NOT MUCH CHANCE FOR GER- MANS TO INVADE CANADA

New York, Oct. 27—Commenting on the suggestion of Count Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, that the Kaiser's forces may attack and occupy Canada, The New York Herald, in a short editorial, says:

"Just what Count Bernstorff can hope to gain by spreading in this country the suggestion that Germany may attack and occupy Canada it is difficult to understand. Can he imagine that Americans are so enamored of German 'kultur', as exemplified in Belgium, that they would welcome its appearance on this continent?"

"It would seem that the first rule of a German diplomacy bending its energies to create a favorable American public sentiment would be to let that particular 'sleeping dog lie.' If there is one thing more calculated than any other to make Americans give ear to the foolish talk of those persons who would have the United States break its neutrality and give all its aid and comfort to the Allies, it is the picture Count von Bernstorff paints of German armies 'hacking their way' into Canada."

"Dr. Dernburg, second in command of the German publicity propaganda, rushes to the fore with the assurance that Germany's love for the Monroe doctrine is so great that it would never contemplate the invasion of Canada. Can Dr. Dernburg expect the American people to attach any more value to his assurances than the German government does to its treat-

"The only possible effect of Dr. Dernburg's disclaimer is to focus attention on the von Bernstorff picture—and to make Americans do a lot of thinking."

GERMANY HAS NO CHANCE.

The New York World says:

"What imp of perversity tempted the German ambassador to raise the issue of the Monroe doctrine and assert Germany's right to invade Canada?"

"It is true that technically there is nothing in the Monroe doctrine that would necessarily interfere with the landing of German troops in Canada, provided Germany did not try to hold territory. That is a matter that would have to be determined by circumstances. It is one of those cases in which, as Secretary Clegg said: 'Our fiat is law.' But why should Count von Bernstorff undertake to discuss the question at all?"

"As long as the British navy is afloat, Germany has no more chance of invading Canada than she has of invading the moon. For all practical purposes the ambassador might as profitably discuss the advantages of Mars as a signalling station to direct the fire of the German heavy artillery in the siege of Petrograd. Politically we can think of no other question that is more certain to arouse American suspicion and irritation than this."

A DUBIOUS OCCASION.

"The German attitude toward the Monroe doctrine has always left a great deal to be desired from an American point of view. German political writers have habitually treated the Monroe doctrine as a piece of contemptible Yankee impudence, and this is rather a dubious occasion for a German diplomatist to raise hypothetical questions as to the extent and application of the doctrine in a hypothetical campaign against Canada."

"Should German troops ever invade Canada, the application of the Monroe doctrine to the specific case will be defined in Washington, not in Berlin."

LACKS DIPLOMACY.

The New York American sarcastically says:

"If the German ambassador really holds this theory, it would have been the part of diplomacy for him to keep it discreetly to himself. It will not add to his popularity in this country."

"We trust the Count will not supplement his interesting remarks on Canada and the Monroe doctrine with the proposition that should Germany wish to invade Canada the Belgian precedent would afford ample justification for marching her troops through New England."

WOULD BE INDEPENDENT.

The Journal of Commerce says:

"It can hardly be deemed a tactful suggestion of the German ambassador that there would be no violation of the Monroe doctrine if Germany should land troops in Canada, inasmuch as that British dominion is participating in the war against the German empire by furnishing men and supplies to the British army."

"Probably the Monroe doctrine

TROOPS ARE NEEDED FOR HOME DEFENCE

(From Beck's Weekly, Montreal)

The announcement from Ottawa that the Government has taken steps to organize an army and equip an army of 30,000 men for home defense, as well as to keep up a supply of troops for overseas service to meet all the requirements of the British War Department comes none too soon to reassure those Canadians who know in what peril this country actually exists. Last week, in these columns, I pointed out, how utterly unprepared we were to resist an attack of any kind and suggested the necessity of an army for home protection.

It may be all very well to rely upon Great Britain's continued supremacy on the seas, but accidents will happen and it is a foolish householder who waits until his house takes fire before taking out insurance. Although little has found its way into the Canadian press about it, there is a considerable agitation going on among the German residents of the United States for a raid on Canada. Demonstrations hostile to Great Britain and the allies have been held in a number of the large American cities and a committee is at work fomenting others. In Detroit—just across the border—ten days ago the pro-Germans held a mass meeting which was attended by ten thousand people, and at which public speakers indulged in the most inflammatory talk against England. Those who attended were in earnest as shown by the fact that a fund of $20,000 was subscribed to aid the German cause. One of the Detroit papers pointed out that if the British Americans and the Canadian-Americans in Detroit had cared to undertake a rival demonstration it would have completely overshadowed the German as in numbers and enthusiasm, and might easily have led to an actual outbreak of hostilities. The paper complimented the pro-British residents on their good judgment and censured the Germans for violating the spirit if not the letter of the rule of neutrality which the American Government is anxious to preserve.

In Cincinnati a similar pro-German demonstration was held, at which a raid on Canada was openly advocated. In Chicago and other cities the pro-Germans have also shown their hand, and it is said on good authority that the plotters are busy all along the eastern border.

In these circumstances it would seem to be the height of wisdom for the Government to be prepared for eventualities, and I am glad to see that the movement for home defense has taken a concrete form. No time should be lost in equipping and arming the men—there will be no difficulty about getting them—and in securing the necessary guns and ammunition for protecting our shores.

would have nothing to do with the case and perhaps there would be no breach of that extremely indefinite and uncertain thing, international law, or any violation of anybody's neutral rights. Nevertheless, it is hardly conceivable that Germany should take any such step as invading Canada or any other part of the western continent.

"Monroe doctrine or no Monroe doctrine, belligerent rights and neutral rights or not, it would be the most inexpedient thing conceivable."
