SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S VISIT TO NEW ONTARIO

The Old Chieftain Closed His Campaign in the North Country With a Spirited Address Inspected a Portion of the Transcontinental Railway

Cochrane, Sept. 20—For the first time in his life Sir Wilfrid Laurier saw his handiwork as it appears in Northern Ontario—the National Transcontinental.

He had long expressed his desire to come to Cochrane and his trip along the great steelway was most keenly appreciated by the chieftain. In his car he rode out over the long tangents of the road he had planned as far as the Mattagami River, thirty-two miles east of the Town of Cochrane. Here he stopped for a few minutes to examine the magnificent steel bridge. Everywhere along the road, from the Mattagami on the west to the Abitibi on the east, he heard the mutterings of dissatisfaction at the proposed degrading of the standards grades of the road he planned.

At the Town of Cochrane itself he received addresses in English and French from the Cochrane Liberal Association, and he spoke to an enthusiastic gathering from the rear of his car.

BRILLIANT ILLUMINATION.

At night a thousand electric lamps outlined Commando Lake in honor of the Liberal statesman. Across an arm of this sheet of water had been thrown a rustic bridge, and on it were picked out in electric lights, "Welcome, Laurier," Sir Wilfrid Laurier reviewed the remarkable illumination from the grounds of Mr. Hector Clemes just before he was driven to the night meeting. It was found entirely impossible to obtain a tent large enough to hold the crowd that arrived from Porcupine and all the surrounding district, and permission was obtained to hold the gathering in the Grand Trunk Pacific round house.

NOT EVEN DEAD YET.

"You are reminded by the Conservative press that I was buried one year ago tomorrow," observed Sir Wilfrid Laurier with a smile, addressing the great meeting in the National Transcontinental round house. "Nay, nay," he added, shaking his head, "I am not even dead yet. (Cheers.) I am not dead, the party is not dead and the ideals which we have striven for are stronger than ever. (Renewed cheers.) If I was defeated by the Canadian people one year ago tomorrow no one has ever heard me pine or complain over it, nor has anybody seen me take back water. Young as I am, young as I feel, I have girded my loins to try again."

"We are with you!" shouted a man in the audience and for several moments the gathering enthusiastically cheered the dauntless chief—cheered until Sir Wilfrid had to raise his hand for silence.

The Liberal leader concluded his present Northern Ontario tour with one of his best and most spirited addresses. Repeatedly was he stayed by calls for cheers and rarely has his courageous optimism been more infectious.

FAITH IN COUNTRY AND RIGHT

"Fear not for the future," he said in one of his brilliant periods. "Not Canada will come into her own. My faith is in our country and in our Canadian people. Right will win. Twenty-five years hence there will be no cast and no west no distrust and difference. There will be continuous, united Canadian sentiment from the valley of the St. Lawrence to the valley of the Red River. (Cheers.) Let us hasten the day when the heart of the whole Canadian people will beat as one and all our national dangers disappear." (Prolonged applause.)

In concluding Mr. Graham alluded to his natural interest in the problems of Northern Ontario by reason of his association with the Provincial Liberal Government of Sir George Ross in projecting the T. & N. O. Railway.

Spirited addresses were also delivered by Hon. Messrs. Murphy, Lemieux and King.

DEGRADING THE TRANSCONTINENTAL

In the course of his address Sir

Wilfrid referred to the rumored raising of the grades on the Transcontinental Railway. There were whispers which came to their ears and through the public press that the men now responsible for the continuance of the construction of the railway were contemplating degrading of the character of the road. The work the Liberal government contemplated was a road unrivalled on the continent, a road which should be practically level from the Atlantic to the Pacific and which was not to exceed in grade four to six tenths of one per cent. Now they heard that the level was to be degraded, and thenational highway was no longer to be a first-class road, but was to be a succession of camelbacks from the town of Cochrane to the city of Quebec.

"I do not charge the Government at the present time," continued Sir Wilfrid, "but this is a thing which it contemplated, should not be allowed to go on. We must not allow this railroad to be degraded. If it will to destroy the character of this road be the intention of this government I call upon you men of the north to protect the national road against such action and to insist that the railway shall be completed as it was conceived by the late Government."

PROTESTS AGAINST CHANGES.
 Hon. George P. Graham devoted his telling speech mainly to a criticism of the rumored changes in the grades on the Transcontinental. The railway they planned would enable one locomotive to haul twice as much tonnage as on any other railroad on the continent. The grade against eastern traffic was not to exceed four-tenths of one per cent., except in the Rocky Mountains, where it was not to exceed one per cent. The Government was to build the eastern section of the railway up to grade, and change in grade would be a violation of the contract against the people of Canada and the Grand Trunk Pacific.

What was the sense of going to the expense of getting this level road? 'It was to enable the products of the people of Canada to be carried to the market cheaper. A lot of money had been expended to bring the road up to that standard. Now he heard that, notwithstanding the Grand Trunk Pacific was adhering to that grade, at points along the Transcontinental not only had instructions been given to make a momentum grade, but changes had been made to bring about a momentum grade, and he wanted to raise his voice against any man altering the grades of this railway.

"If Mr. Cochrane changes those grades he will impair the people's railway," declared Mr. Graham. "I tell him this idea of momentum grades for the long hauls on the Transcontinental is a delusion and a snare, and would never be approved by practical railway men of Canada."

ANOTHER FAULT OF GOVERNMENT

Continuing Mr. Graham took issue with the legislation of Mr. Cochrane and the Borden Government in releasing the British Columbia portion of the Canadian Northern Railway from the jurisdiction of the Dominion Railway Commission.

"We left the present Government the task of completing the National Transcontinental, not of debauching it," exclaimed Mr. Graham, amid applause.

On concluding Mr. Graham alluded to his natural interest in the problems of Northern Ontario by reason of his association with the Provincial Liberal Government of Sir George Ross in projecting the T. & N. O. Railway.

Spirited addresses were also delivered by Hon. Messrs. Murphy, Lemieux and King.

SUFFRAGETS WAIT

ON PREMIER BORDEN

Toronto, Sept. 23—The Premier accompanied by Mrs. Borden, Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance and Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Postmaster general, arrived at North Toronto, at 8.20 this morning and will attend the banquet to be given in honor of the premier at the new Arena, mutualist miter at the new Arena, Mutual St., Trade.

Immediately after their arrival Mr. and Mrs. Borden went to Castle Frank, the home of Hon. A. E. Kemp, and outside of receiving a deputation of the Canadian Suffrage Association, the premier spent a day devoid of public engagements. The delegation from the Canadian Suffrage League waited on the Premier at ten o'clock and Mrs. Flora MacD. Denison, president, presented an address in which the suffragette question was fully reviewed and attention called to the fact that Canada was lagging behind Australia, and New Zealand in granting the franchise to women. The fact that the league depended upon a propaganda of education to advance their cause was emphasized.

After hearing the address Mr. Borden asked if any of the deputations had anything to add and Dr. Margaret Gordon asked if it would be possible for women to vote in federal elections without being enfranchised for the provinces. The Premier replied that under the federal election acts of some 15 years ago, it had been agreed to use the provincial lists in Dominion elections. Until the law was repealed there would be no possibility of women being given votes in federal affairs except through the provincial lists. As to the request of the deputation he informed them that the question of extending the franchise to women had not been considered and invited the association to send circulars bearing on the suffrage to himself and his colleagues.

ALBERTA FOSSILS

ARE VERY ANCIENT

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 21—Perfectly formed fossils of the trilobite species, the highest animals of the Cambrian formation, declared by paleontologists to be more than 25,000,000 years old, were unearthed by Dr. C. D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C., at the base of Mount Robson, in the heart of the Rockies, west of Edmonton, while on a scientific expedition, occupying two months. He was accompanied by H. H. Hayden. Dr. Walcott said in the course of an interview here today that the bed of fossils, which was found at a point 5,000 feet above sea level, is practically inexhaustible. He reported also finding fossils which will add valuable information to the geology of the world.

The finding of the trilobite is looked upon as important. It is of the group of fossil crustaceans, of which a single specimen is known from the Permian of North America. The animal, which has been extinct for ages, is scientifically described in these terms:

The dorsal surface of the body was covered with a calcareous shell, which presented three longitudinal lobes, a medium and two lateral, and was divided into three parts: A head shield, a body shield or thoracic segment and a tail shield or pygidium. The head was approximately semi-circular and a central protuberance, the glabella, and a flat border, formed the genae or cheeks. The animal was able to roll itself up so that the soft lower surface of the body was protected. The anterior appendages were modified to form antennae, mandibles and maxillae.
