FEEL BULLY? TAKE CASCARETS TONIGHT

A 10 Cent Box Will Keep Your Liver
Stomach and Bowels Clean
For Months

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

RUSSIA'S CROWN PRINCE IS SERIOUSLY ILL

London, Nov. 20—The Berlin surgeon, Professor Israel, has been summoned to Tsarskoe Selo, where Dr. Federoff has been in attendance since the Russian Imperial family returned from Spala, says a despatch to The Daily Mail from St. Petersburg. The circumstances point, according to the correspondent, to the continued gravity of the illness of the young Crown Prince. The court doctors admit that it is a serious surgical case.

Billy Andrews thinks some of passing up the covered track for a Winter at Thomasville, Ga., where Doc. Tanner goes with the Billings horses. Dick Wilson will race in the Grand Circuit next season, wintering at Pleasanton, Calif., and training over the Indianapolis track in the spring. Murphy is going to pass the ill-timed Chimes Hal. 2.06½, up. The handsome roan horse goes to the auction room.

SEVEN CHURCHES FOR WILSON

Princeton, Nov. 19—When told of the rivalry among the seven Presbyterian churches in Washington to acquire the membership of his family and that of Vice-President Marshall, President-elect Wilson said:

"I am glad there are enough Presbyterian churches in Washington to go around."

Governor Wilson said he had made no choice of the churches at which he would worship but that he knew two of the seven pastors who wanted him in the flock.

WAS WEAK AND RUN DOWN. NOT ABLE TO DO HER WORK.

Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung. Day in and day out they have to go through the same routine of work, sweeping, dusting, cooking, etc. No wonder their work gets on the nerves and they become run down.

When a woman gets into this state there is only one thing for her to do, and that is, to get something that will build up her system.

For this purpose there is not an equal to Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Their restorative action is felt on every organ and tissue of the body, and in a short time the weakness will give place to strength and vitality, and make life worth living.

Mrs. Henry McIntosh, Oliver, N.S., writes: "I would recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to anyone who is weak and run down. I was not able to do my work, nor rest at night for four years. After taking seven boxes, I am entirely cured, and can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart or nerve trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cents per box; 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MACHINE EXPOSES SECRETS OF HEART

New York, Nov. 18—Dreadful in its possibilities, awe-inspiring in its performances, is a machine that is now working at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, in West Fifty-ninth street, New York. For this apparatus records the secrets of the human heart!

Far away from the lovers whose heart-throbs are to be tested the magician of science sits alone beside his machine and watches while the secrets of their hearts are revealed.

This is no figure of speech, but a cold, scientific fact. And that is what makes it so dreadful. The physician's finger, pressed upon the pulse, detects any irregularity of the rhythmic throb of the heart; the X-rays picture any abnormality in the form, size or position of the heart; but the emotions of the heart have hitherto been hidden behind a veil as impenetrable as that which cut off the Holy of Holies in Solomon's Temple. Now this machine is set up, and that veil is ruthlessly torn aside. Nothing more is sacred.

Medical science welcomes this new machine as it welcomed the X-rays and the stethoscope. For the more that physicians can see of the workings of the organs of the living human body the better equipped are they to ward off and to combat the diseases that beset these organs.

This machine records every variation of the pulsations of the heart with such exquisite accuracy, that it gives the physician not merely a diagram of the throbbing organ but a sort of moving picture of the emotions by which it is swayed. Hence his diagnosis of any aberrations may be based not merely upon the outward symptoms, but upon their psychological causes.

DETECT LOVE AND HATE.

With as much accuracy as he diagnoses fever or poison, pneumonia, cancer or croup, the physician can now detect love and hate, fear, joy, anger and remorse.

The heart is the engine of the body. It is a hollow mass of powerful muscles, which contract and expand rhythmically, to pump the blood through the arteries. What we call the heart beats are the successive shocks of this pumping process. The blood, black with the refuse of the body, pours into the right auricle; this contracts and drives the blood into the right ventricle. This, again, contracts, squirting the blood into the lungs, where it meets the air and it purifies the oxygen.

From the lungs the blood flows back to the heart, this time entering the left auricle, whence it is driven into the left ventricle. The left ventricle's powerful contraction forces the blood through the aorta and so throughout the smaller arteries that pipe it to the uttermost parts of the body.

This rhythmic contraction and expansion makes the blood flow in successive waves, which accounts for the pulse that can be felt wherever an artery is near enough to the surface to be felt—at the wrist and on the temples for examples.

When anything goes wrong with the heart this is registered in its beating. The beats are too rapid or too slow; they are irregular in strength or in time; a beat is dropped or a part of a beat is too intense or too feeble, according to what the trouble may be. The physician can detect any of these irregularities and he knows in a general way what they mean. By listening to them he can discover any organic disease of the heart. But there are more delicate pulsations that he cannot hear.

THE HUMAN HEARTBEATS.

From time immemorial lovers have known that their hearts beat faster at critical moments of their wooing. Sudden fright has been known to make the heart stand still and often to resume its throbbing at an excited speed. That the emotions have a distinct bearing upon the beating of the heart has long been known, even to laymen, but the intimate relations between brain and heart are a comparatively recent discovery. It is now known that the heart is exquisitely sensitive, that its pulsations vary in a thousand different ways and that the emotions directly control these variations. The mind plays upon the heart as a master musician plays upon an organ, but with this difference: that the mind does it automatically and unconsciously. Every passing shade of emotion is registered in the throbbing and pulsating of the heart. The stronger the emotion the more powerful the effect upon the heart.

No machine is needed to detect the rapid heart beats that follow the meeting of the ardent lover with the fair object of his adoration. But the most subtle emotions produce upon the heart an effect so delicate that the keenest ear cannot detect the difference in the beats and the most sensitive fingers fail to feel the change in the pulse.

The Blue Amberol

The Blue Amberol is a musical and mechanical triumph. Its volume is greater, and its tone is decidedly finer than any other phonograph record you can buy. And it is practically unbreakable and unwearing. Careless handling will not injure it, and no amount of playing will cause it to reproduce less perfectly than when new.

Ask your Edison dealer to play a Blue Amberol Record for you on an Edison Phonograph today, or write us for particulars.

C. P. R. EMBARGO IS ON FLAX ONLY

Fort William, Ont., Nov. 19—It is denied that the Canadian Pacific Railway has placed any embargo on grain with the exception of a temporary embargo on flax. The reason for the latter move is to enable the elevators to handle the wheat and flax, taking twice as much time to unload as other grains.

Sofia, Nov. 20—The Bulgarian troops operating before the line of fortifications defending Constantinople at Tchatalja have received orders to cease fighting and merely to hold the positions they have won, as negotiations have been begun for the conclusion of an armistice at the request of Turkey.
