DANGER IN ICE-CREAM

Mary Heaton Vorse, writing an article in the July Woman's Home Companion, tells about the cheap sweets that a child may buy for one cent and run the risk of buying sickness at the same time. The article is entitled "The Fatal Penny," and one of the most important passages has to do with what Mrs. Vorse calls "the deadly hoky poky" about which she goes on to say:

"This is not to be misconstrued into an attack on ice-cream manufactured in or outside of the home, as unsuitable for growing children. The ice-cream manufacturers of reputable standing are doing all they can do to maintain proper standards, to make their product out of the purest materials and under the most sanitary conditions. It is the irresponsible dealer who makes his frozen stuff from recipes out of a book containing only twelve pages, but costing twelve dollars who is the one to be watched. The reason this little book costs so much is because it tells how to make ice-cream for ten cents a gallon. Gelatin of the cheapest kind and dextrine flour are the ingredients. Perhaps you do not know what dextrine flour is; you may buy it from any glucose refinery. Dextrine it is (not in flour form) that is used for thickening calico-printers' colors, for postage stamps and other purposes. In ice-cream dextrine flour gives the milk sweetness, and helps to give consistency and the illusion that cream has been used in the mixture. While this formula may not coincide with your idea of what ice-cream ought to be, it is not absolutely lethal unless the milk used is in very bad condition.

"Through the summer months there are repeated reports of ptomaine poisoning from ice-cream improperly made and stored in improper places. And the water-ices—these may cost less than ten cents a gallon, for they are merely frozen water and chemical flavoring.

"The Government reports show that in the wake of improperly made ice-cream have followed acute toxemias, which is really poisoning, running all the gamut between light disturbances and actual death. Often ice-creams have been sold that have been melted and refrozen, and in these creams a terribly high bacteria count has been by those scientific people who occupy themselves with such matters."

The public schools of the city closed today for the summer vacation after completing a most successful term. With a capable trustee board, a most painstaking and earnest staff of teachers the work has gone on very smoothly and splendid value has been given for the money expended. The people of Fredericton are justly proud of their public school system and they have good reason to be for in the matter of educational facilities we take second place in no other city or town in Canada. The Mail heartily congratulates Principal Foster and the members of his staff on the fine showing which they have made during the term which closed today and we sincerely hope that both teachers and pupils will thoroughly enjoy the holiday which they have so well earned.

The elections in Gloucester yesterday resulted in the return of the four government candidates by majorities in the vicinity of one thousand. In view of the unprecedented sweep which the Tories made in other counties it is not surprising that the electors of Gloucester should decide to throw in their lot with the majority. Messrs. Byrne and Legere of the defeated ticket sat in the last House and proved themselves excellent representatives.

Hon. George E. Foster says that members of parliament are hounded by a patronage system which is simply damnable. Sir Wilfrid Laurier says the system is damnable when it is damnable administered. Sir Wilfrid is right.

Several new subalterns have joined the 71st. In addition to the officers named Lieut. Knowlton, 62nd St. John Fusiliers, will be attached to the 71st at Sussex.

According to Messrs Stewart and Culligan the members elect the Tory victory in Restigouche "was due to the splendid organization work of Mr. Richard O'Leary." This is supposed to be the same Mr. O'Leary who has a scheme on foot to secure control of the oyster fisheries of the North Shore.

READY FOR GRAND PRIX REVIVAL

Paris, June 24—Crowds of people are leaving Paris for the Dieppe circuit, where the Grand Prix automobile race will be started at early dawn tomorrow. It will be the first automobile road race of international importance held in Europe in nearly four years and upon its success depends the future of the sport on this side of the Atlantic.

The Dieppe circuit, one leg of which lies along the British Channel, is the same that was used in the Grand Prix races in 1907 and 1908. The circuit is 47.8 miles long triangular in shape, with approximately 16 miles to a leg. It is claimed to be the fastest that can be found in France.

The race this year will occupy two days. It is to be 956 miles in length, 478 miles, or ten laps of the circuit being run on each day. The most elaborate arrangements will be made to prevent mobs invading the track. Nearly ten thousand soldiers will be stationed at forty-foot intervals along the course, and no person within the inclosure will be permitted to cross till the race is finished.

There are more than fifty entries in the race, mostly from France and England, though the United States is represented by one car, and there are entries from Italy, Germany, Belgium and Switzerland. There are practically no limit to the construction of the cars entered in the first class so the manufacturers have had a free rein to construct cars with the greatest possible speed ability. In view of this it is expected that a new world's mark at road racing will be established.

THRONGS OF TEACHERS

Louisville, Ky., June 25—From every direction in Kentucky, and from Indiana as well as other States, on every train and on interurban cars throngs of teachers poured into Louisville today to attend the forty-first annual convention of the Kentucky Educational Association. Present indications are that all previous attendance records will be broken, and that the convention will be the most successful in the history of the association. The prominent speakers to be heard during the three days' session include Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis of Brooklyn, Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education; Dr. Charles F. Thwing, president of Western Reserve University, and Dr. David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, Jr. University.

The San Francisco Labor Council will ask the American Federation of Labor to urge Congress to take steps to build a national highway at a cost of $500,000,000 to the end that the unemployed may be furnished work.
