THE HAAG CIRCUS

agerie is the baby camel, which was born at Point du Chene, N. B. This little animal is without doubt the only camel ever born in Canada and is one of the greatest attractions of the people of the Maritime Provinces ever have had the opportunity of witnessing. It has been christened "Duke of Connaught" and is a Canadian and when you see it you'll say it's a credit to its country.

The big show takes place under a waterproof canvas that has a capacity of 6,000 persons. It contains every attraction known to the circus world and many of these acts are sensations among circus people themselves. The special feature of the show is the horses. Every horse-loving person should see Mr. Haag's ring stock. He has twenty-eight horses that are considered by critics to be the cream of all the horses in the show business. Whole families of world-famed equestrians handle their horses and make them do tricks that are to say the least, surprising. The Halifax Chronicle said:

"The Mighty Haag Circus have a performance that was far superior to anything seen in Halifax for some years."

The Charlottetown Patriot said: "The entertainment given last evening by the Haag Shows was a pleasant surprise. The advance notices promised a great deal but they were surprised by the performance itself."

The evening performance starts at 7.45 and as a larger crowd is sure to be on hand it is well to secure your tickets early so as to get the best seats.

WHY COST OF BEEF IS INCREASING

(Toronto Globe)

Beef is, has long been and will always be the staple among the various kinds of flesh used for human consumption. People are always much more concerned about the price of beef than they are about the price of any other sort of animal food. It is a piece of ominous intelligence, therefore, to learn that quite recently in Chicago one bunch of steers sold at ten dollars and ten cents a hundred pounds, live weight, while another bunch of somewhat lighter weight sold at ten dollars and five cents. This is to be the highest price paid in the United States for beef since 1867, at which time the country was still staggering under war prices.

It is stated that all these beef animals were raised and fed by the man, and that they were of high standard of excellence. But, making due allowance for the effect of exceptional quality on these special prices, it is an indisputable fact that the cost of beef have for several years past been gradually if not steadily tending upward. This is true of both Canada and the United States, and the causes are not far to seek; while they continue to operate it is vain to expect the cost of living to diminish so far as it is affected by the price of beef. One of these causes is the increasing ratio of urban to rural population in the United States; another is the exhaustion of the supply of available unappropriated beef-producing land; and a third is the increased consumption of fresh beef in rural communities as the result of the formation of the local co-operative associations popularly known as "beef rings." In many parts of both these regions the use of beef, cooperatively prepared and distributed at short and frequent intervals, has almost entirely superseded the once prevalent use of pork, and has materially checked the user of veal and mutton.

The moral for the Canadian farmer is that he should consider the practicability of increasing his production of beef, and thus take advantage of a market that is becoming increasingly profitable. There is no danger of glutting that market if the farmers will only by wise breeding and careful feeding keep up the quality of the animals they rear for food consumption. In Ontario there are many farmers who would find this sort of industry a good way to lessen their perplexity over the scarcity of labor, and to improve at the same time the quality of their farms. There are great deforested areas in this Province not adapted for general farming, but admirably adapted for ranching young cattle. Many Western grain-growers, who foresee the necessity of mixed farming to preserve their farms from sterility, could usefully resort to beef production as a means of accomplishing the desired result. And the Canadian consumer is quite as much interested in the problem as the Canadian farmer.

FORMER SYDNEY MAN CAUSED ENGINEER'S DEATH

(Sydney Post.)

M. G. MacNeil, barrister, formerly of Sydney, will defend the young man Hector McNeil in jail at Winnipeg, charged with responsibility for the death of a civil engineer named Gunderson. A few days ago The Post published an account of a fracas in which McNeil and Gunderson took part in Winnipeg, which ended fatally for the latter. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that McNeil was responsible for the engineer's death and he was arrested. At the preliminary hearing he was committed to the assizes. The prisoner says he is a native of Sydney, Cape Breton.

McNeil is charged with inflicting injuries on Gunderson outside the Moose Club on Market street, Winnipeg, on the morning of July 7. It appears that since his arrest McNeil has made a written confession in which he admits striking Gunderson, causing his death. He did not strike hard, he says, but declares that as far as he knew no one else struck the man. The blow was given on account of certain vile suggestions made by Gunderson. The confession declares that the accused was half drunk at the time.

M. G. MacNeil, for the defence, made strenuous efforts to have this written confession not taken as evidence. The actual wording laid down by the act for the warning of prisoners before making a statement had not been used, contended Mr. MacNeil. The bench over-ruled the objection and the confession went in as evidence.

Evidence as to the trouble which led to the fatal injury of Gunderson outside the Moose Club on Market street on the morning of July 7, adduced eye witnesses was identical with that given at the inquest held last Monday.

The trouble was supposedly on account of vile suggestions made by Gunderson to McNeil. The witness today, as at the inquest, did not appear to be very clear as to exactly what happened. All those present at the time denied knowledge of Gunderson personally. They did not know him.

A somewhat peculiar feature of the evidence was the story given by Sydney Morgan and that given by the chauffeur regarding Morgan's actions at the time. According to Morgan's evidence when the trouble commenced he, to use his own term, "beat it." He carefully described a round-about walk which he took, winding up finally at the Club, after walking round about eight or nine blocks. The discrepancy arises in the statement made by the chauffeur, H. J. Barbour, who is apparently under the impression that Morgan was present during the whole scene, even up to the auto to the police station. Attention, however, was not drawn particularly to the difference. Morgan denied to the crown prosecutor several statements which he made previously in a written statement to Detective Bishop.

Detective Sergeant George Smith on the stand, swore to the arrest of McNeil and the apprehension of Barbour, Morgan and Bowden as material witnesses to the case.

Detective Jack Bishop produced and read in court the statement made by McNeil after his arrest.

Accused was committed for trial without taking the stand.

PRIZES OFFERED BY THE CANADIAN SEED GROWERS

Official notice is given by the above organization that substantial prizes in the form of cash and special trophies, are offered for seed grown in the province and exhibited at the next Annual Winter or Provincial Seed Exhibition. The date of this Exhibition will be made public later.

In addition to the regular prize offered to members of the association special cash prizes are offered to boys and girls between 12 and 18 years of age, for exhibits of Spring Wheat and White Oats. A sweepstakes prize in the form of a beautiful gold medal donated by Dr. Jas. W. Robertson, is also offered to the boy or girl having the best exhibit of cats in the Maritime Provinces, Quebec and Ontario and wheat in each of the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Each of these exhibits is to consist of a sheaf which must be at least 6 in. in diameter at the band, and a gallon of threshed grain. The plants for this sheaf should be selected by hand from the field before the crop is out.

Those proposing to compete for these prizes should arrange at once to make the necessary selections and should also write to Secretary, Canadian Seed Growers' Association, Ottawa, Ont., and obtain a copy of the prize list, rules and special arrangements regarding the transportation of exhibits.

Now is your chance boys and girls; even if you don't happen to win a prize the experience you will gain will increase your chances next time.
