TURKS LOSE HEAVY

Paris, May 17--According to a Havas despatch from Athens, advices have been received to the effect from Mytilene to the effect that furious fighting continues in the Dardanelles, and that the Turkish losses have been extremely heavy. Shells from the Allied fleet are blowing up whole trenches filled with Turkish soldiers. Prisoners admit that the Turks lack munitions of various kinds.

A BRITISH SUCCESS

London, May 17--The following official statement was issued by the British war office tonight:

"The first army has made a successful attack between Richebourg L'Avoue and Festubert, breaking the enemy's line over the greater part of a two-mile front. The attack commenced at midnight to the south of Richebourg L'Avoue, where we carried two successive lines of German breastworks on a front of 800 yards. A mile further to the south another at dawn carried 1,200 yards of German front line trenches, and was pushed rapidly on, extending its successes 600 yards further south by bombing along the German trenches. Here we crossed the Festubert Quinque road and advanced nearly a mile into the German lines. The fighting still continues in our favor, and throughout the day our brave troops have fought splendidly. At Ypres all has been quiet for the past 48 hours, and elsewhere on the front there is nothing to report."

AN ELOQUENT PREACHER.

Rev. Dr. Harry A. Porter of Dallas, Texas, occupied the pulpit of the Brunswick Street Baptist church on Sunday morning. He preached an eloquent and scholarly sermon from 2nd Corinthians, 4:18, which was followed with great interest. He prefaced his discourse with a few remarks of a personal nature. He said that he had told his friends that he looked forward with great pleasure to being back to his native city, where people would call him "Harry." Regarding the Brunswick Street Baptist church, he said that he always regarded it as "the church beautiful."

All that saved the Peppers Homestead was the fact that the dwelling had a Metal Roof on which the sparks alighted several times. Had the roof been of wood a serious fire would have been the result. "A stitch in time saves nine"

FIGHTING THE CUTWORM.

Clean Cultivation and Protection of Birds Keep the Pest Down

Cutworms and army worms are more or less abundant every year and as a class, rank in importance with our worst insect pest. These caterpillars are smooth and in shape cylindrical, and have six feet; in color most of them resemble the soil in which they ride during the day.

The life histories of even our more common cutworms are by no means complete. Some hibernates in the pupal state, or as half-grown caterpillars, and others in the egg or adult state. A single female moth lays several hundreds of eggs. They are deposited in clusters on the leaves of weeds, grasses, shrubs, etc. When full grown, the cutworms are about an inch and a half in length, and enter the ground to the depth of an inch or two to transform to the pupal condition, the adult moth emerging as a rule in June, July and August.

Under normal conditions, cutworms and army worms feed at night. As the name "cutworm" indicates, these caterpillars cut off plants near the surface of the ground or a little below it. Some kinds climb fruit and other trees and destroy the buds or young fruit, etc. Others feed entirely below the surface of the ground, attacking the roots of grasses and other plants. Cutworms when they become excessively abundant, march ahead in true army worm habit.

The destruction wrought every year throughout Canada by these insects amounts to a large sum of money. In some seasons when they occur in extraordinary abundance, this loss totals hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Clean cultivation is an important factor in the control of cutworms. This includes the collecting and burning of all refuse remaining after the removal of crops, and the destruction of weeds. Infested land should be ploughed deeply in the fall. These methods destroy many hibernating caterpillars and pupae in the soil.

For the protecting of plants that are set out annually, cylinders made of tin or paper may be placed around the stems of the plants. As the surface feeding cutworms cannot climb such bands, their attacks in this way will be prevented.

Birds, beneficial insects and parasitic diseases, help materially to control cutworms. Farmers, horticulturists and others should aid in the work of protecting our insectivorous birds. They are among the best friends the farmer has, and this fact should be more carefully realized.

Poisoned bran, that is, bran poisoned with Paris green, is the best remedy for the destruction of cutworms and should be applied immediately their presence is detected. Fresh bundles of clover, etc., which have been sprayed with a strong solution of Paris green or arsenate of lead mixture, are also very useful and should be placed at short intervals apart, throughout an infested field.

POLLUTING THE LAKES

Increase of Navigation Means More
Disease Germs in Water

In his annual report, Surgeon-General Rupert Blue, of the United States Public Health Service called attention to the growing peril to public health arising out of the pollution of the Great Lakes and tributary rivers. Dr. Blue pointed out that about 16,000,000 passengers are carried each year over the Great Lakes, and that more than 1,000 vessels use these waters. "It becomes apparent, therefore," Dr. Blue says, "that these inland vessels play an important role in the maintenance of the high typhoid fever rate in the United States. The degree of pollution of the Great Lakes and rivers contributory thereto is becoming a serious question. These large bodies of water are constantly becoming more polluted, thus lessening their value as a source of water supply. Practically all of these vessels secure the water used aboard for all purposes by pumping from the lake." The peril for Canadian cities on the shores of these lakes and for Canadian travellers over their surface is as great as for the people in the neighboring republic. There are ways, however, of purifying water for drinking purposes, and cities exposed to contamination are gradually adopting such methods of guarding against danger from the water supply. Dr. Blue recommends that vessels taking water from the lakes should see that it is purified before being used for drinking purposes.
