PUBLIC CLOSING EXERCISES IN SCHOOLS OF CITY

bitious boy or girl, and we did not fully appreciate that we were steadily pressing forward to graduation day. Everything was so unique, new teachers new studies, and the custom of changing rooms which to most of us seemed a pleasant pastime.

Thus the year sped quickly on and we suddenly found ourselves listening to the closing exercises of the "A" Class at 1910 held in the Opera House. We spent our vacation as all school children do—grousing about the length of holidays and the prospects of hard work. Yet I think on our coming back, that we began to feel our position more keenly, that of being in "B" Class and exerting our influence I trust for good, over the class below us and giving our support to the "A" Class above with in 'athletics and educational matters.

As a "B" Class we numbered 53 just 16 having dropped out by the way, being "weary in well doing." We plodded along as before we could realize it, a few of us were trimming the Normal School Assembly hall for the closing exercises of those whose place we, ere many months, would occupy. As we listened to the able addresses, saw the prizes distributed and drank in the words of advice and farewell of the valedictorian, we began, I believe only then to think seriously of our own graduation day.

The summer vacation having passed we enlisted in the race once more the last mile post having been left behind, a mere handful of boys and girls 26 in all 23 of whom were with us from the first, 3 being contributed by outside schools. Today, we number but 22.

We were now stately seniors, looking at the new comers with pleasure and little sympathy, our own beginning having been forgotten, as we initiated these "raw levies" into the privileges of the old school—a thing of horror to us months before our entrance and completely devoid of fun.

A Class is the privileged class of the High School and rightly so and may it be hoped we did not abuse our trust. It is not for me to judge whether we have stood for the right or not, whether we have always upheld the honor or lived up to the traditions of our school. Time will tell. There are naturally not very many functions in High School. The students time and rightly so, is taken up either in recitation in the school building or in preparation at home. However, we were invited to a reception at the College by the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. of that institution and to the usual conversation. Also, in remembrance of the hearty reception given to our boys on their trips to Rothesay and the entire feeling of good fellowship between the two schools, we tendered their team a banquet in the Y.M.C.A. rooms on the occasion of the return game here. I believe I am not exaggerating in the least when I say that almost the entire success of it was due to our girls who served "right royally." This is a practice that all succeeding classes would do well to continue.

ATHLETICS.

While a large part of the students' time outside of school is occupied in study, yet, I think the average student, if it is at all convenient, should spend a little time in bodily exercise or school athletics as the case may be; as Sir Roger says, speaking of exercise:

"Providence furnishes the materials, but expects that we should work them up ourselves."

Football is the standard game of our school and the ever ready subject for the criticism of most parents. At the beginning of this year it seemed as though we should have a rather poor team, many of the players being small fellows. But it seems that the old proverb, "good things are done up in small parcels," has been verified for certain. For our team won the championship. The practices were well attended and our coach, Mr. Lawson, I am sure, did his best and spent a great deal of his valuable time in training the heroes. Much thanks is due to him and our illustrious captain for their very efficient work.

The usual trip to St. John and Rothesay was taken Oct. 20-21. Our team defeated Rothesay 5-0, but was defeated in turn by St. John 6-0. The tide turned however, in the return games in our own city. High School won both games, 6-0. This gave us the cup donated by the U.N.B. and made us champions of New Brunswick.

During the winter hockey and basketball were played to some extent with great success. The hockey team made two trips away, one to Rothesay on Jan. 23, score 4-3 in our favor, and one to St. John on Feb. 11, the score being 5-4 in St. John's favor. But in the return games we won again with the scores 5-3 and 4-3 respectively. Thus we hold the championship in hockey.

DEBATING SOCIETY.

During our first year a class of energetic Seniors organized a debating society. The subjects chosen were very interesting and instructive. Those taking part in them improved each time, showing that debates quicken the intellect and add the powers of expression in a marked degree. But, notwithstanding all these advantages, including the pleasant evenings spent with school chums, the class as a whole allowed the "faithful few" to carry them on. This could not always remain as the best become weary of so much work which is certainly required for good debate, so after two years they were allowed to drop mainly through lack of interest. The word "debate" would have become an empty name and a dead letter as it were in the annals of our "A" Class had it not been for the wise counsel and painstaking efforts of our English teacher, who impressed upon us by word and deed the necessity of speaking in public and the benefits to be derived from being able to speak clearly and forcibly.

SCHOOL PAPER.

It seems to me a deplorable fact that everything in the way of developing our intellect outside of school should have been neglected. Yet in writing this history I am bound to recall our defects.

The "Yellow and Black," our growing paper founded in prosperity after much trouble, was stopped after one year's continuance, whether on account of lack of funds or willing workers I know not, yet it was a loss to the school. Let me say to the succeeding classes, if you would make your school-life more interesting and if you wish to air your literary style, by all means start a paper, and—continue it.

CADET CORPS.

Time will permit me only to mention briefly our cadet corps. This was organized three years ago; the year in which we entered High School. It is true that we are not the best in the province, mainly because we have so little time for drill and no hall for use in the winter, yet I think, we have made a very fair showing considering the circumstances; all credit, I might say, being entirely due to our patient instructor.

It was with extreme pleasure that we heard the news that our worthy Principal, Dr. Foster, had received a long deferred distinction at the Bi-centennial exercises at the U.N.B. in our "B" Class year, 1910; and, although he has received congratulations from a preceding valedictorian on behalf of his class, may I be allowed, though somewhat tardy to congratulate him once more on behalf of my class and to extend to him our hearty wishes for good fortune in the future.

Now I must hasten: the hour of our departure from all our school associates from our school and from all restraint of our patient teachers, has arrived when I must stop to say farewell. It is a hard thing to do. Greater pens than mine have lagged; loftier brows have been bespoken with dew of sorrow, over last farewells. We remember the happy moments connected with our school-life we remember that the F. H. S. has given to the world men, from prosperous citizens to governors, and we know not what position we may be called upon to fill. Classmates this is a noble thought! Let us always do our best to prepare ourselves whether it be for the greatest position or the most humble.

In bidding you, our teachers, farewell words cannot express my feeling of gratitude. If there are words, I am unable to utter them. As I cannot express my own feelings, I cannot those of my classmates, which, I believe are equally as deep. But suffice it to say that we are all exceedingly grateful to you for your painstaking efforts and our parting wish is that you may successfully bring other minds from ignorance to knowledge as you have done ours. We will endeavor to live up to those ideals of manhood which you have held up to us and thus enrich the world with men and women whom our F.H.S. will not be ashamed to own. Finally let us part with this thought:

Then do not be discouraged
O'er the work you have to do,
And say that such a heavy task
You never can get through;
But just endeavor day by day,
Another point to gain
And soon the mountain which you feared
Will prove to be a plain.
Classmates, we have lingered a moment; we have reviewed three long, nay short, years in so many minutes. Whether we are a credit to our school or not, time will tell. We can be if we will. The hour has come. Farewell all.
