MAY CONTRIBUTE FOOTWEAR TO THE BELGIANS

It is Believed That Made in Fredericton Boots and Shoebacks Would be a Most Acceptable Gift-- Supplies to be Sent

It is altogether likely that Fredericton's contribution for the relief of the Belgian sufferers will take the form of a shipment of footwear and the city's donation of $1,500 will be used in purchasing larrigans and boots manufactured in this city.

The above decision was reached at a special meeting of the aid committee of the City Council last evening, and samples and prices of larrigans and boots, manufactured by local concerns, will be secured with a view to making an immediate purchase.

An effort will be made by the committee to secure authentic information from the nearest Belgian consul regarding whether at the present time there is an organization in Belgium to look after the shipments of supplies when they arrive in that country.

It is understood that the farmers of York county will be asked to contribute potatoes and other farm produce for the Belgians and arrangements could be made to have these shipped to Belgium along with the contribution from the City Council.

Mayor Mitchell presided at the meeting and the other members of the aid committee present were Messrs. John A. Reid, Thomas S. Wilkinson and W. J. Osborne.

Large consignments of clothing for the Belgians have been received from local sympathizers and are being got ready for shipment at the relief depot at 448 Queen street. While practically all the clothing being contributed is second-hand stuff, it is in

71ST. OFFICERS READY TO BEGIN RECRUITING WORK

Major W. H. Grey Will be in Charge of the Recruiting Here and Already a Number of Applications Have Been Received

Although no official orders have been received here to start enlisting volunteers for overseas service with the second Canadian contingent, local military officers are taking the necessary steps to be prepared to commence the recruiting work at the shortest possible notice.

Major W. H. Grey, the officer commanding the 71st Regt., will be in charge of the local recruiting station and according to a despatch from Ottawa the minister of militia will not deal directly with the commanders of the units, as was done in raising the first expeditionary force, but all orders will come through the officers commanding military districts.

This means that the appointment of provisional officers will be made by the divisions and it is likely that several applications for commissions in the 71st Regt. will be soon forwarded to the militia authorities at Halifax, eleven vacancies having been caused in this regiment by officers who went to the front with the first contingent. The carrying out of the preliminary training in local centres will also be done through No. 6 Division at Halifax.

splendid condition, having evidently been little worn. Everything imaginable in wearing apparel has been donated from garments for babies a few months old to overalls for workmen, and an average department store would find it hard to duplicate the collection.
