TRAPPERS SUFFERED KEENLY FROM WAR

Washington, May 21.—The effect of the European war has been felt in few channels of trade more keenly than in the market for furs. Before the war London and Leipzig, with Paris, Petrograd (St. Petersburg) and St. Louis were the world markets for the distribution of furs, the largest part of the trade being carried on in London and Leipzig. Since the outbreak of hostilities the London market has been the only one to conduct business on a large scale and even here the demand has diminished.

The reason for this is the inability or disinclination through caution of the middle and richer classes to buy, the absence of Leipzig and other Continental dealers and the fact that the skins cannot now be sent to Leipzig for dyeing. The richer classes are buying lower grade furs than formerly, so that the loss in medium priced skins is not so great as in the higher grades.

As a consequence of these conditions trappers in Canada and the United States can no longer find a market for their skins. Probably the greatest sufferers are the Canadian Indians who for years have made their living by trapping. They have been notified through the Department of Indian Affairs of the Canadian government that the Hudson's Bay Company, Revillon Freres and the independent trading companies will no longer advance them their usual supplies of food, ammunition, clothing, etc., against their prospective catches. That this will cause much suffering among them can well be imagined, as they lead a precarious hand to mouth existence and have no other way of sustaining themselves.

The largest part of the fur supply comes from the United States, with Canada a close second, perhaps exceeding the United States in value per skin. Next in value is the Russian supply, if Serbia be included, closely followed by Australia. Other countries furnish smaller amounts. Probably Russia and Serbia furnish almost as valuable supplies as any country, but of these quite a large part is kept in Russia for dealers in Petrograd and other Russian cities. Sea otter is the most valuable fur at present; Russian sable is next in value, with silver fox nearly approaching it, although when the size of the skins is considered the sable is infinitely greater in value.

METHOD OF SELLING.

Ordinarily trappers in the United States, Canada, Russia, Serbia and Australia sell to dealers as they catch rarely keeping the skins longer than a few days and seldom treating them in any way. The dealers, acting for large firms or trading on their own account, buy skins at all times, but ship them only between January first and the end of March whenever they feel they have sufficient stock of when the market is favorable. Occasional skins are shipped later than March to wholesalers or for sales held in poor in quality.

BOB ROGERS' STOCK HAS GONE DOWN FIFTY PER CENT

Mebbe. Richard will never be himself again. He doesn't know where he's at. Neither does British Columbia. It's a moot question at this moment whether the British Columbia Legislature is dissolved or not. Bowser is the only man that knows and he and Sir Richard are not speaking now. Meanwhile the Honorable Bob has to look on and see another friend drawn under. It's his fate to have the Government to which he belongs pester while other Governments in which he is indirectly interested totter.

The Honorable Bob is having hard luck all round. Even his excuses for a general election are turned down. It was Bob's idea to sound the tocsin against the Senate as unjust and tyrannical because it insisted on the soldiers at the battle-front getting as honest an election as the folks at home. When the people of Canada did not rise to this, another excuse was put forward which is plainly not Bob's. To give Bob his due he is no whiner. He tears the heat and burden of the day and does not complain just as he takes the hard knocks and comes up smiling. He would not be guilty of saying that the Government ought to go to the country because the load is too great for any sixteen Cabinet Ministers to carry.

It wasn't so long ago that Premier Borden was boasting of that very load in the House of Commons, and how nobly the Government of the day was sustaining trials and tribulations the most onerous in Canada's history. The sentiment was loudly applauded by his followers who were naturally proud of the performance. It is quite true that the Government has from time to time shifted parts of the load to Royal Commissions and that the bill for extra help of this kind must now run into hundreds of thousands of dollars per annum but the House was willing to forget that in the view of the special war burdens to which the Premier was alluding. In almost the same breath Sir Robert announced that he was transferring a big share of the dunnage to one tinman and two grocers who would act as a purchasing commission and relieve the Government of spending one hundred million dollars among the ten-to-fifty per cent patriots but nobody thought he wanted to get rid of what work was left. It seems, however, that he does, at least in the Pickwickian sense, and that a general election in which the people would do the voting and the Government would run for office would be the proper division of labor.

Don't suffer! Nerviline is your relief. Nerviline just rubbed on, lots of will ease that drawn tight feel over your ribs, will destroy the pain will have you smiling and happy in no time.

"I caught cold last week while mowing," writes P. T. Mallery, from Linden. "My chest was full of congestion, my throat was mighty sore, and I had the fiercest stitch in my side you could imagine. As a boy I was accustomed to have my mother use Nerviline for all our minor ailments, and remembering what confidence she had in Nerviline, I sent out for a bottle at once. Between noon and eight o'clock I had a whole bottle rubbed on, and then got into a perspiration under the blankets. This drove the Nerviline in good and deep, and I woke up next morning fresh as a dollar and absolutely cured. Nerviline is now always part of my traveling kit, and I will never be without it."

The large 50c. family size bottle is the most economical, or you can easily get the 25c. trial size from any dealer.

THE ONLY CURE FOR CONSTIPATION

Is "Fruit-a-tives"—That Wonderful Remedy Made From Fruit Juices.

AVON, ONT., MAY 14th, 1915.

"I have used 'Fruit-a-tives' for Indigestion and Constipation with most excellent results, and they continue to be my only medicine. When I first started about six years ago to use them, I took four at a dose but gradually reduced the dose to one tablet at night. Before taking 'Fruit-a-tives', I took salts and other pills but the treatment was too harsh. I thought I might as well suffer from the illness as from these treatments. Finally, I saw 'Fruit-a-tives' advertised with a letter in which some one recommended them very highly, so I tried them, and I have no hesitation in recommending them."

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

TOO MUCH FOR HER

Unobserved and unannounced, the resident of a church society entered the composing room of a newspaper just in time to hear these words issue from the mouth of the boss printer:

"Billy, go to the devil and tell him to finish that 'murder' he began this morning. Then 'kill' William J. Bryan's youngest grandchild and dump the 'Sweet Angel of Mercy' into the hell box. Then make up that 'Naughty Parisian Actress' and lock up 'The Lady in Her Boudoir.' Horrified, the good woman fled, and how her children wonder why they are not allowed to play with the printer's youngsters.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.
