The New York Times a few days ago printed a despatch about the $35,000 fur coat, owned by Mrs. Ada Drouillard of Fifth Avenue, New York, wife of Capt. J. Pierre Drouillard. The New York Herald says of the matter:

"No article of personal comfort and adornment has aroused keener interest of the women of society than this delicately blended coat of sables, for while every maid and matron in New York who prides herself on owning soft, well chosen furs has been aware that this gem of the sable world was in the making, none knew for whom it was intended. The furriers themselves have kept the identity of the owner carefully hidden.

"The order for the coat was given by Mrs. Drouillard more than a year ago. She is a daughter of the late Paul A. Sorg, who years ago established the largest tobacco plant in the country in Ohio and made millions out of it. On his death Mrs. Drouillard came into $10,000,000, while her brother, Paul A. Sorg, owner and exhibitor of the finest stables of show horses in America, came into a large amount. He is a director in the American Tobacco Company and his wife, who was Miss Grayce Aull of Pittsburgh, developed a wonderful fondness for furs of exquisite selection and texture.

"Each woman took the utmost feminine pride in obtaining a fur wrap that was better than the last purchased by her sister-in-law, and friendly rivalry existed for several years. Last January Mrs. Sorg attracted unusual attention and the envy of the other women by appearing at the opera and theatre in a coat of Russian sables that was said to be worth $22,000. It had been the fruit of many months of careful work in the tailoring shop, and no sooner had its existence become known to Mrs. Drouillard than she placed an order with a New York house to make her the best sable coat in America, or even in the world.

"With a commission to work out the very best sable pelts to be found in Europe one man abroad had spent two and a half months in the markets there.

"With the skins well chosen, six furriers were put to work on the garment, matching, selecting, cutting and piecing. For almost one year they have worked at the one coat and it is said that the result might well arouse the envy of the Tsarina. The garment is fifty-eight inches long and weighs slightly more than seven pounds. The skins, of rich brown, with a sprinkling of white tipped hairs, are so matched that they seem to form the piece.

"The friendly spirit of rivalry to outdo her sister-in-law won a victory in a way in which she had not counted, for Mrs. Sorg's $22,000 coat was stolen from under her very eyes while she was at a party in a theatre.

"With her husband and several others, Mrs. Sorg was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Clifton Tower, of the Plaza Hotel, at a theatre party on the evening of January 25 of this year. Aside from the Sorgs, there were present Mrs. Drouillard, Mrs. Crystobal Martinez and Earl Tower, Jr. When they entered the box Mrs. Sorg removed the sable fortune and placed it on a chair beside her own. She was not out of the box during the evening and no others left, except numerous friends who came in for a few minutes to chat between the acts.

"When Mrs. Sorg arose to go the coat could not be found. No one had seen it carried from the box but it disappeared as mysteriously as if it had dropped through the floor. Every effort was made to trace it through detectives and widespread advertising but not a word of its whereabouts was obtained. With this unfortunate loss to Mrs. Sorg Mrs. Drouillard's coat now holds the reputation of being the finest in America.

"For many years Mrs. Drouillard and her sister-in-law have had a wide reputation for their lavish entertainments. Aside from their furs each has a remarkable collection of jewelry and Mrs. Sorg is said to devote as much time to gems almost as her husband does to horses. Mrs. Drouillard's home and that of her brother, Mr. Sorg, at 12 East 87th street, have been the scene of many sumptuous entertainments that have not been eclipsed by others in society.

Clearing house banks have lost fully $8,500,000 to the sub-treasury on weeks movement. This drain may be offset in part by receipts from the Interior but nothing in the known movement of cash for the week justifies this inference.

TROUBLED WITH KIDNEYS COULD NOT SWEEP FLOOR.

It is hard for a woman to look after her household duties when she is suffering from a weak and aching back, for no woman can be strong and well when the kidneys are out of order.

The weak, lame and aching back comes from sick kidneys and should be attended to at once so as to avoid years of suffering from the kidney trouble which is sure to follow if the back is neglected.

On the first sign of a pain in the back, Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go right to the seat of the trouble.

Mrs. Joseph Throop, Upper Point De Butte, N.B., writes:—"I cannot speak too well of Doan's Kidney Pills. For two years I was so tired, life was a burden and I got up more tired than when I went to bed, and my back was so lame I could hardly straighten up. I took different kinds of medicine, but none of them did me any good until a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so and to-day I don't know what it is to be tired and my lame back is all gone. I can recommend them to any person suffering with lame back and that terrible tired feeling."

Price, 50 cents a box, 3 for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

TO TRY CALIFORNIAN

Salem, Mass., Nov. 29.—With the conclusion of the Ettor-Giovannitti trial, the Essex county authorities are preparing for another trial that promises to attract wide attention. The case to be tried is that of William A. Dorr, of Stockton, Cal., who is to answer for the alleged murder of George E. Marsh, an aged and wealthy resident of Lynn.

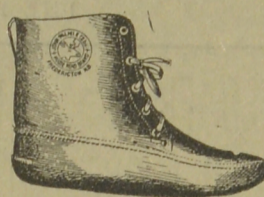

On the morning of April 12 last the dead body of Mr. Marsh was found by the roadside in the section known as the Lynn marches, a large part which is swept by the sea at high tide. The evidence showed that the man had been shot to death and his body probably conveyed by automobile to the spot where he was found.

For more than a week the police was at an utter loss for a clue to the murderer. So far as known the slain man had no enemies, while the fact that his watch and money were found on his person showed conclusively that robbery was not the motive for the crime.

A search of the personal papers of the dead man furnished information that led to Dorr's arrest in Stockton about two weeks after the murder. The papers showed that Mr. Marsh was the executor of an estate of which a woman relative in Stockton was the chief beneficiary. Dorr, the suspected murderer, was the woman's prospective heir. In the ordinary course of events the estate would have been finally settled within four years. The police theory is that Dorr committed the murder in the belief that the death of Mr. Marsh would result in an immediate settlement.

The police located an abandoned automobile which had been hired at a Lynn garage on the day of the murder by a man answering Dorr's description. Under the seat of the automobile was found the shotgun with which the crime had been committed. Relatives and neighbors of Mr. Marsh are said to have identified Dorr as a man who had been seen in conference with him several times immediately preceding the murder.

When found in Stockton Dorr is said to have been wearing a disguise. He collapsed completely after his arrest and it was feared that he might not survive the journey across the continent. He has completely recovered, however, during his confinement in jail here. He has a strong appetite and appears in good spirits.
