CORRESPONDENT WRITES OF THE PEACE RIVER COUNTRY

A correspondent, writing to The Mail from Vancouver, B.C., says:

"I have just returned from an extended tour through the Peace River Country and feeling that everyone of your readers will be interested to learn something about this virgin country, I am sending for your consideration a short account of my very instructive journey. This part of British North America is so brimful of wonderful resources that it should not fail to influence the wave of settlement bound to follow the terrible European conflict in which all the nations of the world are likely to be drawn before universal peace is arrived at.

During the past two and a half months I have been through a most remarkable country, full of opportunities awaiting both capital and labor. Eleven years prospecting around the mining camps of Alaska and the Yukon left me with an everlasting impression of the wonderful possibilities offered to those ready to come and settle in the great north-western section of the American continent, but what I saw in those days will not stand comparison with the country I have just returned from. The Peace River Country abounds in nature's wonders. Its natural resources include everything the heart of a man can wish. Millions of acres of arable land intersected with rivers lakes and streams which make irrigation totally unnecessary, await settlement. A greater part of this area is practically open and ready for the plough. Peavine, vetches and red top and a variety of other natural grasses grow most prolifically and the few settlers who have gone in ahead of the railroad speak of the whole country through which I passed as being particularly adaptable for stock raising, while, when it is properly farmed the land will grow anything that can be raised outside a tropical climate. One thing which should be particularly advantageous and conducive to rapid settlement is the unlimited supply of game, fish and wild fruits which can be taken with the greatest possible ease.

Throughout the timbered portions of the whole country, moose, deer, bear and antelope roam the woods and are so numerous in certain places that it will not tax the marksmanship of anyone who has learned to handle a rifle, to provide all the meat required for the table, while the country has almost become over-run with rabbits, with a very delicious flavor. The streams abound in wild duck and geese of different varieties and at frequent intervals I ran into covers of grouse and prairie chicken. Fishing is another form of supply for the necessities of life. Whitefish, pike and pickerel of the finest quality, averaging five pounds in weight, can be secured in almost any quantity by using a net in the lakes, while salmon trout, grayling and numerous other varieties of game fish can easily be taken in any of the streams with the use of either fly or bait. Another very valuable asset is the remarkable quantity of fur-bearing animals which appear to be rapidly increasing instead of decreasing as one would imagine, for many settlers and the native Indians have relied on these as a means of livelihood for many years past. This appreciable increase is no doubt largely due to the government regulations which provide for a close season. I was indeed very surprised to find such a large number of valuable furs roving the woods. There were black, silver grey and red specimens. In the Pouce Coupe district a fox farm has already been established on a profit-earning basis. Mink, martin, otter and beaver are also plentiful and from these trappers also find a most useful source of income.

In addition to all these splendid resources awaiting with open arms for the coming of the settler, capitalists will soon realize that hundreds of profit earning investments are calling for capital, not only to develop the agricultural possibilities, but to open up the tremendous mineral wealth. Coal gas and oil are known to exist. The whole country is underlaid with coal seams and at various points along the banks of the rivers, coal does not even have to be mined, settlers being able to collect large blocks of coal afloat, and all they have to do is to haul it to their cabins for fuel purposes, thus entailing less labor than wood splitting. During the journey I took samples of some of the best anthracite and also good samples of peacock coal lying in the foothills of the Rockies, while bituminous and lignite coal underlie millions of acres of the easterly portion of the country.

"Indeed, taken all around, it was the most interesting and educational trip I have ever taken."

ANGRY OUTBURST

London, Oct. 26—General Richardson, Generalissimo of the Ulster volunteers, is bitterly attacked by the London Ministerial press for his speech suggesting that the army and navy came to Ulster's help last March adding: "when the war is over our ranks reinforced by 12,000 men, thoroughly trained and with vast field experience, we will return to the attack and relegate Home Rule to the devil."

The Daily News asks Earl Kitchener what action he proposed to take. The Daily Chronicle contrasts the speech with those of John Redmond at recruiting meetings at which emphasizes Irish unity.

The unprecedented happened dramatically at Redmond's meeting in Belfast yesterday when despite the drizzling rain, thousands thronged out publicly singing, "God Save the King." In the Nationalist Catholic quarter, Redmond drove through a street where the Union Jack waved for the first time in Irish history, beside the green flag of Ireland.

You have a bad cold!

Then listen! Cold attacks the lungs and the breathing passages. To cure it you need to get at these organs direct. Ordinary cough mixtures and syrups do not touch the lungs, but go direct to your stomach, which is not ailing. Peps, on the contrary, go direct to the very seat of the trouble.

Peps are tablets containing essences and medicinal ingredients so prepared that when placed upon the tongue they immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the inflamed air passages to the lungs, direct.

Peps medicine takes the form of healing vapor, and cures colds, coughs, bronchitis and lung troubles, just as living in Pine woods and breathing Pine-laden air prevents consumption and cures chest weakness. Tightness across the chest, pain between the shoulders, hacking cough, sore throat, asthma and bronchitis are the ailments which, in particular, Peps have been designed to cure. Peps will soon end your bad cold.

Testimonials for Peps have been given by members of the Canadian Parliament, doctors, lawyers, eminent Canadian musicians; all going to prove that Peps have been found a cure for throat and chest trouble, often when other remedies had entirely failed.

FREE TRIAL—Cut out this article, and mail it, with 1c stamp (for return postage) to Peps Co., Dupont St., Toronto, and we will send you a free trial package of Peps. All druggists and stores sell Peps, 50c box or 3 for $1.25. See the name Peps (four letters only) before buying.

PORTUGUESE

London, Oct. 27—Failing the acceptance of the proffer of his services by King George for the war against Germany, Manuel, former king of Portugal, has now offered the government of the republic of Portugal to serve with the Portuguese contingent if that country decides to join the Allies. Manuel is also strongly urging his followers at Lisbon to avoid any attempt to make political capital out of the present situation.

Former Queen Amelia of Portugal, widow of King Carlos, has already gone to the front with the British Red Cross.
