UNITED STATES JUSTICE LURTON ABLE TO RETIRE

Washington, D.C., Feb. 26—Associate Justice Horace H. Lurton received congratulations from his colleagues on the supreme bench today on the occasion of his seventieth birthday anniversary. Justice Lurton is a native of Kentucky, but has resided the greater part of his life in Tennessee.

With the attainment of his seventieth year Justice Lurton becomes eligible to retirement from the bench. It has been a pretty general rule among the members of the court to take advantage of the law which permits them to retire with full pay when they have reached the age of seventy, though in the case of a few members who have been blessed with robust health they have waived the rule and have continued to grace the woodcock for several years after they have reached the age of earned retirement.

OTHERS ELIGIBLE.

At this time there are two members of the court eligible to retirement besides Justice Lurton. They are Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, who will be seventy-two years old next month, and Justice Joseph McKenna, who was seventy last August. In addition, Chief Justice White will become eligible to retirement next year, so that several changes in the personnel of the highest court may take place before the end of President Wilson's term of office.

Should three or even four of the members of the court resign, retire or die during the next three years, President Wilson would probably appoint Democrats to succeed them. At the present time the Republican members outnumber the Democratic members on the bench two to one, so that the appointment of as many as four Democrats would give that party a majority of only one.

APPOINTED BY TAFT.

Presidents have generally felt themselves limited to their own party in making appointments. In his appointments of Justices Lurton and Lamar, both of whom are Democrats President Taft almost created a precedent. The only other President who stepped over party lines in selecting a member of the Supreme Court was Benjamin Harrison. Just as he was about to be succeeded by a Democratic President, Mr. Harrison appointed his friend, Justice Jackson of Tennessee, to the bench.

Every President who has served his full term of four years has had an opportunity to appoint one or more justices of the highest court. No appointments were made by Presidents William Henry Harrison, Taylor or Johnson, but none of these three served a full term of office. Five is the largest number of justices appointed by any one President. That record was first established by Jackson, and later matched by Lincoln, Grant and Taft.

TAFT ADMIRER BENCH.

The supreme bench always has been an object of reverent admiration in Mr. Taft's eyes. It is well known his personal ambition led him in the direction of the Supreme Court and if he had had his way he would have preferred to have been an associate on the highest tribunal rather than to have taken his place in the line of Presidents. As President he appointed to the bench men who were known to be conservative and of unquestioned legal ability and reputation.

In the natural course of events the present administration is likely to witness the disappearance from public life of several of the eminent publicists now numbered among the members of the Supreme Court. A great power thus will be vested in the hands of President Wilson. It is to be expected that he will appoint lawyers whose views coincide with his own. In other words, there will be placed upon the bench men who will

LESS BOWEL TROUBLE IN FREDERICTON

Fredericton people have found out that A SINGLE DOSE of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-ika, the German bowel and stomach remedy, relieves constipation, sour stomach or gas on the stomach INSTANTLY. This simple mixture became famous by curing appendicitis and it draws off a surprising amount of old foul matter from the body. It is wonderful how QUICKLY it helps. Geo. Y. Dibblee.

SUBURBANITES REBEL AGAINST I. C. R. SERVICE

St. John, Feb. 25—The intolerable conditions thrust upon the suburban patrons of the Intercolonial Railway by the latest arrangement of the train service has raised their indignation to the boiling point, and, in sympathy with them the whole city is stirred by feelings of the strongest resentment. The loss of the first trains to be taken off caused serious inconvenience to the suburbanites but the latest arrangement is such as to make it absolutely impossible for many of them to continue to live in their country homes.

There has been a strong demand for an opportunity to give public expression to the sentiment of the community regarding the matter and this opportunity will be afforded at a meeting of the suburban residents which will be held in Rothesay on Friday evening and at the meeting of the St. John Board of Trade on Monday evening.

ADVANCES IN A CENTURY

A century ago a man could not take a ride on a steamboat.

He had never seen an electric light or dreamed of an electric car.

He could not send a telegram.

He couldn't talk through the telephone, and he had never received a typewritten communication.

He had never heard the germ theory nor worried over bacilli or bacteria.

He never looked pleasant before a photographer or had his picture taken.

He never heard a phonograph talk or saw a kinetoscope turn out a prize fight.

He never saw through a Webster's unabridged dictionary with the aid of a Roentgen ray.

He had never taken a ride in an elevator.

He had never imagined such a thing as a typesetting machine, or a typewriter.

He had never used anything but a wooden plough.

He had never seen his wife using a sewing machine.

He had never struck a match on his trousers or anything else.

He couldn't take an anæsthetic and have his leg cut off without feeling it.

He had never purchased a ten cent magazine which would have been regarded as a miracle of art.

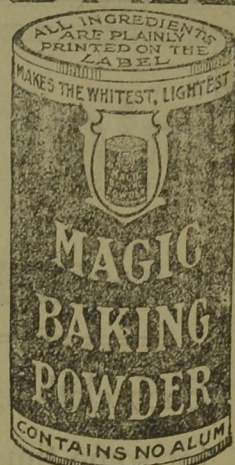

He could not buy a paper for a cent and learn anything that had happened the day before all over the world.

He had never seen a mechanical reaper or a self-binding harvester.

He had never crossed an iron bridge.
