LYNN MAN MURDERED

Wealthy Head of
Manufacturing Concern was Riddled
with Bullets

Thought to Have Been Murdered while Riding in an Automobile—Police have no Clue

Lynn, Mass., April 12—George E. Marsh, the wealthy president of the George E. Marsh Soap Manufacturing Company, whose body with five steel-pointed bullet wounds, was found lying on the rocky embankment of the Point of Pines boulevard today, was murdered while riding in an automobile, according to the theory adopted by the police tonight.

Beyond the expression of that belief Chief of Police Thomas M. Burkes had little to say regarding the investigation. He admitted that the mystery presents many baffling features, and that there is little, if any, prospect of an immediate arrest.

Mr. Marsh was seventy-one years old and in feeble health. He is known to have been in the business section of the city yesterday afternoon, and was seen to board an electric car bound towards his home. The police say that he alighted from the car at the corner of Essex and Chatham streets, in the vicinity of his residence, and that he was last seen, so far as is known, on Chatham St., about 5.30 p. m. Chief Burkes is of the opinion that when within 150 yards of his home Mr. Marsh was nicked up by some one in an automobile.

"The police are completely at sea," said Chief Burkes, "I am satisfied that it is a case of murder and that the pistol shots were fired in some kind of a vehicle, supposedly an automobile, and that the tragedy occurred between 9 to 10 o'clock last night. After the shooting the body was taken in an automobile, which is the state highway between Lynn and Revere and was thrown over the fence, landing where it was found this morning.

All theories as to the motive of the crime have failed to develop satisfactorily. A sum of money and a gold watch were found on the body indicating that robbery was not the motive.

Mr. Marsh is not known to have had trouble with any one or to have had any enemies. He had not owned an automobile or a horse and buggy for several years.

Mr. Marsh lived with his sister, Miss Hannah Marsh and two servants. He was twice married, but both wives are dead. His son, James M., and the latter's wife have been staying in California for the last two months, and it is understood that Mr. Marsh was making preparations to join them there.

BOLD ROBBERY IN NEW YORK RESTAURANT

Four Men Armed with Revolvers Relieved a Hotel Man of Jewelry and
Money Valued at over
$700

(Canadian Press)
New York, April 13—Four men armed with revolvers invaded a restaurant on East Fourteenth Street, early today, held up and robbed Morris Last, a hotel manager, of jewelry and money aggregating $700 in value. Thirty persons were in the restaurant at the time, but the robbers made no attempt to molest the others. He and a friend were playing cards in the room, when one of the four strolled over, thrust a revolver in Last's face, and demanded his valuables. The hotel man thought it was a joke, and laughed, whereupon the other three highwaymen covered him with their pistols.

After the hold-up, the bandits backed out of the room, warning the occupants to make no outcry, and escaped in a taxi-cab.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS ARE BECOMING LIVELY

Members of the Administration are Kept Constantly on the Defensive---Medical Commissioner Landry Delivers Lengthy
Speech Specially Prepared for him by Secretary Hubbard---A Violent Outburst from Premier Flemming Wound up the Day's Proceedings

Dr. Landry, the medical commissioner for agriculture, spoke for over three hours on Friday in defence of the government and attacking the former administration. The same arguments, as in previous sessions, were advanced, but nothing new was advanced, as a line of policy to be pursued in the future. That has been the noticeable feature of all the speeches from the government benches, the absence of any announcement to improve present conditions or reduce the expenditures so as to keep them within the income.

No immigration policy or no scheme to benefit agriculture has been hinted at. They are resting upon their horticultural policy, the increase of agricultural societies and the appointment of a poultry expert.

Premier Flemming was not in his usual form, perhaps, because he is suffering from a severe cold. He took some time to deny that he had any financial connection with Price & Nevers, though he failed to deny Mr. Upham's statement that he is the owner of the mill which this firm operates and which supplies much lumber for Carleton County bridges.

He denied knowledge of the lumber sold in his name to the public works department and said it was done by his foreman without his consent. He then reverted to the old argument that Mr. Copp had been employed to do legal business for the Central Railway commissioners, and quoted from the report of the investigation commission in his attempt to show that he had not given value for the services rendered. He was ready with his usual challenge to stomp the country with the opposition leader.

Mr. Copp was absent from the House at the governor's reception when the premier began his speech and this seemed to give him some concern, but the opposition leader returned in ample time to listen to any direct remarks he had to make. His tilts with Messrs. Byrne, of Gloucester, and Upham, of Carleton, were not happy in their results for him, both of the opposition members retorting effectively to his references to them.

BENTLEY SCORES FLEMMING
The premier was also unfortunate in trying again to fasten the statement upon Mr. Bentley that the Bay Shore Lumber Company should be watched sharply in its lumber cut. Mr. Bentley promptly challenged the statement and said that when he made his references to the depletion of the crown lands he had no idea of referring to the Bay Shore Lumber Company. The premier himself had mentioned that company, and now sought to make him responsible for his own words.

The premier persisting in his statement, Mr. Bentley arose again and said:

"I did not make that statement Mr. Speaker and I will not permit you Mr. Premier or any other man to give me the lie."

Mr. Flemming—I accept the honorable gentleman's statement.

Mr. Bentley—You had better.

The premier then said he had a letter from the manager of the Bay Shore Lumber Company denying that they had in any way depleted the crown lands under lease to them.

Mr. Bentley—It does not need your denial, as I promptly denied the statement, as reported, myself as soon as I saw it in the newspapers. It was untrue and misleading.

The premier paid a good deal of attention to Mr. Bentley's speech, but in a most unfair manner. Mr. Bentley had agreed with the policy of the government in prohibiting the exportation of pulp wood from crown lands, but thought that it was unfair to many concerns to compel them to change their whole equipment and saw lumber instead of shipping it as pulp wood, although he said it was to his personal advantage if such a regulation was enforced because he himself cut from granted lands and shipped a considerable quantity of pulp wood.

That statement Mr. Flemming misrepresented, saying that Mr. Bentley was in favor of the government policy because it was an advantage in his business. Mr. Bentley denied that he ever made such a statement, and the premier's answer was that he was prepared to make affidavit before any justice of the peace that those were the words he had noted.

The premier had not finished his speech at midnight and adjourned the debate until this afternoon. The House met at three o'clock on Friday.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS

Floods along Mississippi are Causing
Great Damage
to Property

One Thousand Square Miles of Fertile
Land in Louisiana and Arkansas has been Inundated

Greenville, Miss., April 13—The Mississippi is taking its tithe on Southern Arkansas and Northern Louisiana with the force of the greatest tide in the history of the waterway behind it, the flood is douring through two gaps in the levee, at Panther Forest, in Arkansas, and near Roosevelt over fertile flat lands of the Louisiana Arkansas delta, before night fall, it is estimated that a thousand square miles in East Carroll and Madison Parishes, Law and Chicoland, Arkansas will be flooded. In the meantime the river has paused in its assault on its east banks and prospects of holding the dykes on the Mississippi side have brightened. The breaks last night, are regarded as the most serious that have occurred since the flood period set in. The territory which will be inundated is populous, villages are numerous and Arkansas City and Lake Village Ark. and Lake Providence, Tallulah, and Delhi La and other important towns are directly in the path of the overflow, while the damage to property will be heavy, it is not believed that the loss of life will be large.

JOHN E. REDMOND PLEASSED OVER THE HOME RULE BILL

Nationalist Leader Declares the Bill is Splendid and there is Absolute Unani-mity in the Liberal Ranks in Regard to it--Orange Lodges in Ulster Told that Public Disturbances must be Suppressed
--Unionists will Organize Campaign of Resistance

(Canadian Press.)
New York, April 11—A cable from London this morning says:

It is difficult to obtain from the London papers an impartial account of how the Home Rule bill has been received in Ireland. The Unionist papers represent the Dublinites as generally indifferent and showing no perceptible enthusiasm.

The Daily Mail's Belfast correspondent says:

"Orders have been issued to all the Orange lodges, that public disturbances must be suppressed for the present. Arrangements are being made by the Unionist organizers for special meetings a fortnight hence to former late methods for keeping the peace during the early stages of the bill and for organizing a campaign of resistance at first of passive resistance against the possible eventuality of the bill becoming an act.

"In the meantime the organization is so perfect that it is hoped all riots will be avoided. The danger lies in the burning of provocative bonfires by Roman Catholics within the range of the Protestant line."

REDMOND PLEASSED.

John Redmond, who is much pleased over the general reception given to the bill, says:

"The bill is splendid. There is now what was lacking in 1886 and 1893, namely absolute unanimity in the ranks of the Liberals. That is one of the features that must have impressed any one who was present during the debate which followed the prime minister's speech. There was no sign of dissension. The Liberals evidently welcomed the bill.

"Another noteworthy point was that the opposition discussed the matter as they would discuss any ordinary measure. That represents a marked advance upon their position in 1886 or 1893.

"I detected a very great difference in the tone and temper of the discussion and that difference of course, is entirely in favor of the bill. There was no such waste of passion as that which swept over the House when the first of Gladstone's bills was introduced. Altogether the bill had a reception which was quite satisfactory to myself and my colleagues."

Mr. Redmond undoubtedly speaks for the whole of his followers. Some of them said yesterday morning that they were thoroughly satisfied with the general demeanor of the House toward the prime minister's proposals, and they see no reason why the bill should not go through the House of Commons, with a series of large majorities and eventually under the operations of Parliament Act, become the law of the land.

WILL NESBIT BE EXTRADITED?

Much Speculation in Toronto Legal Circles over the
Case

His Friends Declare that he will put up a Stiff Fight against Extradition

Toronto, Ont., April 13—There is considerable speculation in legal circles here this morning as to the possibility of securing the extradition of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, former president of the Farmers Bank, now under arrest in Chicago. There is only one charge laid against him which is extraditable and that is forgery. There is a question as to whether the returns made to the minister of finance is forgery, even assuming that the prisoner is proven to have done it. If not, the forgery charge will necessarily fall through and Dr. Nesbitt would even if extradited, not come under the law on that count. There is also some speculation as to whether Travers, the former manager of the bank will be needed in Chicago in connection with the extradition proceedings but the authorities having the matter in charge, are of the opinion that if his evidence is needed, it can be taken in the form of an affidavit.

His friends declare that he will exhaust every legal means at his command to prevent being taken back to Canada. It was reported that the papers which detectives prevented Dr. Nesbitt from destroying when he was permitted to enter a saloon Wednesday evening after declaring he was ill, were letters from his wife which will be used later to establish his identity. Dr. Nesbitt's hearing is set for April 26th.

Attorney Pattison said today, "We are going to fight this case to a finish. Nesbitt is being illegally held. He is not guilty of the offence charged. We will leave no stone unturned to prevent his extradition."

In Canada the president of the bank is little more than a figurehead all the real work is done by the cashier.

When the case is called before United States commissioner. Foote, we expect to show that there is not sufficient evidence to send Nesbitt back to Toronto.

Nesbitt is being held without bail.

Chicago, April 12—A waiter took the credit for the arrest of Dr. Nesbitt. Joseph Sadeo employed in a restaurant at No. 840 East Sixty Third Street, declares he recognized the physician banker when he came there to eat and then notified the police of Toronto.

During the day the police searched the city for a pretty blonde type of a woman with whom the banker had been in the habit of taking his meals.

The flat in the vicinity of East Sixty Third Street and Lexington Avenue, where the physician was arrested, was also closely watched.

"I knew Nesbitt in Toronto, where I worked as a waiter at the Albany Club for four years," said Sadeo in telling of his part of the capture. "I used to get Scotch and soda for him daily. In those days he did not wear a beard."

"Two weeks ago I was in the restaurant which my brother keeps, when Nesbitt came in. I knew him at once in spite of his beard."

"He came in again several times, and I was positive. Then I wrote to the police in Toronto."

Both shoes and diamonds were returned as the maid attempted to thrust a one dollar bill into the hands of the cobbler, it was waved aside by the shoe maker, with the comment, "I'll be satisfied with being honest."
