A WORLD BEATER

A printers' trade journal contains the following story of fast newspaper

"Three minutes after Mr. Balfour delivered one of his famous speeches according to The Newspaper World of London, The Aberdeen, Scotland, Evening Express, containing Mr. Balfour's speech in full, was on sale in the hall where the speech was made Linotypes played an important part in this struggle against time, as explained by Manager Coutts of The Express, in reply to a reader who questioned the possibility of the feat.

" 'The statement that The Express was on sale within three minutes of the finish of the speech may be out of it by a minute or so, but not more. The hall where the speech was delivered is not far from our office and we had a service of taxis between the hall and the office, which gave us as at arrived.'

concluded his remarks. Ottawa time vulnerable." is one hour slower than Fredericton time, which means that it would be Leod's oration is one thousand miles from the office of the only newspaper in Canada which reported his speech easy in full. So far as we know there was no "service of taxis" between the hall and the office in Col. McLeod's case nor was the paper sold in the hall. From all this it is to be assumed that the publication of Col. McLeod's speech one hour before its delivery established a new world's record.

PARAGRAPHS FROM PARLIAMENT

graphs from Conservative and Lib- C. O. F. INSTALLED eral speakers during the past week in Parliament. The contrast in view point and in logic is illuminative:

Dr. Michael Clark, Liberal member for Red Deer: "The slogan leave well enough alone' now appears to be supplanted on the part of this Government by the slogan 'leave ill enough alone"

Dr. Michael Clask: "Have the farm ers not the right to speak for their own industry? What is sacrosanct about manufacturers, so called, that tion from the Government and that from St. John for the purpose: no heed should be paid to the plea of the farmers who are engaged in the most important clustry of all. I contend it is the right of the wheat growers to be the judges in this mat ter."

Mr. J. H. Burnham, Conservative for Peterborough: "Canada is in danger of becoming very materialistic. From one end of this country to the other we hear talk about free food, about dear food, about the high cost of living, and about the tango. That is all that is going on in the country now."
