SUMMER SCHOOL OF SCIENCE AT YARMOUTH

Yarmouth, N. S., July 15—Teachers from all over the Atlantic provinces have come to Yarmouth to attend the 26th session of the Summer School of science. They at once gave the town well-merited admiration for its picturesque green lawns, well kept hedges and flower-bordered walks, and were delighted with its cool sea breeze.

Yarmouth warmly welcomes the school. The Local Secretary even went to Digby on Wednesday to meet and welcome the teachers en route.

At the opening meeting in the evening, the Opera House was well filled—some even standing. The School received a welcome from the Mayor, the Chairman of the School Board, and the Supervisor of Schools Mr. B. B. Law, M. P., said the school was one of Yarmouth's greatest privileges for many years, and that Yarmouth would do all in its power to give the members a good time. One of the clergy spoke of the exalted position of teachers, saying that they taught a part of the same science which the clergy preach. The Press and Board of Trade also welcomed the School. Some ladies were upon the platform. One of them, Mrs. Hill, gave a welcome from the Kriehobian Society; spoke of the delightful friendships likely to be made by the members of the School, and read a welcome in poetry written by an elder member of the Society.

President Starratt replied to these addresses. He said he had taught eleven years in Yarmouth and so could vouch for the sincerity of the welcome; that Yarmouth had the first large attendance and gave the first grant to the School; and that Mr. Cameron had lived, who was at one time president, and did much for the school in its infancy.

The Botany and Agriculture classes are so exceedingly large that only the Curling Rink can accommodate them, and they have to be divided into three divisions for field and laboratory work. The large literature class is held in the vestry of Zion church. Some classes are held in the Academy and some in the Central School across the street. These four buildings are not far apart, yet students have the fresh air while going from one study to another.

At the Curling Rink on Thursday evening, the Mayor held an informal reception where the citizens and visitors became better acquainted. The Word reached the city late last night of a bad accident on the C. P. R. above Grand Falls, in which William Weeks, the engineer of a south-bound freight train, lost his life. Though the accident happened about noon, little was heard of it until late last night.

ENGINEER KILLED ABOVE GRAND FALLS

(Telegraph)

It seems that a landslide about three miles the other side of Grand Falls blocked the track and the locomotive of the freight struck the great pile of earth and left the rails, toppling over on its side. Weeks, the engineer, was caught under the cab, receiving fearful injuries from which he died about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The car next to the locomotive also left the track, but the remainder of the train remained intact. At the place where the accident occurred there was a large mud bank and it is believed that the rain undermined it, causing it to slide over across the rails.

The dead man was a native of Woodstock. The train was in charge of Conductor James Davis. A work train was sent out from Aroostook Junction to clear up the wreck and it was said at an early hour this morning that it had not been cleared.

Union housemiths at San Francisco, Cal., will demand an eight-hour day on and after August 26.

students were requested by the President to wear a ticket with his or her own name on it. Walking around looking at these tickets was a pleasant part of the reception. The addresses, solos, and readings were all enjoyed.

On Friday evening, at the Curling Rink, photographic views of birds, by C. L. Cleaves of New York, was well appreciated by students and citizens. These views were taken by Mr. Cleaves, who has contributed articles on birds to such magazines as Collier's, Rural Life, etc.

So far the registration has reached 243.
