GREAT BATTLE STILL RAGING NORTH OF YPRES; CANADIANS PREVENTED RETREAT OF ALLIES ALONG THE WHOLE FRONT

CANADA IS PROUD OF SOLDIER BOYS

Many Messages of Congratulation Are Being Received at Ottawa--Great Wave of Patriotism Sweeping over the Country--Canadian Troops Now Enjoying a well Earned Rest After Five Days Fighting--Further List of Casualties Given Out.

Ottawa, April 26--The Canadian men and that proportionately the division was in reserve today, accord casualties among officers would be high. Today the Canadians are being held in reserve.

The list of casualties which continues to come from the front, gives additional evidence of the fierce character of the fighting north of Ypres. That the Fifteenth battalion was also in action is evidenced by the names of several officers of this corps which came through tonight.

Messages of a congratulatory nature continue to pour into the government and a wave of intense patriotism is evidenced sweeping the country. Sir George Perley, acting High Commissioner for Canada in London, cabled:

"All London is praising the conspicuous gallantry of the troops."

BRITAIN PROUD OF THEM
Hon. Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, says:

"Britain is proud of her Canadian brothers." The prime minister answered:

"I am most grateful for your message, which will be deeply appreciated by the people of the dominion."

General James Drain of Washington (D.C.) wired the minister of militia:

"I sincerely regret the terrible losses, but glory in the magnificent showing of the Canadians."

Colonel H. H. McLean, M.P., of St. John, N.B., who is designated to command the Eastern Province Brigade in the next contingent, issued a stirring call for one hundred thousand men. He wired the minister of militia:

"We mourn with pride our gallant comrades who died fighting for their empire and right. 'Are we down-hearted?' Let our answer be one hundred thousand men in the fighting line and fifty thousand in reserve. Congratulations to you on the great work you are doing for Canada."

Major Seobell, in command of the Frontier Guard of Niagara Falls wired:

"Am ready to go to the front to fill the gaps."

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper of Vancouver, B.C., answering a message of law and the wounding of his son, says:

"If death had to call Merritt (his son-in-law), he would have chosen it in defence of his country. Canada, in its sorrow, is consoled by the bravery of her soldiers. Reggie (son) cables from Boulogne: 'Slightly wounded.'"

Col. Carrick, M.P., Canada's eyewitness at the front, cabled the minister of militia today as follows:

"Canadians covered themselves with glory. Their heroism most highly appreciated at headquarters. In reserve today, after four days' fighting."

The officers reported wounded today are as follows:

Capt. Bowen, 7th Battalion, formerly 7th, 19th Edmonton Dragoons.

Major Ballantyne, 4th Battalion, seriously wounded, formerly of 20th Peel Regiment.

Lieut. W. L. Ford, 7th Battalion of Kamloops, formerly of the Rocky Mountain Rangers.

Lieut. H. J. Schornschmidt, 7th Battalion, Vancouver.

Lieut. F. S. Molson, 13th Battalion formerly of the 5th Royal Highlanders, Montreal.

Lieut. J. A. Danzereau, 15th Battalion, a graduate of the R.M.C., and attached with corps of guides.

Capt. George Haggerty MacLaren, 15th Battalion, (place of residence unknown at time of writing), and Lieut. H. F. Hutsberg of the Engineering Corps.

"There is nothing official from the war office as yet, telling whether or not some of the Canadians are prisoners, but in view of the character of the fight it is considered likely that at least some of the Canadians were taken prisoners in the first rush. It will probably be some days before the complete list of killed, wounded and prisoners is available. The Germans apparently still hold part of the ground where the battle began and presumably some of the wounded are now in their hands."

THE OFFICIAL LIST.
Ottawa, April 26--The following casualties were announced this afternoon, two killed and four wounded.

The former are Captain Glover, Orillia, and Driver Cross, Nanton, Alberta. The wounded are Lieut. J. V. Young, Hamilton; Lieut. G. S. Ager, Victoria; Hon. J. H. McGregor, Victoria, and Corp. Orr, Brantford.

"Dear General Hughes--I write to you as minister of militia to express to you my deepest sympathy in the heavy losses of valuable lives amongst our first division in the splendid fight they have made at Ypres."

"Canada has every reason to be proud of the gallantry of her sons, who have nobly done their part in the great struggle for the liberties and honor of our empire against the tyranny and injustice of Germany."

"As an English officer, I am proud of our Canadian comrades and feel that they have brought honor to the British army as well as to themselves and that their heroic work will thrill the dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

"Assuring you again of my heartfelt sympathy for the relations of all those Canadians, officers, non-commissioned officers and men, who have so nobly fallen on the field of battle."

"Believe me, yours sincerely,
"ARTHUR."
