MRS. JAMES GUTHRIE PASSED AWAY

At Oromocto on Tuesday the death occurred of Mrs. Louisa Guthrie, the wife of James Guthrie as a result of paralysis. The deceased is a native and well known and respected resident of Oromocto. She is the mother of Mr. Percy A. Guthrie of this city. One brother, Daniel F. Brown of Waterville and one sister, Mrs. James Miller, besides her husband, survive her. A family of five daughters and three sons also survive. Mrs. Robert Johnston of Gaspereau Station, Mrs. Chester Vincent of Rothesay, Mrs. H. T. Brewer of this city, Mrs. Edward Bayers of Halifax and Mrs. William Hazen of Quebec; Mr. William J. Guthrie of Oromocto, David H. of Oromocto and Percy A. Guthrie of Fredericton.

The funeral was held at 2 o'clock today from her late home where the services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Merriman.

All skin diseases such as Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Rash, Boils, Pimples, and Itching Skin Eruptions, are always caused from the blood being in a bad condition, and it is impossible to eradicate them from the system unless you put your blood into good shape. This you can very easily do without the slightest trouble by using Burdock Blood Bitters.

It drives out all the humor from the blood, and makes it pure and rich, and not only are the unsightly diseases removed, and a bright clean complexion produced, but the entire system is renovated and invigorated at the same time.

Mrs. G. A. Day, Somerville, N.B., writes:—"Last spring I had a bad attack of Eczema. I tried several patent medicines as well as the medicine of a physician, but they seemed to make the disease worse. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and I did so with the result that in two weeks time the sores began to disappear. I continued to take it until I had taken three bottles and they worked a complete cure."

WISDOM FROM WISE MEN

Every human feeling is greater and larger than its exciting cause—a proof, I think, that man is designed for a higher state of existence.—Coleridge.

Good nature is generally born with us; health, prosperity and kind treatment from the world are great cherishers of it where they find it, but nothing is capable of forcing it up where it does not grow of itself. It is one of the blessings of a happy constitution which education may improve, but not produce.—Steele.

To be deceived by our enemies or betrayed by our friends is insupportable, yet by ourselves we are often content to be so treated.—Rochefoucauld.

It is at the approach of extreme danger, when a hollow puppet can accomplish nothing, that power falls into the mighty hands of nature, of the spirit giant-born, who listens only to himself and knows nothing of compacts.—Schiller.

The true test of a great man—that, at least, which must secure his place among the highest order of great men—is, his having been in advance of his age.—Brougham.

What sort of philosophy is that which makes no effort to discover truth, if the attempt infers a departure from old ways and generally conceded facts? It is the philosophy, not of Galileo, or of the monks who would have burned him.

Surely they who devour the possessions of orphans unjustly shall swallow down nothing but fire into their bellies, and shall broil in raging flames.—Koran.

A smile is the color which love wears, and cheerfulness and joy—these three—H. W. Beecher.

Be assured that if pain could have prevented my application to literary labor not a page of "Ivanhoe" would have been written.—Scott.

The Political Stream

Ah! some of those who have traveled must have seen two kinds of rivers in different countries. There is the river which rushes tumultuously along, dashing against rocks, a grand spectacle. You can stand on its banks and enjoy it. But it never fructifies the banks. They are arid—a wilderness, and no ships ever pass along it to carry good things to the people who live there. There is the other river, the great, tranquil, broad stream irrigating the banks, carrying great ships with cargo to the people who live there. Politics up to the present has been too much like the former, tempestuous, rowdy, full of life, dashing along, a great spectacle to watch from the banks, to see the struggle of the torrent dashing against the rocks, and we say, "Is not this fine?" But the banks are arid; there is nothing being carried along. I want to see the political stream carrying its cargo to the people on the banks. I want to see the political stream irrigating the soil, so that there should be a harvest on it a hundredfold for the hungry children of men.—Lloyd George.

Nothing is more noble, nothing more venerable than fidelity.—Cicero.

Force rules the world—not opinion; but opinion makes use of force.—Pascal.

Biliousness

is certainly one of the most disagreeable ailments which flesh is heir to. Coated tongue—bitter taste in the mouth—nausea—dizziness—these combine to make life a burden. The cause is a disordered liver—the cure Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. They go straight to the root of the trouble, put the liver right, cleanse the stomach and bowels, clear the tongue and take away the bitter taste from the mouth. At the first sign of biliousness take

At one of the Harvard class reunions this week—it would not be fair to the class to say which it was—the secretary announced that since graduation just, 748 babies had been born to members of the class. As he concluded this statement a man arose and said:

"Make that one more, born yesterday."

The secretary resumed: "There have been 749 babies born with the class label."

Thereupon another classmate arose and said:

"Add another, born since the census was taken."

The secretary cleared his throat and made another try:

"The number now stands at an even 750."

"We will let the number stand at 750½."
