Nervous Prostration and Heart Troubles.

Nervous Prostration, or Neurasthenia, is one of the worst forms of nerve trouble and brings about a general weakness of the whole nervous system.

The symptoms presenting themselves are headache, a feeling of depression, disturbed and restless, unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with dreams, fright when in crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, fright at travelling, muscular weakness, sense of fatigue upon effort, etc.

When the nerves become affected in this way the heart generally becomes affected too.

All are curable if taken in time. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just what you require at this time. They strengthen the nerves and build up the whole system.

Mrs. John Hewson, Caledonia, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know the great benefit your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. I suffered for four years with heart trouble and nervous prostration. I was so bad I could not go up stairs without sitting down at the top before I could go to my room. I could not sleep nor could I lie on my left side, for it would seem as if my heart would stop. I thought my time had come. I was doctoring with the doctor, but didn't get any benefit. I took eight boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and am enjoying good health."

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A RED CROSS APPEAL TO THE FARMERS

Our country, with its Allies, is waging a great war for justice, for the protection of small nations in the enjoyment of their rights, for continued and growing freedom, and for the maintenance of its pledged word of honor. Much destruction and desolation are being caused. Lives are being lost by the thousand. Canada's contingent is now in the thick of it. Some will fall sick; many may be wounded; some will pay the last full measure of devotion to their country and its cause.

The Red Cross Society exists to succor the sick and wounded in war. The need of Red Cross service is great and growing greater as the war goes on. The price of progress towards lasting peace is very, very dear. It costs lives, homes, health and much besides. Canada's part in the process of payment, through giving for Red Cross work, is mercifully light and easy, even when all have given to the extent of really feeling it.

The soldiers and sailors pay the price exacted by the desolating struggle from week to week. What they paid in blood and did in sacrifice a month ago was not enough for them. Shall we say it was enough for us? What they are doing and suffering and achieving have put aside, for the time, all their thoughts and plans for individual welfare, comfort and safety. They don't hesitate to establish precedents. But they are precedents of heroic sacrifice for our country and its cause, for our principles and ideals that they may be upheld.

Farmers, individually as well as through their institutes, clubs and cheese and butter factories, are in a position to help very greatly. Their business does not suffer from the war. Prices of nearly all farm products have gone up. While labor is scarce there is time to think of the boys at the front and to send the Red Cross Society a gift to be spent for the sick and wounded.

Farmers are generous in sentiment and generous in giving when their hearts and heads point the way. This is a case when they do so point clearly, persuasively and urgently. In this crisis, in the lives of nations and in the lives of stricken soldiers, none can pray too much, do too much or give too much.

I appeal to farmers to send me sums from $1 to $50 during the first week in May. Every $50 provides one additional hospital bed with the giver's name over it. By sending me about $10,000 you would serve your country well, bring credit to yourselves and make all of us very proud of you. For the sake of the wounded boys, make the gift substantial. It will be an investment towards the recovery of some Canadian soldier who stood in our stead that our cause might be upheld.

Faithfully your friend,
JAS. W. ROBERTSON,
Chairman,
Red Cross Society at Ottawa.

CONTENTED COWS

Cows must be contented to give milk. Fortunately a cow has no complicated social aspirations or vague yearnings after unfathomable things. Give her parcels and a few cheap compliments like "Good bossy" and she is happy.

Austria apparently has been acting as the pad between Germany and Russia, and now that the "pad" has had most of the "stuffing" knocked out of it, it may be dropped.

GERALDINE FARRAR FOR THE MOVIES

(New York Herald.)

Miss Geraldine Farrar is going into motion pictures. At a salary said to be more than double that received by the highest paid stars of the "movies" the popular young American prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company has signed a contract with the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company, to appear in film productions made in its studios, at Hollywood, Cal. Accompanied by a retinue of friends, four maids and a hairdresser she will go to California to remain two months this summer, starting June 15. In the period of eight weeks it is proposed to produce three and possibly four long feature plays with Miss Farrar as the principal star.

Announcement of Miss Farrar's decision to play in motion pictures was made here recently. She is in Atlanta, Ga., with the Metropolitan Opera Company this week. The contract was signed last Saturday after Miss Farrar had sung her season's farewell at the Metropolitan in "Madama Butterfly" Friday night.

It took seven months of persuasion before Miss Farrar decided to accept the tempting offer of the picture company. Long ago Morris Gest broached the subject to her, but at first she would have none of it. But this winter Miss Farrar has seen many motion picture productions at the Broadway theatres, and finally Mr. Gest convinced her that, whereas the art of her voice will live forever in the talking machine records, her art as an actress has still to be recorded.

One of the reasons that led Miss Farrar to make the contract was that David Belasco urged her to act in the pictures. In view of the fact that one of Miss Farrar's most popular operas is "Madama Butterfly," based on Mr. Belasco's dramatic production there was those who discussed the engagement last night who linked the two things together. Mr. Gest is Mr. Belasco's son-in-law.

There remain many interesting features in connection with Miss Farrar's debut in motion pictures which were not explained. It was said such matters as the kind of plays she would appear in were still unsettled.

Although the engagement of the operatic star for the cinema is one of the most interesting motion picture announcements of months, she is not the first prima donna who has appeared in motion pictures. More than a year ago Mme. Lina Cavalieri and Lucien Muratore acted "Mignon" in front of the camera, and the film was shown here for several weeks in the Lyric Theatre. Miss Emily Destinn has been approached by motion picture producers as a star since her much published photograph last year showing Miss Destinn in a lions' cage in Berlin. This was a feat of daring that would qualify any star to appear in the most hair raising thriller of the films.

One of the items—a little detail of $5,000—is that she and her party shall travel from New York to California and return in a private car. Accompanying her will be her father and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Farrar; Morris Gest, her motion picture representative; Mrs. Gest, her personal friend, and several others.

SIX MONTHS TO LIVE COULD NOT FIGHT

Paris, April 30.—Few young or middle aged men are to be seen in the provinces of France now, but these are enough of them promenading the Paris boulevards to exasperate mothers, wives, sisters and sweethearts of soldiers.

"Why isn't he at the front?" has been a constantly growing question, generally followed by a denunciation, and sometimes resulting in deplorable incidents.

A young actor was hissed at Lyons when some one in the audience put that question. He asked for a hearing and in a choked voice said he was obliged to speak of something that he had tried for a long time to ignore himself.

"It makes no difference now, though," he said. "The physicians give me only six months more to suffer. It would be a great consolation if I could pass that time fighting for France but in spite of my supplications they won't have me."

Many incurables have been obliged in this way to disclose their secret sufferings. Many foreigners also who passed for French in the Boulevards have declared they were Russian, English or Belgian. Mr. Henri Galli, a deputy for Paris, asked why they were not serving their respective countries. The reply was that the Russians were mostly political refugees who would be put into prison instead of into the army if they returned, while England has no obligatory service and many Belgians benefited from the old law under which conscription was by lot. Some of them also, having served in the civic guard or being married, are exempt under existing laws. Mr. Galli remarked that there was nothing to prevent the English and Belgians from enlisting in their own armies and as for the Russians, there was room for them in the foreign legion.

The Belgian army has been refusing to volunteers the privilege of choosing their regiments and this is supposed to confirm the report that the government intends by decree to modify the existing recruiting laws and call out all physically fit men between the ages of nineteen and twenty-one, married as well as single. No more passports for Holland are delivered to men in this category wishing to return to Belgium.
