

MAGIC "NERVILINE" CURES
TOOTHACHE, EARACHEIT RELIEVES EVERY
EXTERNAL PAINCURES COUGHS, COLDS, SORE THROAT, TIGHT CHEST AND HOARSENESS.

It's when sickness comes at night, when you are far from the deugist or the doctor, that's when you need Nerviline most. Experienced mothers are never without it. One of the children may have toothache. Without Nerviline—a sleepless night for the entire household. With Nerviline the pain is relieved quickly. It may be earache, perhaps a stiff neck, or one of the kiddies catching with a bad chest cold. Nothing can give quicker results than vigorous rubbing with this old-time family remedy.

Nerviline is too useful, too valuable to be without. For lumbago, lame back, sciatica or neuralgia there is no liniment with half of Nerviline's power to penetrate and ease the pain.

As a family safeguard, as something to ward off sickness and to cure the minor ills that will occur in every family, to cure pain anywhere, you can find nothing to compare with old-time Nerviline, which for forty years has been the most widely used family remedy in the Dominion. The most economical size is the large 50c. family size bottle, small trials 25c. All dealers sell Nerviline.

JOSH WANTED TO SEE

Some time ago Uncle Josh was spending the day with a city relative, and in order to while away the time he was taken round to the firehouse. Just as they entered the door an alarm was struck and down the pole the fire engine came chugging from their quarters over the city.

"Come along, Uncle Josh," said the city relative as the apparatus sped off. "Let's go to the fire."

"No fire for me, Henry," was the rather emphatic response of Uncle Josh. "I'm going to stay right here. What for?" was the wondering rejoinder of Henry. "Don't you care for fire?"

"Yes," answered Uncle Josh, "but I want to see 'em shoot up that pole again."

C. P. R. STEAMSHIP
BIRL, PASSED HOUSE

Canadian railway enterprises came under the searchlight of parliament Monday. There was some plain speaking, and practically the whole day was spent in consideration of problems involved.

Hon. Robert Rogers protested the passing of a bill fathered by his Conservative colleague from British Columbia, R. F. Green, to extend the charter of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway in the form in which it came before the house.

The minister of public works proposed to amend it by limiting the company to six months, instead of two years for the commencement of its various lines.

W. F. MacLean led the opposition to the Canadian Pacific Railway bill which proposed to allow that railway to sell its ocean steamers to a new company which would be known as the C.P.R. Oceans Service Limited, and to allow the parent company to guarantee the bonds of the new company. The South York member described the measure as the first step to dismember the road.

The new company was to be incorporated in Britain, and would be beyond Canadian jurisdiction, he argued. He wanted the bill to await the passage of the New Railway Act.

Mr. Turill urged that as the C.P.R. had come to parliament for power to issue stock, at least indirect control could be exercised, while Hon. Dr. Pugsley pointed out that the C.P.R. and Grand Trunk had been given powers the C.P.R. now sought.

IMPOSSIBLE TO CONTROL RATES

Hon. Frank Cochrane said that attempts to compel the company to submit to control of the railway commission might tend to drive ocean tonnage away from Canada.

Mr. McDonald of Pictou, was of the opinion that ocean rates were governed largely by supply and demand.

HARRY THAW TO BE PLACED ON TRIAL

New York, March 7—Harry Kendall Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, will be placed on trial tomorrow in the supreme court on a charge of conspiracy growing out of his escape from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Matteawan in August last. Today Thaw's counsel busied themselves with final preparation of their client's case, while the prosecution was equally occupied in conferences over the evidence.

Thaw spent today quietly in the Tombs, refusing to see anyone except his counsel. Ever since he was brought back to the Tombs six weeks ago today, Thaw has maintained a solid silence, refusing to see newspapermen. In this respect, it is said, he has obeyed implicitly instructions from his counsel not to discuss his case, as he was formerly wont to do.

When Thaw faces the court again he will be surrounded by an array of counsel including John B. Stanchfeld, Morgan J. O'Brien and Abel S. Smith, formerly assistant U. S. district attorney. Opposed to these and representing the state of New York will be Franklin Kennedy and Frederick Cook, deputy attorneys general, while James O'Malley, assistant district attorney, will represent New York County.

Thaw has been prisoner or fugitive since the night of June 25, 1906, when he shot and killed Stanford White on the Madison Square Garden roof.

On Sunday morning, Aug. 17, 1913, Thaw escaped in an automobile eluding capture for two days and was finally arrested in Calicut, Canada.

He was subsequently released by the Canadian authorities and sent into Vermont. He fled to Colebrook, N. H., where he obtained counsel and prepared to fight against returning to Matteawan. A writ of habeas corpus was obtained from a federal judge at Concord and Thaw automatically became a government charge. Argument on the writ was delayed until Governor Feltner of New Hampshire should decide to grant or deny the fugitive's extradition. The Governor finally decided that Thaw be extradited and then the case was sent back to the U. S. supreme court on the broad issue that Thaw's rights under the constitution were being violated, that New York holding him legally insane, sought his extradition on a charge of conspiracy. Thaw was kept in custody although allowed wide privileges, but was taken to charge by New York state officers about seven weeks ago when the supreme court, in passing on the extradition proceedings, ruled that Thaw could be brought back to this state on an indictment for conspiracy.

With Thaw were indicted Richard Butler, Thos. Flood, Michael O'Keefe, Roger Thompson and Eugene Duffy, who are alleged to have aided him in his escape from Matteawan and who will be tried with him.

This will be the third trial for Thaw in the courtroom of the criminal branch of the supreme court, his two trials for murder having been held in that chamber.

Thaw's counsel is expected to contend that Thaw cannot be convicted of conspiracy while still held to be an insane person, or that the state in pressing a conspiracy charge has virtually admitted his sanity. The state on the other hand, it is understood, will maintain that Thaw might conspire to commit an unlawful act but still be legally in the custody of the state as an insane charge. Conspiracy is a misdemeanor and the maximum penalty is one year in the penitentiary and a fine of five hundred dollars.

MUST BE GOOD.

The guest sat down and frowned over the bill of fare in great perplexity.

"What's good today?" he inquired of the waiter.

"Stewed steak, sir," answered the other, promptly, and then, leaning over the table, he added, confidentially: "It's very good indeed, sir. The waiters are having it themselves."
