A GREAT LEADER

The Toronto Globe, in referring to the honor conferred upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier a few days ago by his supporters in parliament, paid the old chieftain the following graceful tribute:

"When Sir Wilfrid was chosen leader of the Liberal party in 1891, on the recommendation of his eminent predecessor, Mr. Edward Blake, he was comparatively little known as a politician outside of his own province of Quebec. He had been minister of inland revenue for a year but had failed of election in his home constituency when he accepted that portfolio. He was regarded by outsiders as a graceful platform speaker, as a good parliamentary debater, and as one of the coming men. His appointment to the Liberal leadership came to the public as a surprise and there were frequent and reiterated predictions that his management of his party would prove a failure. Like predictions were freely made regarding his premiership in 1896.

"As time passed, however, he developed statesmanship calibre and qualities that have delighted his friends and baffled his foes; enemies he has none. His forty years of service have been forty years of incessant preparation. Tacit has broadened out into sagacity. Oratory, without losing grace, has acquired force. A naturally good memory for faces, names and facts, has developed into a phenomenal one. Best of all, the inevitable wear and tear of public life have left him in his personal relations to successive generations of fellow-members the same courteous gentleman he was when he first took his seat in the house of commons. To form a clear idea of his pre-eminence in this respect one need only compare him with parliamentary party leaders of his own and other times and lands. It is a matter for regret that there is not more of his spirit displayed in parliaments generally and by our own in particular. Of the future there is no need to speak. So long as health and strength are granted to Sir Wilfrid Laurier his leadership will be gladly and gratefully availed of by the Liberals of Canada."

LIBELLING FREDERICTON

In the standard's report of the meeting of the Royal Commission on the Dugal charges we find the following:

"Mr. Carvell thought that as it might be necessary to consult books and records of the contracting companies Fredericton might be more convenient than St. John."

"Judge Wells objected to the Fredericton boat and it seemed to be the opinion of the court that it would be preferable to sit in St. John."

"Judge Wells: 'If the weather is good and if it becomes necessary we might go to Fredericton for a day or two.'"

It is quite evident that some of the St. John hotel men have been repeating for the benefit of the Judge the fiction about Fredericton which they hand out to American tourists during the summer months. While it is true that Fredericton has an occasional warm day, our climate is quite the equal of that of Moncton where the judge resides and unlike some cities we are not troubled much with a brand of fog that can be cut with a knife.

The judge may possess a profound knowledge of law, but his reference to Fredericton quoted above shows that he is badly astray on questions of fact. Just at the present time if the members of the commission were to come to Fredericton and bring some warm weather along with them they would be doubly welcome. To hear of great legal luminaries in St. John talking about Fredericton's heat, when the people here are wearing overcoats and burning up their next winter's supply of hard coal, is enough to give one the blind staggers.

The Commission of which Judge Wells is a member has been given wide powers, but it should not be permitted to advertise Fredericton to the world as a desirable place for visitors to avoid

At a political convention in North Essex, Ont., a few days ago one of the speakers declared that "the name of Flemming was a menace to the Conservative cause." He was not referring to the Premier of New Brunswick, but to a man of the same name who was out for the Tory nomination and finally succeeded in landing it.

Amherst News:—When some poor devil out of work gets drunk we hale him to the police court and his name goes into the newspapers. If a woman commits a petty theft she is arrested and punished. But when a sinuous speculator exploits a whole countryside the authorities hesitate and deliberate with anxious concern for fear the sacred rights of the subject may be imperilled. And we wonder at the growth of socialism and the unpleasant temper which is developing among thinking people who have been taught with palpitatingunction to believe that there is one law for rich and poor and no respect of person in British countries.

Lethbridge Herald:—The day when a farmer is looked down upon is past and gone forever, and the boy who thinks that because a tiller of the soil wears cowhide boots and overalls he is not entitled to recognition from the well dressed city man is sadly astray. The "farmer" of today is the most respected man in the community, and to be able to talk crops, weather or soil conditions intelligently is the height of many a man's ambition, a point in support of this claim.

The St. John Standard says that Premier Fleming smiled when the Dugal charges were read over at the meeting of the Royal Commission. This may be accepted as an indication that the premier's health is improving. The premier did not smile when Mr. Dugal submitted his charges in the legislature. He was so overcome by the shock that on the following day he was obliged to keep to his room.

Brandon News:—Imagine the fun the Finance Minister of the future will have in clipping the coupons for C.N.R. dividends and figuring on "vaster surpluses than have been."

SOME THINGS WE KNOW

That the veteran police magistrate is still holding his job.

The winter is now lingering in the lap of summer.

That the indications point to a big crop of June weddings.

That many amateur gardeners have suffered heavily from frost.

That things have quieted down a bit in the civic arena.

That the male normalites made a lot of noise last night.

That it is nearly time some work was being done on the country roads.

That it promises to be a great year for circuses.

That the normalites are to depart the last of next week.

That local trout fishermen report a poor season.

That the weather this week has been too cold for bass ball or band concerts.

That the A. and B. Club house is becoming more popular than ever.

That there will be some tall kicking over tax bills this year.

MUCH NEW SURFACE SEWER.

Roadmaster Jewett and his crew of city employees have completed the laying of a surface sewer on Smythe street as far as Aberdeen on Northumberland street as far as Westmorland and on Woodstock Road as far as Odell Avenue. All these sewers received a practical, and thorough test in the recent rain-storm and passed it well. The crew is now repairing the outlet of the Charlotte street surface sewer and preparing the sewer on Regent street for the new tarvia pavement. Already there has been more surface sewer laid than in any preceding year.

FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION.

The forty hours' devotion will begin at St. Anthony's church tomorrow morning and will close Tuesday evening. Rev. Father O'Keefe of Kingsclear, will preach Monday evening.

TO USE TRANSCONTINENTAL

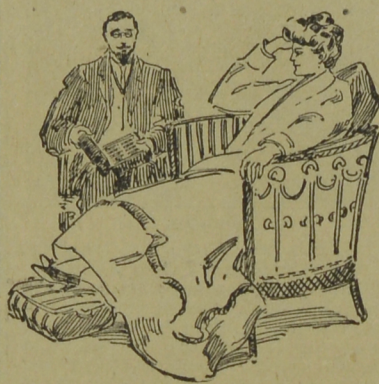

It is reported here that the militia from this vicinity will go to Sussex for the annual camp via I.R.C. and National Transcontinental which is under I.R.C. operation instead of by C.P.R. and I.C.R. as in the past. The Stanley Company is to be picked up at Cross Creek. The troop train will leave the I.R.C. at McGinney going over the N.T.R. to Moncton and thence to Sussex by I.R.C.

The Supreme Court of the United States has upheld the constitutionality of the New York law requiring railroads to pay their employees semi-monthly in cash.

VIGOROUS HEALTH RESTORED TO RUN-DOWN WOMAN

Seemed to Have Lost all Ambition, Was Pale and Anaemic

MADE WONDERFUL RECOVERY WHEN DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS WERE USED

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. Norman La Pierre, wife of a well known resident of Labanienne, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough but somehow rich and red blood I could never make. When I married I took great pride in my housekeeping but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made up by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

No medicine invigorates and renews health and spirits like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Catarthone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

LOBSTER PLENTIFUL.

North Shore Leader:—So far the salmon fishing has not been up to the average but lobsters have been plentiful for some time past. A. & R. Loggie's canneries have been running at full capacity but have been unable to keep pace with the catch and fishing was suspended last week to permit the canneries to catch up with the fishermen.

SCARCITY OF BERRIES.

The St. John Telegraph says:—"If the prophecies of the countrymen come true, strawberries and blueberries will not figure very prominently on the list of delicacies for the family table this summer. Indications, they say, are that the strawberry vines have been destroyed by the unusually heavy frosts last winter and the majority of the vast blueberry fields supplying the city were ruined by the forest fires."
