A DARING RAID.

London, Sept. 22.—The daring raid of German submarines across the North Sea, which resulted this morning in the sinking of the three British cruisers, Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy, has momentarily diverted attention from the battlefields of the continent.

This was one of the things which the British navy has been led to expect, for the Germans have quite frankly avowed that their plan was to reduce British naval superiority by submarine raids and the sowing of mines, and they have been training their young officers for sallies of this kind.

Nevertheless, it came as a shock to Englishmen that big ships such as those sunk could so easily be attacked and destroyed, while the German fleet has been able to remain in safety in its mine and fortress protected harbors.

However, the British fleet must keep the seas to insure Great Britain's food supply, and, in doing so, must run great risks.

The ships which were sunk, while obsolete, still were very useful vessels, and it is a little satisfaction to England to know that her cruiser fleet is still double in number that of Germany, and that, as Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, has said, she will be able to build during the war three to Germany's one.

Meanwhile there have been no important changes on the battlefronts in Northern France. The opposing armies continue to gain a little here and lose a little there. These gains might tell, in the long run, but have not brought any decisive result for either side.

The French official report issued this afternoon again lays some stress on the announcement that an advance s being made by the Allies' left wing on the right bank of the River Oise, from which point both the public and the military experts look for first indications of how the battle is likely to end.

NEW ARMY OPERATING.

Although the official reports do not go beyond saying that the Germans have been forced to give ground before the French attacks, and speak of Noyon and the district around that city as the centre of the operations, some correspondents describe the Allies' left as extending from just west of Noyon to as far south as Lecatelet, from which point, or Peronne, the new army, of which there have been so many reports, but no confirmation, is supposed to be operating, to threaten the German right wing.

If this is true, the German right is in a very dangerous position, for it cannot extend much further north or west of St. Quentin. Its position runs thence by way of Chauny and south of Loan to north of Rheims.

On the plateau of Craonne severe fighting has been going on for days, but there is no late information as to whether the Germans or the Allies hold the commanding positions here. The Allies had the plateau a few days ago, but the German official report claims that it has been recaptured, together with the village of Betheny.

In the centre between Rheims and Souair, which the French occupied early in the week, there has been more desperate fighting, the Germans taking the offensive, and, according to the French reports, being repulsed. The Germans also have made some attacks in the Woevre district with-out success, but they have succeeded in again crossing the Lorraine frontier and occupying Dones, to the south of Flamont.

The French have captured additional prisoners and supplies.

JAROSLAW FALLS.

The Russians have followed up the successes in Galicia, where a third great battle is about to begin, if it has not already begun, by capturing the important fortress of Jaroslau, on the River San, just north of Przemyel, which they are surrounding. Jaroslau commands the passage of the San river and its possession will greatly assist the Russians in their operations against Przemyel, where a strong Austro-German force is prepared to offer stubborn resistance, in the hope at least of detaining the Russian armies which are needed to take the offensive against Germany.

The Servians report another victory over the Austrians, who thus far have suffered severely on all sides. This engagement occurred near Kroupant, on the Drine, where the Austrians attempted to invade Serbia, but were driven back. This attack accounts for the Servian evacuation of Semlin, as the troops were needed to stem the Austrian offensive movement.

The Servians feel that they can now proceed with the invasion of Bosnia, and the troops at Visegrad have been ordered to march on Sarajevo, which town is the birthplace of the present war, for there occurred the assassination of the Austrian heir apparent, Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

TAKING OF SARAJEVO.

London, Sept. 22.—The Rome correspondent of the Star says the Servian troops have occupied Sarajevo, which was abandoned by the Austrians after an overwhelming defeat.

RUSSIAN FLAG OVER JAROSLAW.

Petrograd, Sept. 22, via London.—Russian troops have occupied the fortified Austrian position of Jaroslau, according to official announcement made here today. The Russian flag is now flying over the town.

Jaroslau is an important railroad centre. A bridge near the town crosses the San River and commands a passage of that river. The town is located seventeen miles north-north-west of Przemyel, and is on the railway.

REPORT GERMAN

GENERAL KILLED.

London, Sept. 22.—Telegraphing from Amsterdam the correspondent of the Central News says that it is reported there that General Steinmetz, of the German artillery, was picked up in the North Sea, after the sinking of the British cruisers Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy.

PARIS SAYS NO CHANGE.

Paris, Sept. 22, The official statement issued by the French government tonight says merely that there is no change in the situation.

PROBABLY ONE OF SAME CRUISERS

Lowestoft, England, Sept. 22, via London.—It is reported that a vessel of 12,000 tons has been sunk by a mine in the North Sea. Another large vessel is standing by. No official confirmation of the report can be obtained.

BERWICK MAKES CAPTURE

London, Sept. 22.—The Hamburg-American line steamer Spreewald has been captured by the British cruiser Berwick in the North Atlantic Ocean according to an announcement by the admiralty tonight.

It was stated also that two colliers had been captured.

The Spreewald was fitted out as an armed cruiser. The two colliers carried 2,600 tons of coal and one hundred and eighty tons of provisions for the German cruisers in Atlantic waters. The Berwick is commanded by Captain Lewis G. Baker.

The total number of German vessels which, according to latest reports, have been captured by British vessels at sea, or by British port authorities, is ninety-two. Ninety-five German vessels were detained in British ports at the outbreak of the war.

Seventy British vessels were held in German ports at the commencement of hostilities, and since then twelve British sea-going vessels, out of the upwards of four thousand on overseas trade, have been captured and sunk at sea.

The Spreewald is a steamer of 2,214 tons. She was last reported as having sailed from Antwerp July 12, for the West Indies, and to have arrived at St. Thomas (D.W.I.) on Aug. 4.

300 CAPTURED ON STEAMER

London, Sept. 22.—The German steamer Professor Woermann, of the Woermann line, with three hundred German reservists on board, has been taken captive and brought into Sierra Leone, on the west coast of Africa, according to information which has reached London.

Ingvuiden, Holland, via London, Sept. 22.—Two of five German submarine boats which attacked and sank the British cruisers Aboukir, Cressy and Hogue were sent to the bottom by the British ships, according to survivors of the cruisers who arrived here this evening.

THE OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

London, Sept. 22.—The British warships Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy have been sunk in the North Sea by
