

A Word With Subscribers

It is a popular misconception that in times of War a newspaper makes money. As a matter of fact, any newspaper which tries to do its duty by its subscribers, loses money during war time. This is true of The Daily and Semi-Weekly Mail. Both of these papers, in spite of their tremendous increase in circulation, are not making any profit out of the war. This being the case, we have to ask our subscribers who are in arrears to be good enough to REMIT. If we are properly doing our duty toward you as a subscriber, we have to ask that you will carry out your duty to us by remitting promptly any amount that may be owing to us.

If you want to help us make our paper better, send us your subscription in advance. We assure you that we will spend it in improving our news service.

Accounts are now being sent out, and we will be very much indebted to you if you will give the same your prompt attention.

VALCARTIER REVIEW A MEMORABLE SCENE

Valcartier Camp, Que., Sept. 20.—The review which was held on the extensive plateau here this afternoon will live in Canadian military annals. Coming as it did so close to the departure of the dominion's first supply of men to the mother country the event was invested with unprecedented interest. Twenty-five thousand men, advanced to a state of efficiency which surpassed that at the two previous reviews on the ground; the presence of thirty thousand people who travelled from near and far to witness the impressive scene; and the spirit which swayed everybody, soldier and looker-on alike, were the outstanding features of a memorable occasion. And the great throng, who in many cases came to have a final look at their nearest and most intimate relatives and friends, had only one feeling during the troops' fifty minutes' march past the Duke of Connaught—one of pride in their countrymen, who are going to Britain and are prepared to have a post in the life and death grapple on the fields of Europe.

MEN HAVE IMPROVED.

Those who had witnessed the two preceding reviews of a similar character were unanimous in their verdict that the men have benefited appreciably from the camp, and would give absolute endorsement to the remark which was heard to come from His Royal Highness at the conclusion of the march past, to the effect that those participating looked splendid and had improved every day.

The weather was perfect, and the vast multitude which stood outside the enclosure and the more daring spirits who climbed trees in the vicinity to get a better gaze, cheered frequently, especially when their particular favorites appeared opposite.

THOSE WHO RECEIVED SALUTE.

A few minutes after three o'clock Col. Sam Hughes, minister of militia, and Col. Victor Williams, camp commandant, rode past the saluting base, and then circled round and joined the Duke, who was accompanied by his aides-de-camp. Col. Farquhar and Captain Buller of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry, and the leading staff officers were also there and quite close at hand were motor cars in which were accommodated the Duchess of Connaught and Princess Patricia, both of whom were seen to rare advantage; Sir Robert and Lady Borden, Sir George Foster and Hon. Robert Rogers.

The parade was headed by the horse artillery, then came in rotation the cavalry, field artillery, infantry, engineers and field ambulance. It was computed that about two thousand horses figured in the parade. There was also a large number of ammunition wagons and for the first time at a review at Valcartier, a cycle corps had a place in the picture.

KILTIES MOST PICTURESQUE.

In another important respect the event was a notable one in that the men were completely equipped. It would be invidious to particularize as to which regiments appeared to be the shining lights, for all, in general bearing and all-round smartness, revealed an exceedingly high standard of excellence. Viewed from a picturesque aspect, however, the palm must be given to the 'Kilties.' The khaki had much of a uniform resemblance to the general surroundings, but the Highland costume struck a contrast, and introduced a grandeur which made the blood of more than Scotsmen tingle. The Montreal Highlanders came first, then the Toronto boys, and following them the Vancouver and Winnipeg section.

At the conclusion of the review a few minutes before five o'clock, the troops cheered lustily for the Royal party, and as the distinguished group left the plain they had a rousing send-off from the great concourse of spectators. Sir Robert Borden, in the course of conversation, declared himself as highly impressed with the sight presented, and was confident that the Canadians would cover themselves with credit.

DISPOSITION OF ONTARIO MEN.

Practically all the men and officers from Ontario will be going to the front, according to Col. M. S. Mercer of Toronto, brigadier of the First Light Infantry Brigade. This brigade includes all the Ontario volunteers but the 48th Highlanders of Toronto. Colonel Mercer told The Globe that 112 members of the Queen's Own of Toronto, had been transferred to the Royal Montreal Rifles, to bring the latter up to war strength. The Queen's Own was over strength. Colonel Mercer added that 150 Ontario men had been transferred to various other units, such as the Royal Canadian Regiment, the Royal Canadian Dragoons and the Strathecona Horse.

GOOD ONTARIO MARKSMEN.

Ontario men who have distinguished themselves at the rifle ranges are: Color Sergt. I. McInerney, Scout Sergt. G. Glenn and Private C. Gordon of the 36th Peel; Bugler R. H. Ford, 24th Kent; Private D. J. Ford, 27th Lambton, and Corporal J. G. Baker, Private H. Robinson and Sergt. A. G. Eddie of the Queen's Own, Toronto.

Col. Sam Hughes stated tonight that the divisional commander had not yet been appointed and that there was nothing in the rumor that General Alderson, an imperial officer, would command the Canadian forces. The minister received word that E. L. Janney of Galt, Ont., the aviator who is flying from Massachusetts to Camp Valcartier, has reached a point on Lake Champlain and expects to arrive here tomorrow. He left Massachusetts yesterday.

20,000 VOLUNTEERS AT "CHURCH"

Picturesque features characterized the church service held this morning on the great plain where the troops were reviewed in the afternoon. Not one man was compelled to go, but nearly twenty thousand turned out. Among the worshippers were the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia and party, Col. Sam Hughes, minister of militia; Col. Victor Williams, camp commandant; Sir Robert and Lady Borden, Sir George E. Foster, Sir Henry and Lady Eagan of Ottawa, United States Consul General Colonel Foster of Ottawa, and Hon. Robert Rogers.

ANNOUNCED HYMNS.

The sergt. major of the Signalling of a square and a novel feature of the service was the announcement of the hymn numbers by signallers. The Sergt. Major of the Signalling Corps had a place in the pulpit, and communicated the numbers to other signallers situated in various parts of the field. Canon Scott of Quebec, who delivered the farewell discourse to the Canadian contingent which went to South Africa, was the preacher. The service was conducted by Major R. H. Steacey, divisional chaplain, assisted by twenty other clergymen.

DUKE RECOGNIZES BANDSMAN.

At the close of the service the Duke of Connaught took special notice of Band Sergeant T. W. James, a former member of the Scots Guards who is now a bandsman in the 106th Winnipeg Light Infantry, which supplied the music at the service. His Royal Highness recognized James and had a talk with him. The governor general then discovered that there were four other ex-Guardsmen in the band whom he had known in the old country and remembered well. They were W. Cramp and F. Kelly, formerly of the Royal Horse Guards; T. D. Venables of the Scots Guards, and W. Shelton of the Royal Artillery.

EUROPE'S ROAD HOG, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

London, Sept. 20.—"There is no man in this hall who, throughout his political career has regarded the prospect of engaging in war with greater repugnance than myself. There is no man either inside or outside this hall who is more convinced than I that we could have avoided the present war without national dishonor."

This was the text of a speech which David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, made in Queen's Hall yesterday afternoon to arouse Welsh enthusiasm for Field Marshal Earl Kitchener's new army. The Chancellor went on to say that any nation which disregarded its national honor was doomed and Great Britain was bound by honorable obligations to defend the independence, liberty and integrity of Belgium. Nearly three thousand Welshmen were present at the meeting.

HOW BRITAIN ANSWERED.

Referring to the accusation that Great Britain had used the treaty providing for Belgian neutrality as a cunning cloak to veil her jealousy of a superior civilization, the Chancellor said:

"Our answer was the action we took in 1870. In that case Prince Bismarck respected Prussia's treaty obligations, but it was to the interest of Prussia to break her treaty today and she has done it. To Prussia a treaty is just a scrap of paper."

"They tell us that treaties are only scraps of paper," he said. "Let me ask you this: Have you any banknotes in your pockets? Well, if you have, just remember that they are scraps of paper. You can go ahead and burn them as rags if you want to. They are worthless if it were not that the whole credit of the British Empire stands behind them. Treaties are somewhat the same. They are the currencies of the international statesmanship. And yet Germany did not think them worth respect."

"This doctrine of a scrap of paper goes to the root of all battle law. We are fighting against barbarism, and there is only one way of putting it right. If there are nations who say they will respect treaties only when it is to their interest to do so, we must make it to their interest to do so in the future."

Referring to the German excuses, Mr. Lloyd George remarked:—"A great nation ought to be ashamed of behaving like a fraudulent bankrupt trying to escape his obligations."

Referring to the case of Serbia the Chancellor of the Exchequer said that Emperor Nicholas had given Austria the only answer that became a man when he said: "I will tear your ramshackle Empire limb for limb," and he is doing it he added.

BRITAIN ORDERED OUT OF WAY.

"Prussia is the road hog of Europe. Men, women and children and nations are orhered out of the way. Even Great Britain is ordered out of the way. If the old British spirit is still left in British hearts the bully will be torn from his seat. They thought we could not beat them. It will not be easy. It will be a long job. It will be terrible. But in the end we shall march through terror to triumph."—David Lloyd George, at Queen's Hall, London.

Appealing to Welshmen to join the colors the Chancellor continued: "This struggle is a great war for the emancipation of Europe from the thralldom of the military caste which has thrown its shadow upon two generations of men, and has now plunged the world into a welter of blood."
