APPENDICITES CASE IN THE YEAR 1885

Article From Halifax Recorder
Tells How Dr. Atherton
Discovered the Disease

Some notes on old times in a recent issue of the Halifax Recorder included the following:
The Halifax Recorder of Dec. 1, 1885, contained the following:

"A student of McMaster Hall, Toronto, died recently from what must be considered a very peculiar disease. One week previous to his death he complained of a dull pain in his stomach, which rapidly became more acute, until it was thought advisable to send for a doctor. In looking up the probable causes, and from questioning the patient, the doctor ascertained that he had been struck in the stomach by a football, two weeks before. He had also played football the night previous to the first appearance of the pain in the stomach, and had taken a sponge bath afterwards. He had also eaten some cheese before going to bed. These circumstances, either singly or in conjunction might have caused the trouble. The patient continued to grow rapidly worse, inflammation spreading over the abdomen, and becoming more and more acute. Other doctors were called in, and it was soon declared he could not live. After his death a post mortem examination was made, as it was expected that the seat of the trouble was in what is sometimes called the second stomach. The part of the human anatomy, which corresponds to the second stomach, in ruminating animals, has long been a puzzle to scientists. It serves no purpose as far as can be seen. It is a small bag, below the stomach, and is closed up. Sometimes cherry stones, or other indigestible small hard substances get into the cavity, and almost certain death is the result. These cases are, however, comparatively rare. Evolutionists say that it is the remains of a second stomach, and hence that man was once a ruminating animal. Dr. Atherton, who performed the operation, suspecting the trouble was in this part, at once proceeded to open it, and found two small stones. They were of the formation of ordinary pebbles. The largest was about the size of a small bean, and was perfectly round and smooth. The other was angular in shape, and had worn through the membrane. It is supposed that the shock of the football hastened the wearing of the angular pebble through the membrane but it is thought that death would ultimately have resulted from the presence of the pebbles in this part whether he had been struck by a ball or not. The case is one of interest to medical men and scientists."

DR. A. B. ATHERTON.

The surgical profession has made great advances in the past thirty years, and today immediately such a case as the above is reported, an operation is performed, and perhaps the life saved. The "disease" mentioned above is known today as appendicitis, and there are many victims of this dread malady.

The Dr. Atherton referred to above is now one of Fredericton's best known practitioners. He was at that time practising in Toronto. He was one of the first physicians to operate for appendicitis.

Mr. M. Tennant, city auditor, who was confined to his house for some days by illness, is able to be out.

PITY THIS POOR GIRL! SHE NEEDS SYMPATHY

Growing fast,—yes, into weakness, but without strength. Tired of course she is—pale and thin too. She does not eat enough and digests far too little. This condition is so common but how seldom noticed even by fond parents. Give her Ferrozone—then watch her appetite improve—see her cheeks and lips grow ruddy—watch her spirits rise. This gain is simply the result of eating and digesting enough, and thereby nourishing blood brain and nerves. To a woman Ferrozone restores strength she has lost—to a girl it brings strength perhaps she never knew. You'll try Ferrozone, 50c at all dealers.

I SWEAR

"I am a blacksmith. I contracted a sore finger, which led to blood-poisoning. After three months of doctoring, the finger had to be cut off. It was too late! The poison had spread to my hand and arm. My hand was opened and the bone scraped. No use! Doctors said hand would have to be taken off. I refused, and began to use Zam-Buk. I used it freely for a few weeks. It subdued the blood-poisoning and my hand began to heal. By the time I had used 7 boxes of Zam-Buk my hand was quite healed. Zam-Buk surely saved my hand, and I firmly believe it would have saved my finger too, had I used it at first."

The above facts were sworn to by Mr. John Evans, of 87 Lawrence St., Halifax, N.S., before Supreme Court Commissioner O'Hearn. Zam-Buk cures wounds, sores, ulcers, eczema, abscesses, piles, cuts, cold sores, burns, scalds, babies' rashes, etc. 50c box all druggists and stores, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.
