

MADE IN CANADA

There are wheat foods and wheat foods, some "flaked," some "krunbled," some "puffed," some ground into meal—but there's only one

SHREDDED WHEAT

It is made at Niagara Falls of the choicest selected Canadian whole wheat, steam-cooked, shredded and baked. It is made in little loaf form so the housewife can serve it in many ways—a staple breadstuff as well as a breakfast cereal—always pure, always the same price.

Shredded Wheat is made in two forms, BISCUIT and TRISCUIT—the Biscuit for breakfast with milk or cream, or with fruits; Triscuit, the wafer-toast, delicious for luncheon with butter or soft cheese, or for any meal as a substitute for white flour bread.

SUDDENLY OCCURRED TO HIM

After being hard pressed for an explanation Ferris said that it suddenly occurred to him that Emmet Kelly had cashed the $21,000 cheque. It had been at the time that the war broke out, and he was afraid the banks would shortly refuse to pay out any money in large sums. Part of the money, the witness said, had been used to pay off the men at the parliament buildings.

Villeroi was employed on the work as inspector, and when the caissons were measured he held one end of the tape while William Salt held the other. At the Public Accounts Committee it was shown that the contractor received payment for something over thirty five thousand yards. According to the same witness only about one-third of the caissons went down to bed rock, the remaining two-thirds rested on hard pan. In depth they ran down from forty-one feet to a depth of a few inches over forty-five feet. Dr. Montague said in the legislature that not one was below seventy-three feet. This witness also testified that the concrete was composed of eight wheelbarrow loads of gravel or crushed stone to one barrel of cement. At the time he had considerable trouble to prevent Kelly's men putting more gravel or crushed stone into the wheelbarrows than was supposed to go into them.

"CROSS-EYED" EXPLANATIONS

The only two other witnesses examined during the morning was J. S. Ferris assistant bookkeeper for Thomas Kelly & Sons. His memory proved to be very deficient, and he gave several explanations which Mr. Justice Mathers characterized as "cross eyed." Ferris was examined at length as to why there should be two cheques—one for $100,000 and one for $142,000, both presumably in connection with tenders for the parliament buildings. He maintained stoutly that he really knew nothing about it, but he acknowledged that he had personally drawn the inference that there were two tenders.

It will be brought out tomorrow at the Royal Commission that Orders-in-Council were clipped out of the official records, and Malcolm Maclean, clerk of the executive, will be suspended.

When the new government took office Hon. Thomas Johnson, Minister of Public Works, started an investigation. It was only in the Auditor's Department that he found one of the missing Orders-in-Council. This gave Thomas Kelly the contract to construct the dome of the new parliament buildings for $817,000 the contract was awarded on July 3, a week before the general election, but the plans for the dome only came through last week from Architect Staniland in Chicago. He estimated the cost at three hundred thousand. Yet ten months ago Kelly had been given the job for about three times that amount.

At the Public Accounts Committee Maclean was asked to produce all Orders-in-Council. He produced a packet and in answer to a direct question said that this was all. Yet the missing one discovered recently was not in it. Hence his suspension. In the afternoon it was finally brought out that during the election campaign half a million dollars was paid out to Thomas Kelly as "cash" cheques. The inference is drawn by Liberal counsel that this last want to help the election fund of the Roblin government.

THE BOY

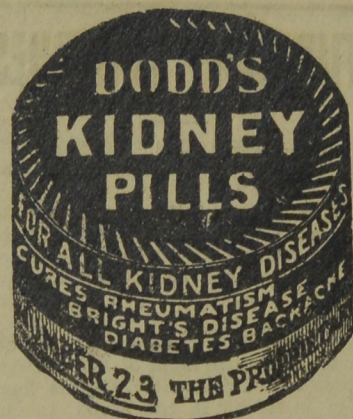

When you hear a fearful racket,
Like a miniature cyclone,
With some sounds so strange that
Surely
Their like was never known.
While the mother listens calmly,
Even with a smiling face,
You may know that it is nothing
But the boy about the place.

When there's famine in the cupboard
And the milk pail soon runs dry,
And you can't keep pies or cookies
No matter how you try;
When you vainly seek for apples
That have gone and left no trace,
There's a boy about the place.

When there's sawdust on the carpet
And some shavings on the beds,
When the rugs are tossed in corners
And your chairs stand on their heads,
While, if a tool you're needing, you
All 'round the house must race;
You may know he's making something,
Is the baby about the place.

When the house is full of sunshine
On the darkest kind of day,
And you have to laugh at seeing
Some outlandish, boyish play,
And when eyes so bright and loving
Oft are raised to meet your face,
You will pray, I know, "God bless
him,
Bless our boy about the place."
