TORY M. P. FOR CARLETON RAKED IN BIG PROFITS

Ottawa, June 28.—The case against W. F. Garland, Conservative M. P. for Carleton, was completed at today's final review of the scandal before Sir Charles Davidson's court of inquiry into war purchases.

The member for Carleton himself admitted all the salient points in the charge. All told, Garland got from Powell, his drug clerk, about $9,000 in profits from the sale of $40,000 worth of surgical supplies to the militia department last August.

He knew the money had come from the government in payment for the supplies furnished in the name of Powell. On twelve occasions, Garland directed his clerk to obtain money from the "special" account in the Union Bank. The clerk did so. He did not pay the money direct to Garland, but left it where the Conservative member could obtain it.

Powell, the clerk, gave this evidence this morning to the Royal Commission on war purchases. Garland, the member also furnished corroborative evidence. He admitted that he had directed Powell to get him money from the special account. He had not received it from Powell direct. He knew that the money had come from the government.

After parliament opened and the public accounts committee began investigating, Garland repaid Powell $6,300 and directed Powell to deposit it and then draw a check for that amount and return it to the chairman of the public accounts committee in a letter. Garland suggested the form of the letter which accompanied the check.

ADVISED BY GOVERNMENT MEMBERS

When asked why he had made this restitution, Garland made the startling reply: "I had been advised by some of the leading members of the government to get back that money if I could." Garland did not give the names of the members of the government who proffered this advice. He was not asked for their names.

Garland's counsel was present, but did not put a question to the Conservative member.

Recalled at this afternoon's sitting Mr. Garland said that he had not discussed the orders with H. W. Brown, director of contracts for the militia department, because he had had previous disagreements with Brown, and did not think that Brown "always told the truth." He said he had no understanding, with Powell in regard to sharing the profits and had paid him nothing.

"The transaction," said Mr. Garland, "was not closed up when the inquiry started."

Powell, who was also recalled, said that he had not been induced by anyone to give evidence at variance with the facts, with a view to shielding his employer.

It now remains either for Mr. Garland to resign, or for the prime minister to take drastic action with his supporter in parliament. The resignation is expected.

BINOCULARS' INQUIRY

The rest of the day was spent in re-inquiry into the sale of one hundred binoculars to the government by T. M. Birkett of Ottawa, a son of the ex-Conservative M. P., for the capital, and head of the Keystone Supply Company, formed on the advent of the Borden government to power in 1911. October, the company's business since has been confined almost solely to selling supplies to the government.

The binocular transactions was fairly well covered by the public accounts committee last session, and a new evidence of any great importance was brought out today. Birkett, who was on the stand all the afternoon, told of securing an order for four hundred binoculars at fifty-two dollars a pair from the militia department, on the suggestion of Lieut. Colonel Hurdman of the department, and under the supervision of P. W. Ellis & Company, of Toronto. Birkett delivered one hundred and forty-six at forty-eight dollars, and forty-six at forty-eight dollars. The majority were below the required standard, but all but five or six passed the inspection of Col. Hurdman.

Birkett, who is a hardware merchant, admitted that he knew nothing whatever about binoculars and did not even know the makers or quality of the glasses he delivered. He had secured them through an Ottawa jeweller and a New York agent, and had simply taken their word that the glasses were all right. Some of them cost him as low as seventeen dollars per pair, but he got fifty-two dollars per pair from the government.

Birkett said that he had not deceived anyone in the matter and no government official had received a cent of commission. The glasses passed inspection by the department's regular inspector, Col. Hurdman, and that was all Birkett was anxious about. Witness admitted that P. W. Ellis & Company had frequently asked for details as to the make and power of the glasses he supplied, and he said he had innocently given the firm erroneous information, claiming that the glasses were all standard makes, although some were of decidedly low-grade manufacture. He explained this self about binoculars and simply wrote Ellis & Company what he had been told about the glasses by his agent and partners in the transaction.

The inquiry will be continued tomorrow.

28TH BATTERY TO LEAVE FOR VALCARTIER WEDNESDAY

Major Crocker, officer commanding the 28th Field Battery, last evening received orders to entrain for Valcartier with his unit at three p.m. on Wednesday next. It had been unofficially announced previously that the battery would depart upon Tuesday next but that announcement was unauthorized and incorrect. Major Crocker at first was requested to be ready to entrain tomorrow.

The battery is now almost up to strength but Major Crocker has been ordered to recruit over strength and is prepared to take on about fifteen additional recruits.

Arrangements are being made to give the unit a send-off. Mayor Mitchell will present a civic address and the Fredericton Brass Band will play them to the I.R.C. station.

SCHOONER L. C. TOWER SUNK BY PIRATES

Command of This Craft Had Been Declined by Capt. Read of This City.

A despatch published elsewhere in The Mail announces that the schooner L. C. Tower has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. This schooner was launched at Port Greville, N.S., in the month of May and was on her maiden voyage with a cargo of deals. The command was offered to Capt. J. A. Read, a veteran navigator who has for some time made his home in this city. He was naturally very much taken back when informed by The Mail this afternoon that this schooner had been sent to the bottom by German pirates. Capt. Joseph Donovan of St. John, was ultimately placed in command of the vessel and she sailed from Port Greville about three weeks ago. Her managing owner, Capt. L. C. Tower, who holds a coasting certificate, went along in the capacity of second mate. The L. C. Tower was a four masted schooner of about five hundred tons. The despatch states that all of the members of the crew were saved.

Capt. Read retired from the sea a year ago but recently accepted command of the tern schooner Melba and expects to sail in a few weeks for a British port or the Canary Islands. His last vessel, the bark Edna M. Smith, was recently wrecked off the coast of Cuba.

GOING TO HALIFAX.

Lieut. B. Lawrence, Lieut. H. Osborne, Lieut. J. Bennett, Lieut. C. A. Hobbirk, Lieut. R. M. Barbour, Lieut. H. G. White and Lieut. H. G. McKnight of the 71st York Regt., will leave for Halifax tomorrow to take courses of instruction. Lieut. C. G. Pincombe of Marysville, who is going to return to take a machine-gun course, is in the city today.

WITH THE WESTERN CORPS

Mr. E. H. Allen has received a letter from his eldest son, E. Drury Allen announcing his safe arrival at St. Martins Plain, Shorncliffe, England. Mr. Allen is a civil engineer by profession and has been in the employ of a large construction firm in British Columbia. He resigned his position, and was appointed sergeant in the machine gun section. His battalion sailed from Montreal on June 6th. Sergeant Allen has already seen active service, having served in the South African war with the Canadian Mounted Rifles. He is thirty years of age and stands six feet two inches in height. Allen states that he has met Lieut. J. A. Winslow, formerly of this city who is acting as an instructor to the troops in barracks at that place.

55TH LEAVING TOMORROW.

The 55th Battalion, now in camp at Sussex, is to leave for Valcartier tomorrow morning. Two special trains will carry the boys.
