"CASCARETS" RELIEVE SICK, SOUR STOMACH

More Acids, Gases and Clogged Waste From Liver and Bowels

Get a 10-cent box now.
That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, floating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.
Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

THE DAY

BY HENRY CHAPPELL

(The author of this magnificent poem is Henry Chappell, a railway porter at Bath. Mr. Chappell is known to his comrades as the "Bath Railway Poet." A poem such as this lifts him to the rank of a national poet.)

You boasted the Day, and you toast the Day,
And now the Day has come.
Blasphemer, braggart and coward all
Little you reck of the numbing ball,
The blasting shell, or the "white armies" fall
As they speed poor humans home.

You spied for the Day, you lied for the Day.
And woke the Day's red spleen.
Monster, who asked God's aid Divine
Then strewed His seas with the ghastly mine.
Not all the waters of all the Rhine
Can wash thy foul hands clean.

You dreamed for the Day, you schemed for the Day;
Watch how the day will go.
Slayer of age and youth and prime
(Defenceless slain for never a crime)
Thou art steeped in blood as a hog in slime,
False friend and cowardly foe.

You have sown for the Day, you have grown for the Day;
Yours is the Harvest red.
Can you hear the groans and the awful cries?
Can you see the heap of slain that lies,
And sightless turned to the flames—
The glassy eyes of the dead?
You have wronged for the Day, you have longed for the Day
That lit the awful flame.
'Tis nothing to you that hill and plain
Yield sheaves of dead men amid the grain.
That widows mourn for their loved ones slain.
And mothers curse thy name.

But after the Day there's a day to pay
For the sleepers under the sod,
And He you have mocked for many a day—
Listen, and hear what He has to say
"Vengeance is mine, I will repay."
What can you say to God?

THE BIG BATTLE OF AISNE IS STILL RAGING

has been surrounded. The capture of the town of Dubiecko, on the River San, by the Russians has cut Przemysl off from the western armies, so that it must now rely for defence upon the Austrian and German army corps which are there.

Gen. Dankl is believed to be in a difficult position. Driven out of South Poland, and separated from the main body of the Austrian army, he has been compelled to make a race for Cracow, in which he was, according to Russian accounts, beaten by the Russian army coming southward from the Vistula to Baranow.

The Russians are now so sure of Galicia that they are organizing a civil government for that region, as well as for Bukowina, the Austrian well as for Bukowina, the Austrian crownland, of which they are complete masters.

PARIS POPULATION.

Paris, Sept. 21—Official figures on the census of Paris, within the city walls, show that today in the capital are 362,454 fewer families than there were in 1911.

CROWN PRINCE HAD

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Behind the Allies' Lines in France, Sept. 22—It is reported that the Kaiser came to Montmedy and travelled into French territory with the hope of establishing himself in one of the conquer'd towns, but that the retreat of his army on the Marne compelled him to beat a hasty retreat.

From a wounded French soldier I learned that the Crown Prince, himself narrowly escaped being taken a prisoner in a French chateau. The soldier laments that he and his comrades missed what would have been one of the first captures of the war. They had learned that the Crown Prince was in a small chateau near Farm, and so once set out in the hope of taking him prisoner.

They reached the chateau, but to their great regret found it empty, the Crown Prince having left only an hour before for Lautebach.
