HELEN KELLER HAS FOUND HAPPINESS

'Miss Helen Keller, America's deaf, dumb and blind genius, has found her greatest happiness, like other women in love.

Mme. Maeterlinck of Paris, when in Boston last year, saw and talked with Miss Keller. They chatted about love—the first time, so far as is known, that Miss Keller has opened her heart on this theme. Mme. Maeterlinck will write an article which she will call "The Woman Who Found the Blue Bird," the "blue bird" in this case being happiness in love.

Miss Keller is spending the Summer at Wrentham. Mme. Maeterlinck who appeared at the Boston Opera last year, talked in Paris with Chas. Henry Meltzer of the American dramatic staff.

Paris, Aug. 3.—Georgette Le Blanc, best known as Mme. Maeterlinck, has had to decline an invitation lately extended to her by Henry Russell, managing director of the Boston Opera House, to revisit America.

Two days ago, when I had the privilege of talking for an hour or more with her at the Abbaye de St. Wandrille, in Normandy, Mme. Maeterlinck informed me that next Winter she would found a "Theatre Maeterlinck."

"I shall not have a theatre of my own," said Mme. Maeterlinck. "But I shall head a company with which I shall produce some of my husband's plays. My purpose is to open my season with 'Sister Beatrice' (which has not yet been performed in France) and to continue my campaign with 'Mary Magdalen.' I shall interpret the chief parts in both those works, to Paris.

"Nothing would give me more pleasure than to revisit America. I have very happy memories of Boston, where I was more than warmly welcomed by the public. If I had my way, I would have made one appearance in 'Ariane et Barbe-Bleue' at the Metropolitan. Mr. Russell tried Mr. Russell tried his best to get that opera house for one performance. But I was shown a contract, of a very private kind, which gave a singer in the New York company the exclusive right to sing the role.

SIMPLICITY OF ARIANE

"I have my own ideas regarding Ariane. As I conceive her, she should be played with great simplicity. The splendor of Ariane is all internal. And, like her character, her dressing should be simple. One costume, only one, of course, for the action in the opera—as in the play—goes on unbroken. That costume need not cost more than ten dollars."

"No," Mme. Maeterlinck went on, "I am not writing my American impressions. They were delightful, but I do not think them important, or original enough to warrant my making them into a book.

I Am Willing To Prove
I Can Cure You

To That End I Am Giving Away $10,000
Worth of Medicine

In order to show beyond all doubt that I am in possession of a medicine that will cure kidney trouble, bladder trouble or rheumatism, I will this year give away ten thousand dollars' worth of this medicine, and anyone suffering from these diseases can get a box of it absolutely free. All that is necessary is to send me your address.

I don't mean that you are to use a part of it or all of it and pay me if cured. I mean that I will send you a box of this medicine absolutely free of charge, a gift from me to the Eric Acid sufferers of the world, so I can show them where and how they may be cured. I will not expect payment for this free medicine, nor would I accept it now or later if you sent it. It is free in the real meaning of the word.

For twenty-five years—a quarter of a century—I have been trying to convince the public that I have something genuine, something better than others have for the cure of staphylococcus, chronic rheumatism, for torturing kidney backache, for annoying calls to urinate. But it is hard to convince people—they try a few things unsuccessfully and give up all hope and refuse to listen to anyone thereafter. Happily, I am in a position now to demonstrate to sufferers at my own expense that I have a medicine that cures these diseases. I don't ask them to spend any money to find out; I don't ask them to believe me, nor even to take the word of reliable people, but all I ask is that they allow me to send them the medicine at my own cost. That is surely fair.

To this end I have set aside ten thousand dollars, which will be used to compound my medicine. Much of it is ready now to be sent out, all of it fresh and standard. There will be enough for all sufferers, though there be thousands of them. And anyone who needs it can get some of it free. But in order that I shall know that you have a disease for which this medicine is intended, I ask you to send me some of your leading symptoms. If you have any, I will gladly send you a box of it free with full directions for your use. Look the symptoms over, see which symptoms you have, then write me about as follows: "Dear Dr., notice symptoms number"—here put down the numbers give your age, full address, and send it to me. My address is Dr. T. Frank Lynott, 831 Franklin Building, Toronto, Can.

The ten thousand dollars I am spending for the compounding of my medicine is only a part of the money I am devoting to this cause, for the package of medicine I send you will be fully prepaid at my expense. From any standpoint you view it, YOU incur no expense or obligation. Just tell others who you know are suffering who sent you the medicine that cured you.

I am promising to give away ten thousand dollars' worth of medicine, and I will do that; I am promising to send any sufferer who writes me a box of this medicine and full directions free of charge, and I will do that.

"I may, however, write one article about a visit which I paid in Boston to that wonderful American, Helen Keller. Though she is deaf and blind and dumb, she has genius.

"Many have written about her, but none, I believe, has put such questions to her as I, a woman could, without offence. I questioned her, above all, about love.

"And—yes, Monsieur, you have guessed rightly—I found that though so sorely tried and crippled, she was quite feminine in all her thoughts and feelings. I shall name my article 'The Woman Who Found the Blue Bird.'"

Before leaving her I asked Mme. Maeterlinck if she could talk to me about the new play which her husband is now writing.

SEQUEL TO "BLUE BIRD"

"All I can say," she answered, "is that it will be the sequel to his 'L'Oiseau Bleu.' It was settled yesterday that it would be entitled 'Le Mariage de Tyl-Tyl.'"

"Tyl-Tyl grows up. He goes into the forest with the woman of the diamond ring, from whom he learns strange things—true things—concerning life. The play will combine fairy fancies with philosophy. It will, no doubt, delight the old and young alike. At present it has only been sketched out, and I hardly think it will be finished till next spring.

"An American manager has offered to pay Mr. Maeterlinck his own price for the play. So far he has refused to accept any of the offers he has had. Nor has he yet made up his mind where he will have his work produced."

There is not an ingredient that can injure; not one but will benefit. All that I ask is that you use it yourself so that you may be personally convinced.

Owing to the large number of requests, I have had ten thousand more copies of my medical book printed. This book is new and up to date and contains complete descriptions, symptoms, causes, effects and cures of kidney, bladder, rheumatism, etc. All who write for the free medicine will be sent a copy of this grand illustrated medical book—the largest ever written on these diseases for free and general distribution.
