MR. CARVELL'S SPEECH

The Liberals of New Brunswick have sent many able men to parliament, but they never had a more eloquent, forcible and courageous man to champion their cause on the floors of the House than Mr. F. B. Carvell, who represents the fine County of Carleton. A gentleman of clean personal reputation, an able lawyer and a born fighter, he stands high in the councils of the party and his great ability is recognized and appreciated by Liberals all over Canada. Mr. Carvell does not often take up the time of parliament but when he does speak his message is usually of such a nature that the members on both sides of the House sit up and take notice. His opponents both hate and fear him and perhaps not without some reason as the sturdy warrior from Carleton, when dealing with them and their methods does not as a rule temper his criticism to the shorn lamb. So far as Toryism is concerned he gives no quarter and asks for none.

It will be remembered that during the last session of parliament Mr. Carvell turned his guns on one A. B. Morine, a discredited Newfoundland politician who had received an appointment from the Borden government as chairman of the Inquiries Commission. He related some facts concerning Morine's past life which shocked parliament and the country, and as a result of Mr. Carvell's exposure the government which expounded Morine to office was compelled to dismiss him, and only a few weeks ago it was announced that he had pulled up stakes and returned to Newfoundland, where for the good of Canada it is to be hoped he will remain.

On Thursday of this week Mr. Carvell contributed to the debate on the address one of the ablest and most aggressive speeches which parliament has listened to for many a day. He had in the Macdonald election outrages a good theme and it is needless to say he did it ample justice. At the first volley Hon. Bob Rogers, whom Mr. Carvell aptly described as "the archpriest of all the electoral tyranny and debauchery that went on," rose and skulked out of the chamber, followed by the jeers of the Liberal members. The Tammany boss from Manitoba found himself up against the real thing for once, and treated the House to an exhibition of cowardice not creditable to a cabinet minister. The "gunmen" who operated for the Tories in Macdonald were likened by Mr. Carvell to Gyp the Blood and Dago Frank and he pointed out that like these worthies they merely carried out the orders of their masters. In other words the Manitoba officials who arrested Liberal workers and cast them into prison without cause were merely carrying out the orders of Premier Roblin and Hon. Bob Rogers, upon whom the responsibility for the Cosack methods employed in Macdonald must rest.

Mr. Carvell took up the gauntlet on reciprocity thrown down by Finance Minister White, a few days ago and clearly defined the position of the Liberal party on this great question. As he pointed out, if reciprocity was good economically in 1911, it is good economically today.

He cited facts and figures to show that Canadians had lost millions of dollars by the defeat of reciprocity and he reminded the House that the problem of wider markets still remains unsolved. No Tory flag flapper can deny that Canada is today the best customer that the United States can boast of. If it is right then for us to buy goods from our American cousins, why should it be looked upon as disloyal to sell our products to them?

With a parliamentary experience extending over the short period of only eight years, Mr. Carvell has already become a national figure. A sturdy champion of the rights of the people he has steadily forged his way to the front, and there is not a constituency in Canada that would not be honored by having such a man to represent it in Parliament. There is but little doubt that the public life of this county has high honors in store for the gifted son of Carleton County.

The local hack organ which is always harping on the lack of intelligence of those who failed to see eye to eye with it has made the discovery that Mr. F. B. Carvell, M. P., was a member of the local legislature when the late Hon. A. G. Blair was premier and that he aspired to a portfolio and was turned down by Mr. Blair for lack of qualifications. This will be news to Mr. Carvell and it will be news to the people of New Brunswick. If the editor of the hack organ would take the trouble to consult the Parliamentary Companion which is a fairly accurate record he would find that Mr. Carvell was first elected to the local House in 1899, three years after Mr. Blair retired from the premiership. The other statements concerning Mr. Carvell contained in a column editorial in the hack organ are about on a par with this one we have cited.

Victoria, (B. C.) Times:—These "ex-Canadians," having resided a couple of decades in the United States, were in a position to know that closer trade relations with the American Republic could in no way affect that loyalty to British institutions. Having lived, farmed and transacted business on both sides of the "line," they were in a position of competent judges when deciding on the desirability of closer trade relations with the United States. They were driven out of Canada under Conservative rule; they came back to Canada under Liberal rule. There was no sentiment in their vote; it was a straight business proposition which did not touch their sentimental attachment to the British Throne or their admiration and love for British institutions.

ARMY AND NAVY READY FOR BATTLE

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—The 1912 football season will close tomorrow afternoon with the annual battle between the West Point and Annapolis teams on Franklin Field. From a social standpoint the game eclipses all others. Washington society never fails to attend the game in force, while everybody who can get away from the War and Navy and other departments in the national capital are to be found in the stands. The battalion of cadets from each academy will attend the game, together with a host of army and navy officers from all of the stations within a radius of 500 miles of Philadelphia. The betting today about the hotels and other places where the visitors congregated shows the Army to be a favorite. The West Point team has played stronger evens this season and therefore has had more experience than Annapolis. But the latter team possesses much good material and the naval contingent stood ready to cover the Army money about as rapidly as it was offered. The coaches this afternoon reported their respective teams in fine physical condition and confident.

Tomorrow's game will be played under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania, which was instrumental in bringing the two academies together in 1899 for annual football games after a break of six years. Since 1899 all games have been played on Franklin Field except the contest of 1905 which was played at Princeton.

The first time that the blue and gold of the Navy met the black and gold and gray of the Army on the gridiron was in 1890, when the Annapolis team defeated the West Point eleven by a score of 24 to 0. Since then fifteen games have been played between the two academies. Of this number each institution has seven victories to its credit the contest in 1905 having resulted in a tie.

A record-breaking crowd of more than 30,000 spectators is expected to witness the game tomorrow. A total of 30,680 tickets for the game have been equally distributed between the University of Pennsylvania and the two academies. The West Point and Annapolis share of tickets are not sold but distributed gratis to officers and others identified with the two arms of the service and to prominent men in Government circles. Pennsylvania's share was sold this year at $3 a ticket, and increase of 50 cents over the highest price heretofore. The proceeds of the sale are given to the organizations for the relief of the dependent widows and orphans of officers and enlisted men of the army and navy.

1884—Porfirio Diaz began his first term as President of Mexico.

1892—Gen. Henry Martin Hoyt, former governor of Pennsylvania died in Wilkesbarre. Born June 8, 1830.

1895—Berthold's bronze group of Washington and Lafayette unveiled in Paris.

1908—Truman H. Newberry of Michigan became Secretary of the Navy.

Grace La Rue is to appear in vaudeville in "The Record Breaker." "The Havoc" adapted to English taste is to be produced in London.

DECEMBER FASHIONS AND DESIGNERS STANDARD PATTERNS

SELF-BASTING SEAMLESS ROASTING PANS

Made entirely seamless so there is no chance for grease to collect in seams or corners. They are perfectly smooth and can be washed out like a dish. The bottoms are concave which collect the rich natural meat juices directly under the roast, and the heat turns these juices into steam which condenses all over the surface of the meat or fowl and makes a perfect self-basting process.

There is no danger of burning as the bottoms are slightly raised from the oven. Needs absolutely no attention.

Made in Sheet, Steel and Enameled Ware.
