GIRL STENOGRAPHER

her office. Five feet tall, almost plump, athletically poised, clear skinned, home grown complexion, brown hair and eyes to match.

She was interested, but skeptical, at the suggestion she was "among the remaining possible winners in the award of 'The Million Dollar Mystery prize'."

WHAT SHE INTENDS TO DO

It took several credentials and one chaperon to convince her that it was fitting that she should take luncheon with the insistent stranger.

"What would you do with the $10,000 if it should be given to you?" she was asked.

"If I didn't die of heart disease on the spot I think I would buy a home for my folks with some of it and put the rest in the bank," she answered. "Then after that I might go into some kind of business for myself maybe— But what's the use of soining dreams about it? There never could be that much luck in our family. Things don't happen that way."

"I just wrote my solution of 'the Mystery' and sent it in because I wanted to express my notion of how it should turn out. I wanted to get it off my mind, like folks who write letters to the newspapers. I would be disappointed a little if the story didn't have a happy ending for the heroine, with the bad people punished and the good people rewarded, but I guess we can trust the producers to take care of that. There's enough trouble in real life, so we ought to make our stories happy."

THE BIGGEST FOOL.

Pat was strolling about one day with an Englishman when they met a poor-looking beggar woman.

"Pat," said the Englishman, "I will give that woman sixpence for every penny you give her."

"Right," said Pat and he gave her ninepence.

When the Englishman had given her his share,

"Pat," said he, "which of us was the biggest fool?"

"It was you," said Pat.

"No," said the Englishman, "it was you, for you gave her all you that there should be no election till the war was over. In case, however, that the government should change or make up its mind, he wanted to know if the law would enable a person who was absent from the country to be a candidate.

BUDGET DEBATE

Hon. Mr. Doherty said there was nothing to prevent it.

CHEERS FOR HON. DR. BELAND.

Mention of the name of Hon. Dr. Beland by the minister occasioned a round of cheers, in which both sides joined.

Dr. Beland's patriotic services in Belgium, declared Hon. Mr. Doherty, would in no sense interfere with his holding his seat in parliament. It might interfere with his receiving his indemnity but he thought that should be dealt with by special vote in the estimates. (Applause.)

Mr. MacLean, South York, asked as to the status of individual voters who had gone or were going, to the front, in event of a general election.

Hon. Mr. Doherty replied that a special committee was considering the matter. He was also having the Justice Department consider different methods by which men could register their votes and would probably submit a tentative measure.

The patent for the twenty-five thousand combination entrenching shovels and bullet-proof shields, with which the Canadian Expeditionary Force is equipped, was held by Miss Eva MacAdam, private secretary to the minister of militia. The patent was taken out on August 17th last. The government paid $1.35 for each to the Midvale Steel Company of Philadelphia. Miss MacAdam, as the inventor of the shovel, had not received any royalty.

The debate on the budget was resumed by W. W. Wright of Muskoka, who defended the action of the government in giving assistance to the railways in September last. He said that the C.N.R. and the G.T.P. were a pair of twins left on the Conservative doorstep by the late administration and the government had to take charge of them.

Referring to arguments advanced by Mr. Turriff, the member for Muskoka, said that Mr. Turriff seemed to be very much concerned about the farmers of the west. It was remarkable, however, that the members in Saskatchewan and Alberta were nearly all newspapermen and lawyers. It would be better, he thought, if a few farmers were elected.

George Kyte of Richmond, also replied and referred to the splendid response to the call for men, which had been made in Canada since the outbreak of the war. At the special sessions $50,000,000 had been voted and it was proposed to vote an additional hundred millions.

Mr. Kyte strongly criticized the inconvenience of the war stamp on all letters and maintained that it would have been better to simply raise the postage by one cent.

Dr. Edwards of Frontenac, followed. He took issue with the Liberals that the present was the proper time to stop public works. He claimed that when men were out of work was no time to stop public expenditures.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley, who followed, said that the finance minister proposed to spend, out of consolidated revenue, $140,000,000, not a dollar of which was a war tax. Ordinary prudence in the selection of officials, maintained the member for St. John, would have saved the government enough money to pay the interest on the $100,000,000 it was borrowing from the imperial government to meet war expenditure. Dr. Pugsley was not so familiar with the civil service as was Prof. Adam Shortt, now occupying a responsible position in the employ of the government.

Some hon. member—"In the employ of the Liberal party."

Prof. Shortt had stated, continued Dr. Pugsley, that there had been two thousand dismissals since the present administration came into office and that the places of these men had been

NERVOUS DYSPESIA, GAS OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" Settles Sour, Upset Stomach in Five Minutes

Time it: Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness, or intestinal griping. This will all go and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

taken by ten thousand more.

Hon. Robert Rogers—"That statement has been repeated so often that hon. gentlemen on the other side of the House seem to be beginning to believe it. I want to say that no more dishonorable, no more dishonest and no more unfair statement has ever been made by any man."

"There were Liberal cries of 'order, order' at this juncture, whereupon Mr. Rogers, unmoved, repeated the statement.

"Repeat it again," urged Dr. Pugsley.

"I would be glad to stay here all night repeating it," replied the minister of public works, and did so. He explained that his words applied to Prof. Shortt's remarks and not that of Dr. Pugsley.

Dr. Pugsley observed that it was unfortunate for Mr. Rogers' statement "when he made this terrible imputation against Prof. Shortt, that the returns brought down by the government itself would seem to justify it."

Mr. Rogers—"Surely my honorable friend intends to be fair. The return says nothing of the kind. In my own department there were 591 dismissals and some 700 resignations, of which Prof. Shortt has taken no notice at all. It is the same in all the others, which puts an entirely different face on the situation."

Dr. Pugsley continued to the effect that for the Department of Public Works, Railways and Canals $18,000 had been voted last year, which could not be expended.

Hon. Dr. Reid, here pointed out that as regards railways and canals, the government was asking many millions less than it asked last year.

Dealing particularly with his own constituency of St. John, Mr. Pugsley said that the votes included $100,000 for a breakwater to Partridge Island, but the minister of public works stated that this work would not be proceeded with.

Mr. Rogers interrupted to say that he had never made such a statement. Tenders had been called for and he hoped the work would be proceeded with.

Dr. Pugsley replied that the assertion had been made that no new works would be undertaken and this was a new work. If it were not gone on with he did not want the sum charged up to the people as war taxes.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley had the floor when the House adjourned.

PIMPLES APPEARED ON HIS FACE AND HANDS.

The primary cause of pimples arises from the blood not being in a good condition. When the blood becomes impure you will find that pimples will break out all over the body, but more particularly on the forehead, nose and chin, and although they are not a dangerous trouble, they make you appear unsightly both to your friends and yourself. What you need, when these pimples break out, is to get a real good blood purifying medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters. One that will build up the system by cleansing the blood of all the impurities and poisons which cause the skin to break out in these eruptions.

Mr. F. A. McKenzie, Portage La Prairie, Man., writes: "Last summer I was all run down and unfit for work of any kind. All kinds of food seemed distasteful to me. Pimples appeared on my face and hands, and I seemed to grow worse every day. One day a friend advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. Half-heartedly I did so, and the results obtained were marvellous. I regained my health, I took on flesh, and in a short time the pimples and skin eruptions disappeared entirely; thanks to the healing powers of B.B.B. I freely recommend it to all sufferers."

B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
