TO DISCUSS ANTI-TRUST LAW

Washington, D.C., Jan. 28—Thorough discussion of the Sherman anti-trust law and the regulation of corporate activity, with particular reference to the views expressed by President Wilson in his recent special message to Congress, is to be had at the second annual meeting of the National Chamber of Commerce, which is to be held in this city next month. Nearly five hundred commercial organizations representing the business interests of the entire country will be represented at the meeting. One of the principal features of the meeting will be an address by Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor, who will speak on "The Relation of the Department of Labor to Industries and Commerce."

BROKERS TO OPPOSE

OWEN BILL

Washington, D.C., Jan. 28—When Senator Owen's bill for the regulation of Stock Exchanges comes up for a hearing next week it is expected that leading members of the New York Stock Exchange, at which the measure is aimed, will oppose the essential proposals on the ground that the government itself should do what it seeks to make the exchange accomplish. The bill is an outgrowth of the Pujo "money trust" inquiry. It gives the New York Exchange the option of incorporating under the New York laws or placing itself under the direction of the postmaster general.

The representatives of the exchange will argue against incorporation on the ground that disciplinary powers would be largely taken away by the disruption of the present club organization. In lieu of the provisions of the Owen bill to safeguard investors by making the listing requirements more stringent the exchange representatives will argue that the government itself, through enactment of a bill similar to the British Companies Act, should control the issuance of corporation securities.

LADDER LODGED ON

WIRES, ACCIDENT AVERTED

H. B. Rainsford Had Narrow Escape This Morning—Ice From Roofs Is Dangerous

Henry B. Rainsford, clerk of the Peace, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning when a ladder fell from the roof of the Torrens Building, Queen Street. The ladder fortunately caught upon electric wires which run along the street in front of the building and hung suspended. Had the wires not caught the ladder it would have severely injured Mr. Rainsford who was directly beneath.

The ladder which was being used upon the roof was rotten with age and split when being moved, its parts falling off the roof.

DANGER FROM ROOFS

There have been numerous reports of narrow escapes from ice and snow falling from roofs since the thaw began. There is a city bylaw providing that snow and ice should be removed from roofs but it is not generally obeyed. By some it has been urged that the building law should be amended so as to prohibit roofs sloping toward a street.

CECILIA LOFTUS IN "A LADY OF QUALITY"

This is the second big production of this character that the Gaiety Theatre has secured for its patrons and it is expected that capacity business will greet this popular novel and famous play by Frances Hodgson Burnett. The first performance in the evening will start at 7.15 and the second at 8.35. It is advisable for patrons to make it a point to be at the Gaiety early.
