"Nerviline" Cures Cramps End Misery Instantly

NO REMEDY SO SPEEDY OR EFFICIENT

A real cramp cure?

Yes, a real one—in a twinkling the cramp is a dead one, and the last squirm is over, once you get a stiff dose of Nerviline on the inside.

This isn't mere talk—it's a solid, truthful fact. No other remedy—not a single one—will cure cramps so quickly and harmlessly as Nerviline. It hits the spot in a jiffy and saves a heap of misery.

"Last Saturday night my stomach felt like an internal machine," writes T. P. Granger from Hartford. "I was awakened from a sound sleep and found myself suffering the worst kind of torture. I was so doblid up I could hardly cross my room. I had used Nerviline before for the same thing and took a real good dose. Once I felt the warm, soothing sensation of Nerviline in my stomach I knew I was all right. It finished the cramps—just one single dose."

Sickness at night is rendered a nightmare of the past if Nerviline is handy. It may be earache, toothache, or cramps. Nerviline in every case will ruble at once and save calling the doctor. Nerviline is a family physician in itself. The large 50c. family size bottle, of course, is most economical. Small trial size costs a quarter. All dealers sell Nerviline.

GOVERNMENT MEETING.

A delegation from the Board of Trade, consisting of R. E. Armstrong and A. H. Wemore, waited on the provincial government at St. John yesterday afternoon in reference to the crossing of the Valley Railway over the St. John River and regarding other railway crossings. Other matters of a routine nature were transacted by the government and it was decided to meet again next week in Fredericton.

T. J. Carter, M.P.P., is at the Barker House.

MILITARY MEN IN DOUBLE WEDDING

Two Members of the Ammunition Column Were Married at St. John.

(St. John Telegraph.)

A double wedding in which two members of the Divisional Ammunition Column, Fredericton, were principals, one marrying the sister of the other, took place last night at the home of W. H. Gamblin, 142 Princess street. It was an event of unusual interest.

Captain George Gamblin was married to Miss W. Jean Spicer of Spencer's Island, and Ganner wylie B. Spicer, a close friend of Captain Gamblin and brother of the bride, was united in marriage to Miss Lucy I. Traer, of Chatham. The event was witnessed by a few close friends of the principals, but the latter were unattended. Rev. W. H. Barraclough officiated at the ceremony and took occasion to make many pleasant remarks on the event.

The home of Mr. Gamblin, who is a brother of Captain Gamblin, was prettily decorated for the occasion. Following the marriage supper was served. The members of Camp Comfort, Renforth, to which Captain Gamblin belongs, were present and were the first to convey congratulations to the married pairs.

Captain Gamblin is very popular and his friends will wish him every possible happiness in his married life. Gr. Spicer is also well known here, and he too, is the recipient of many good wishes.

(Capt. Gamblin and bride were given a very cordial reception on their arrival here this morning. The officers and men of the Ammunition Column were at the depot and greeted them with hearty cheers. The horses were then removed from a ribbon bedecked coach and the happy couple being seated were drawn to the Barker House. The Fredericton Brass Band which had been engaged for the occasion, led the procession.)

THE GERMAN DOCTRINE

(Special to The Mail.)

Amsterdam, Feb. 12.--The paper "Der Tag" publishes an article by Herr Erzberger, an influential member of the Reichstag, in which he declares that neutral nations have no rights and no claim in any manner regarding Germany's blockade of England's ports but that Germans might concede something in their favor, says a despatch from Berlin.

PIERCED RUSSIAN LINE.

Amsterdam, Feb. 12.--The Austro-Hungarian army has pierced the Russian line in the Stryj region and the Russians are retiring to Skile in Galicia on the railway line across the Carpathians from Stryj to Munkacs, says a despatch from Vienna.

FULL REPORT OF CHURCHILL'S TALK ON BRITAIN'S SEA SUPREMACY

London, Feb. 4--The interview given by Winston Churchill to the Matin is translated in full by the London Daily News. The interviewer, Mr. Leroux, describes Mr. Churchill "as a man so genuinely young and modern as to be a hero from Duff-Maurier rather than a politician."

"What end," Mr. Leroux asked, "are the combined British and French fleets really working?"

The First Lord answered with a "The action of the navy is necessarily slow. The pressure it exercises upon an adversary is unintermittent. It may be compared to the forces of nature, to the inexorable grip of winter, which nothing can for long resist."

Leading the interviewer before a large scale map which covered the wall of the department, Mr. Churchill placed a finger on that angle of the sea and coast where, between the force of the German navy lies hidden Denmark and Holland, the whole force of the German navy lies hidden under shelter of Sylt, Heligoland and Emden.

"There," he declared, "is the place where nature and science have combined to fortify against all attacks. Here in activity the Germans are secured by two exceedingly solid bulwarks—a neutral power on the left, and these neutralities are inviolable to us."

"As long as the Germans remain under cover of these defences they hold certain facile advantages over us when it comes to small encounters. There lies the submarines of which they are always talking. We have more of these vessels than they but how can we send ours out to attack theirs? Submarines do not fight among themselves. A single one of their submarines which leaves its refuge and can find targets in our vessels can naturally do more damage than ten of our submarines, which are unable to encounter a single German ship."

"It is easy enough to lose through the agency of an enemy submarine or an enemy mine of insignificant value a battleship, which cost millions without speaking of the lives which may be lost. Prudence, therefore, is indispensable when one cannot hide in harbors and expose oneself everywhere at sea."

The correspondent thought he could notice Mr. Churchill's annoyance at the general public which allowed itself to be impressed by the apparent successes of the Germans.

"There are he said, 'certain tricks of the sea with which one has always to reckon. However powerful and vigilant one may be, no one knows better than the Germans themselves the exceptional conditions which permitted them to come to our East Coast and throw bombs at it. They chose one of these days of the year when in these latitudes the nights are longest. On their way back they were overtaken by dawn, and if a fog had not protected them they would have fallen into our ring. Yesterday they experienced the inconvenience of meeting us in broad daylight."

"For the rest, all these exploits do not in the least resemble the disembarkation of troops with which we have often been threatened, and which as a matter of fact we would
