburnham has not been out a great deal but has been living quietly in the country. The romantic discovery of the Ashburnham silver in the banker's vaults and its sale some weeks ago was a much discussed event. I understand that Lord and Lady Ashburnham intend to spend part of each year in Canada."

NO MORE FIRES REPORTED.

No more forest fires were reported at the crown land office today and it is thought the fires which had been burning are now under control.

C.N.R. DEBATE.

The house then got back to a discussion of the C.N.R. proposals in the committee stage.

W. F. Carroll of Cape Breton, referred to the fact that Premier Borden and the Conservatives in parliament had laid down the precedent in connection with the Grand Trunk strike of three years ago that when a company refuses to treat its employes properly, any legislation that that company may seek from parliament should not be granted until justice was done to the employes.

Premier Borden, while promising that he would consider the suggestion, said that only a small portion of the mines involved in the labor dispute on Vancouver Island were under the control of MacKenzie & Mann.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley thought the agreement showed that there were many things that MacKenzie & Mann did not choose to give up and which the government did not seek to make them give up.

E. M. McDonald wanted to know if the government had asked members of the firm of MacKenzie & Mann to put all their own personal securities or if any effort had been made to secure other securities, the same as was done with the C.
P. R. in 1884.

Premier Borden said that he knew of no such arrangement with the C. P. R. The floating loan of $11,- 000,000 was to be reduced by $3,000,- 000 within the year for which Mac-Kenzie & Mann must give security.
The temporary loan must also be taken care of by them so that the railway would not be embarrassed in its operations. There was also the exaction of a stipulation that should be no claims made for services.

TENDER WITH MAC- KENZIE & MANN.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier claimed that the C.P.R. directors in 1884 pledged every cent they owned in the world.
The same had not been exacted from MacKenzie & Mann.

Mr. Carvell asked if the government had or intends to ask MacKenzie & Mann to become personally responsible for the liabilities assumed by the dominion.

Mr. Borden replied that it was perfectly understood that if the government asked MacKenzie & Mann to become personally guarantors, they would have been glad to do so.
If the securities which they had put up were not considered sufficient they would be required to furnish additional securities.

Dr. Pugsley argued that the agreement of MacKenzie & Mann to take care of the $20,000,000 due the banks and the $8,000,000 due the railway should not imply that MacKenzie & Mann would pay these debts. As a matter of fact these debts of the Canadian Northern Railway Company of which the government under the agreement became two-fifths owner.
Consequently to that extent these debts were the debt of the government.

Mr. Borden replied that the government was responsible for these debts in the same way as it was responsible for the $45,000,000 and in that way only. The government would have to pay them only in the circumstances that the C.N.R. did not become a paying proposition.

Mr. Carvell presented a computation to show that the forty five million dollars would not cover all the needs for the completion of the system. For example, he said, over $21,- 000,000 was needed for construction debts on the Canadian Northern Ontario line, nearly eight million dollars for equipment trust indebtedness and five million dollars for cash for new equipment. This made $34,000,000 and besides that there was $11,000,- 000 for the Canadian Northern Pacific and $7,000,000 for new construction on the main line, which would have to come out of the $45,000,000 all of which added together made over $52,000,000.

Mr. Borden replied that all of the items included in Mr. Carvell's calculation were accounted for in the $100,000,000 of moneys needed and which would be cared for by the $45,000,000 guarantee and the $58,- 000,000 already available. The government had made a careful investigation and were confident that the $100,000,000 included all the moneys needed.

When the discussion was resumed in the evening, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that from the wording of the resolution it appeared that MacKenzie & Mann could dispose of the stock of the subsidiary companies, which was made C.N.R. property, just as they could dispose of any other property.

Hon. Arthur Meighen pointed out that in the resolution it was stated that this stock was to be withdrawn and merged in the C.N.R. "and to remain the property of the C.N.R." Even aside from this restriction, it would be impossible for the C.N.R. to sell this stock since as soon as it became C.N.R. property it became subject to all the charges on the railroad amounting to about $360,- 000,000 and was thus scarcely saleable.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley still thought clear and proposed an amendment the wording of the clause was not thereto.
