

TRAMPED 60 MILES TO SAVE HIS CHUM

Prospector at Larder Lake Got Back with GIN PILLS Just in Time.

LARDER LAKE, ONT., MARCH 26th, 1911.
"I am writing to tell you the good GIN PILLS did me. I had been suffering for some time with my kidneys and urine. I was constantly passing water which was very scanty, sometimes as many as thirty times a day. Each time, the pain was something awful and no rest at night. I began to feel worn out. I heard of your GIN PILLS and decided to give them a trial at once. I sent my chum out to get them (about 60 miles) and I am pleased to inform you that in less than six hours, I felt relief. In two days, the pain had left me altogether. I took about half a box and today I feel as well as ever and my kidneys are acting quite natural again. Thanking you for the pills which I always intend to keep by me. Yours respectfully,
SID CASTLEMAN.

WELCOME RELIEF.

We have never received a letter that pleased us more than this one. When we realize what GIN PILLS meant to this sick man, lying on a bed of pain miles away from a doctor in the frozen north, and how they helped him, we feel that our efforts to prepare a standard preparation for kidney and bladder troubles have been crowned with success.

MR. CURRIE HONORED BY OPPOSITION MEMBERS

Popular Member for Restigouche Presented with Gold-headed Cane—Many Happy Speeches

A very pleasant incident marked the meeting of Liberal members of the Legislature in the Opposition caucus room on Thursday when William Currie M. P. for Restigouche, the Chairman, was presented with a valuable gold headed cane suitably inscribed, as the mark of the esteem in which he was held by his colleagues of the Opposition.

Mr. Copp, the Leader of the Opposition, made the presentation in a short but eloquent speech expressing the personal regret of the members present that Mr. Currie was severing his connection with them in consequence of his departure for the West where he is making his home. He spoke of Mr. Currie in his capacity as Chairman of the Caucus, the care with which he had presided over its deliberations and the wise judgment that he invariably exercised on all matters. His advice was such that it was always appreciated. His friends of the Opposition would feel keenly his departure from among them and trusted that he would meet with prosperity and success in the West and when he had become satisfied with this world's good there that he would return to his native province and to the county of Restigouche which had always appreciated his services so highly. He knew that he spoke the sentiments of all when he said that Mr. Currie had been one of as harmonious a party as any number of men could well be. Mr. Copp joyfully remarked in view of his present infirmity (Mr. Currie has been suffering from rheumatism for a few days) his friends of the Opposition had made a most appropriate selection, a walking stick, to mark their appreciation of his merits.

Mr. Currie in reply, expressed his surprise at the kind way in which he had been remembered and his regret at parting with so genial a company. He would go away feeling that he left many friends and he would appreciate the gift as a remembrance of that friendship for all his life. He had been a Liberal all his lifetime and had felt that it meant something to be a Liberal. In their recent fight (referring to the Federal Election) he thought it was better to fall in a good cause than to stand for a wrong one. That was part of the Liberal principle and he was proud to be one of the party.

He regretted that his earlier training had not fitted him better for Legislative duties and very frequently felt that because of this he had not done himself or his party justice. It was a great regret to him to go to the West, to leave the county and the province which he loved so well and he never could bring himself to think that some day he would not return. He thought the prospects particularly bright for the success of the Opposition party in New Brunswick. It would indeed be a most serious thing if the present government continued in power, sitting for the province because of the extravagant waste of its resources and of the tremendous liability that was being placed upon it.

Mr. Scraphim Leger, M. P. for Gloucester sang "O Canada" in the way that only Mr. Leger can sing this very popular French song then Mr. J. B. Burchill M. P. for Northumberland, addressed the gathering and expressed his regret at the departure of his friend and fellow Liberal. Mr. Currie who in sunshine and in storm, in cloudy or fair weather, had always stood firm for the Liberal party. He would still be a Liberal and stand for Liberal principles in British Columbia. What New Brunswick lost that province gained. It must not be forgotten Mr. Burchill said, that we are all one country, that the interests of one part of the Dominion affects the other and it was well to remember that the services of Mr. Currie for good government will be available wherever he goes in Canada. He wishes him every prosperity and trusted that when he was sufficiently affluent he would return to his native county and province.

Hon. Mr. LaBille in brief but well chosen terms expressed his great appreciation of the honor that had been done his colleague, Mr. Currie for in doing honor to him they were doing honor to the people of Restigouche where the many friends of Mr. Currie would appreciate the action of the Liberals of the Legislature.

Having sung "Old Lang Syne," the members dispersed to their Legislative duties. The words inscribed upon the cane presented to Mr. Currie were: "Presented to William Currie, M. P. P., by the Liberals of the N. B. Legislature, Session 1912."

HOME RULE MEASURE GIVEN FIRST READING

London, April 17—The Home Rule Bill passed its first reading in the House of Commons last night by a vote of 360 to 266. The announcement of the figures were received with deafening ministerial cheers and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs. Mr. Bonar Law, summing up for the opposition, assailed both the bill and the government. The people of Ulster, he declared, were ready in what they believed to be the cause of liberty and justice to lay down their lives.

"You will not," he said in conclusion, "carry this bill without submitting to you will succeed only in breaking the parliamentary machine. The bill has been introduced because the government is dependent upon the Irish votes. The prime minister gave a solemn pledge that he would reform the House of Lords, but that debt of honor must wait until he has paid his debt of shame."

T. P. O'Connor said that in Ireland they believed that the true democratic road was through liberty to loyalty. "God Save the King," would be sung again in Ireland when it was not degraded into a song for party faction.

Timothy Healy said that the bill, instead of repealing the union, as was contended by the opposition made it perpetual with the consent of the Irish people.

T. P.'S ADDRESS.

London, April 17—In the course of the debate on the Home Rule Bill, which passed its first reading by a majority of 94, T. P. O'Connor said they had never heard of the danger of persecution in the south and west of Ireland, where Protestants were in a minority. If Catholics were disposed to persecute Protestants would not the Protestants be in parts where the Protestants were in a minority? (Ministerial cheers.)

The fact was that all this charge of religious persecution was one of the emptiest, meanest and most lying calumnies ever heard. (Ministerial and Nationalist cheers.) The main part of the Ulster case, that Protestants couldn't trust the protection of their liberties to a government which was in a minority Catholic, had thus been broken down.

The Ulster Unionists, who in the past had cried rebel against their southern compatriots, were now rebels against a bone-fide government being set up in Ireland. He should have expected a little more tenderness for rebels from the hon. gentlemen. (Laughter) because they had been going about saying that soldiers would be called upon to disobey their officers if they were asked to put down disorder. The Ulster Conservative party were fighting against the world as well as against their own

RESTORE GRAY HAIR TO NATURAL COLOR

By Common Garden Sage a Simple Remedy for Dandruff, Falling, Faded, Gray Hair

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark glossy hair at the age of seventy five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color. On objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it. This objection has been overcome by the Wyeth Chemical Company of New York, who has placed on the market a superior preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak, falling hair.

The beauty of the hair depends more on its rich, even shading than anything else. Don't have dry, harsh faded hair, when a simple, harmless remedy will bring back the color in a few days, and don't be tormented with dandruff, itching scalp and loose falling hairs. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will quickly correct these troubles, and give color, strength and beauty to your hair.

countrymen; they were fighting against the empire. Was there a single man in the whole British empire, in a great or responsible position, who would justify the position of the opposition?

Supposing, he asked, the parliament of Canada, Australia and New Zealand had passed resolutions in favor of tariff reform and colonial preference, wouldn't the roof of the Commons have been broken by the shouts of hon. gentlemen opposite, begging the government to obey the voice of the empire. (Laughter and ministerial cheers.)

At a meeting he had addressed in the colonies, he might allay the fears of hon. gentlemen by stating that "God Save the King" was sung by his Irish audience with great fervor.

MR. HEALY'S SPEECH.

Tim Healy, who followed, described O'Connor as a splendid example of the Tuftthumper orator. He was disappointed with the bill. The sovereignty of the Irish parliament, he said, was as dead as Julius Caesar. Pitt would have been prepared to grant Ireland such a measure. The bill did not make Ireland a nation, and as for Ulstermen declaring that under this bill there would be oppression, he asked them to condescend to give particulars. (Ministerial cheers) The union wasn't being repealed. It was being made perpetual, not against the wish of the Irish people but with their assent. This bill was five millions worse for Ireland than the bill of 1855. Since the careful fingers of Gladstone had been removed from the national purse the national expenditure had been doubled.

"You may be a great empire," said Mr. Healy, "but we cannot afford you." (Laughter.)

The feeling against Home Rule, he said, was absurd and irrational. William O'Brien had been held up to obloquy because he held out the right hand to Protestants. (Opposition cheers) He himself also held out his right hand to Protestants. The senate proposal of the government, he considered, might well be termed one of the most powerful safeguards the Protestants in Ireland could have. He believed it was with that end in view that it was devised.

NO ACTION AT LAW IN CENTRAL RY. CASE

Mr. H. A. Powell, K. C., who was Counsel for the Government in the Central Railway enquiry was heard before the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature on Wednesday afternoon.

Some days ago it will be remembered Hon. C. W. Robinson on of the opposition members of the public accounts committee, asked that sub-poena issue requiring the attendance of H. A. Powell and Messrs. Dickson, Babbitt and Tibbitts, departmental officials, in order to ascertain if possible, why some measures had not been taken to collect the moneys said to have been "swtched" from their proper channels.

The chairman of the committee agreed at the time to issue the subpoena but said some days later that he found he had no authority to do so. However, Mr. Powell appeared yesterday, without any papers and gave the committee some interesting statements touching the celebrated report, which cost the province nearly 8,000, and has never served any purpose except as a political pamphlet replete with insinuations and mis-statements.

Some of the more important of Mr. Powell's statements were: That his opinion had been asked by ex-Premier Hazen with regard to the advisability of prosecuting with a view to securing the moneys that could not be accounted for, according to the report; that he had made a verbal report to him that there were two difficulties in the way of such a prosecution.

First, a constitutional difficulty as to the responsibility of the members of the government whether they could be proceeded against for negligence. The authorities he consulted said that was a matter for parliament to deal with.

He told Mr. Hazen he had looked into the matter carefully and that there was no action at law. The only course was impeachment. He had also said they might appoint two members of the company and begin an equity suit for accounting, but every member of that company was his political enemy and would tie him up. He had spent about a fortnight in looking into the authorities and had made no charge for those services.

"SALT RHEUM"

Had It On Hands For Two Years

ITCHED SO DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Tried Three Doctors and Went to Hospital.

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and no one can expect to be free from some form or other of skin trouble unless the blood is kept in good shape. All skin diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters.

This is due to the unrivalled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body.

Mrs. Richard Coutine, White Head, Que., writes:—"I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and now to-day I am cured."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about 35 years and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
