STRAY TOPICS FROM
LITILE OLD NEW YORK

New York, May 2—Although no definite plans have been announced for the social entertainment of the Queen of Bulgaria, who is to arrive in this city the latter part of this month, it is understood that society will open its door to the royal visitor and entertain her on a large and regal scale. It is considered unlikely, however, that the element of society commonly known as the "smart set" will take any part in the entertainment of the Queen, since Her Majesty cares little for the mere gayeties of social life. The probabilities are that the royal visitor will accept few invitations except from those women of society who are allied with the great charitable and philanthropic enterprises at home and in the Orient.

Velling styles this season are nothing if not unique. A number of effects which even a year ago it would have been thought impossible to sell are now being shown and are said to be proving popular with the buyers. Variations of the beauty spot idea show the greatest latitude in design. One of the most prominent houses in the trade is now bringing out these effects with a question mark taking the place of the ordinary dot and for the girl who likes baseball there is another effect in which a bat and ball are worked into the veil. Another popular effect made by the same house shows a lizard in place of the dot.

A large number of fine books, rare manuscripts and important autographs from the library of the late Bishop Doane of Albany were sold at auction here this week. Included among the beautiful old manuscripts were marriage contracts signed by the members of the royal family of France, including Louis XIV. There were also first editions of Dickens, Thackeray and George Eliot and original manuscripts by "Mark Twain," Wilkie Collins, Leigh Hunt, Thomas Moore and others. The collection included also an interesting letter to Mrs. Doane from Harriet Beecher Stowe about the health of her son, who was wounded at Gettysburg, and a letter from William Wordsworth, the poet, to Bishop Doane, in 1845, on literary and ecclesiastical matters.

The winner of the $10,000 prize offered by Winthrop Ames of the Little Theatre for the best American play by an American author is expected to be announced next week. The contest was begun a year ago and closed last August, when more than 1,500 manuscripts had been submitted. The plays were submitted anonymously. The prize was the largest ever offered in a contest of this kind. Of the great number of plays submitted a surprisingly small number were rejected as ineligible, which left the judges with much work to do in selecting the best manuscript. The judges are Mrs. Ames, Adolph Klauer and Augustus Thomas.

MAY BRIDGE THE HUDSON.

The joint commissions of the states of New York and New Jersey, primarily created to devise plans for bridging the Hudson, have been brought seriously to consider the alternative of tunnels under the river as highways for general traffic and travel by ordinary vehicles. This looks as if bridges over the Hudson, although talked of for so many years may never materialize. The most conclusive argument in favor of tunnels and against the proposal for bridges is the fact that while the estimated cost of a bridge is $42,000,000, two tunnels, one for movement in each direction, could be constructed under the river for not more than $11,000,000.

Well known members of the theatrical profession who make up the little summer colony of actors at Siasconset, on the Island of Nantucket, were overjoyed to learn that "Bob" Hilliard had taken unto himself a second wife. For summers almost without number Mr. Hilliard has been the life and spirit of the little colony by the sea. By common consent he has been its "mayor." He has settled all disputes, refereed the tennis matches and acted as master of ceremonies at the weekly dances in the little casino. When the first Mrs. Hilliard died suddenly at Siasconset last summer Mr. Hilliard's grief was sincere and overwhelming. The couple had been a most devoted one. When the lady who keeps the only shop of any sort that Siasconset boasts, ventured to suggest to Mr. Hilliard that in the course of time he might find another wife, the actor vowed in his most impressive stage tones that such could never be the case. The other members of the colony feared that Mr. Hilliard might keep his word and that Siasconset would know him no longer. But now he has dispelled their fears and with his new bride he probably will spend the summer at Siasconset without the loss of a single season. The fact that the new Mrs. Hilliard possesses a fortune of $2,000,000, inherited from her father, a New York brewer, may help to enlighten things at the little colony this summer.

At midnight tonight the famous old Grand Union Hotel closes its doors for good and passes into history. The property, which takes in the entire block front on the east side of Park avenue, between Forty-first and Forty-second streets, has been condemned by the Public Service Commission for the purpose of constructing the new crosstown line of the subway to connect the Lexington avenue branch with the Fourth avenue subway line. For many years the Grand Union Hotel has borne very much the same relations to the upper part of the city that the old Astor House did to the downtown district. The original building was known as the Westchester Hotel and

WHEN RHEUMATISM STRIKES THE HEART
IT KILLS—"NERVILINE" THE CURE

Effect of Nerviline on Chronic Cases is Almost Magical

Exposure to wet or cold is apt to bring on an attack. The muscles stiffen, the joints swell and exertion brings on excruciating twinges.

Often the pain shifts from one part to another and this is dangerous as the heart is apt to be attacked. Death as a rule follows a heart attack.

The pain of rheumatism is quickly rubbed away with Nerviline.

This is a swift, lasting, and safe way to cure rheumatism. You can depend on Nerviline. It has the power, the penetrating force, the control over pain that is so essential to a rheumatic remedy.

Lots of certainty to prove Nerviline's certainty to cure.

The following letter is from Mr. E. G. Sauter, Point of Spain, Trinidad: "Last year I was severely troubled with rheumatism. I had it in my arms, shoulders and knees. The pain was at times excruciating and laid me up so that I couldn't work. I went to Smith Brothers' Drug Store and was advised by the manager to use "Nerviline." That was excellent advice. I used Nerviline as directed, and was cured completely of every trace of my old enemy."

Once you use Nerviline you'll realize it's different from all others—that it contains something that "at" the pain the minute you rub it on. The large 50 cents family size is the most economical—get it today, or else the 25 cent trial size. Sold by dealers everywhere or the Catarrhzone Co. Kingston, Canada.

QUEEN OF BULGARIA IS VERY GRATEFUL

Sends Message of Thanks to Mrs. J. J. Colter of This City For Humanitarian Work

Dear Mr. Editor:

The following cable message partially explains itself:

The Palace, Sofia,
April 30, 1914.

Mrs. Hattie E. Colter,
Fredericton, N.B.

Very grateful for your warm interest shown to our Bulgarians. Thank you most warmly for your gracious gift.

ELEONORA.

Some months ago an appeal was made in our local press for help for the Balkan sufferers. Mr. Hawkins of the Bank of Montreal, consented to receive and forward free of charge any monies contributed. Nothing further was heard about it until last month when it was learned that $7 had been contributed. The address was opened about half a century ago. It never changed its old character of a commercial house, and its reasonable prices, combined with the fame of its restaurant, made the name of the Grand Union celebrated throughout the country. In early years it had little competition, but notwithstanding the fact that the Grand Central Station vicinity has in recent years witnessed the advent of half a dozen of the largest and finest hotels in the metropolis, the Grand Union apparently has never lost custom and there have been few nights in the year that it has had a vacant room.

having been lost it was not forwarded by the bank. In the uncertainty as to where it should be sent it was thought wisest to send it, pitiful though the amount was, to Queen Eleonora of Bulgaria, who is an enthusiastic in all humanitarian work. In the same letter mention was made of the efforts to help the "strangers within our gates," special mention being made of the fine class of men from Bulgaria, whose aptitude in learning to read English seems, to their teachers, to be quite phenomenal.

Will you permit another appeal to be made for the bereaved ones in Newfoundland? Other towns and even country hamlets are giving. Shall this educational centre not contribute its share? While the donors will not receive royal recognition here and now, yet in some period of their existence the King of Kings will say: "Inasmuch as ye did it to the least of these, ye did it unto me."

Yours, etc.,
HATTIE E. COLTER.
