

The Family and the Farm.

COMPENSATION.

After the night the morning's dawn, Paling and blushing with pearl and rose; The greenest, sunniest fields are born, Fruit of the high piled winter snows.

There is no sorrow, no pain of life, Bat bears from its anguish something sweet; Past the long hours of weary strife Through victory with her snowy feet.

Then, count not lost the hopes that fall Like leaves in autumn, one by one, Nor deem the light is vanished all.

A FEW MAXIMS FOR YOUNG GIRLS. Never make your appearance in the morning without having first bathed (if only with a sponge and a quart of water), brushed and arranged your hair, and dressed yourself neatly and completely.

Examine every garment when it comes from the wash, and, if necessary, mend it with neatness and precision. Do not sew up the holes in your stockings, as we have seen some careless, untidy girls do, but take in a broad margin around the hole, be it small or large, with a fine darning needle and darning cotton, and cover the fracture with an interlaced stitch, so close as to be as strong as the body of the stocking and fine enough to be ornamental.

Stockings mended in this way need darning but a few times in the course of their existence. Never carry coarse embroidered or lace handkerchiefs. Fine plain ones are much more lady-like.

Avoid open-worked stockings and very fancy slippers. Fine, plain, white or black kid slippers, with only a strap or rosette in front, are more becoming.

Train yourself to useful occupation. Remember it is wicked to waste time, and nothing gives such an impression of vanity and absolute silliness as a habit of idleness and never having anything to do.

If you are in your father's house, take some department of household labor upon yourself, and a part of the sewing, and make it your business to attend to it. Do not let a call from this idle girl, or a visit from that, or an invitation from the other, interfere with the performance of your duty.

Let your pleasure come in as recreations, not as the business of your life. If you want to marry, do not court or try to attract attention of gentlemen. Consider that it is better to be a woman than a wife, and do not degrade your sex, by making your whole existence turn on the pivot of matrimony.

If you can, cultivate to perfection some art by which you could gain an independent livelihood. Do it whether there is a necessity for it or not. Do it, quietly, if you will, but do it. There is no telling when or under what circumstances you may need it.

THE POWER OF CHILDREN. A man was leaning, much intoxicated, against a tree; some little girls coming from school saw him there, and at once said to each other, "What shall we do for him?"

Presently said one, "Oh, fill 'em, let 'em sing him a temperance song." And so they did; collecting around him they sang, "Away the bowl, away the bowl," and so on, in beautiful tones. The poor fellow enjoyed the singing, and when they had finished that song, said, "Sing again, little girls, sing again."

"We will," they said, "if you will sign the temperance pledge." "No, no; I won't sign it now. Sing for me."

So they sang again, "The drink that's in the drunkard's bowl Is not the drink for me."

"Oh, do sing that again," said he, as he wiped the tears from his eyes. "No, no more," said they, "unless you'll sign the pledge; sign, and we'll sing it for you."

trable granite, put arm in arm the old and new worlds as whispering mother and daughter, spanned the American continent with a thoroughfare of iron from sea to sea, out a canal for steamers in forty months across the desert sands where the Israelites wandered for forty years; it is men with sunburnt features and nerves of steel that to-day whitened the world's wide waters with the sails of commerce, navigate all rivers, explore all lands, and subdue the earth, as God at first commanded.

It is a most painful spectacle in families, where the mother is the drudge, to see the daughters elegantly dressed, reclining at their ease, with their drawing, their music, their fancy work, and their reading, beguiling themselves of hours, days and weeks, and never dreaming of their responsibilities, but as a necessary consequence of neglect of duty, growing weary of their useless life, laying hold of every newly invented stimulant to amuse their drooping energies, and blaming fate when they dare not blame their God for having placed them where they are.

Yet no sooner do you propose that they should assist her, than they declare she is quite in her element—in short, that she would never be happy if she had only half as much to do.

ME TOO!

MANY years ago, the streets of Newburyport, Massachusetts, re-echoed the voice of a pretty Indian girl as she uttered her sweet notes in plaintive song, somewhat as follows: "Come buy my baskets, Come buy my baskets, You who have money, poor me has got none, Come buy my nice baskets, and let me go home."

Her song was listened to by all, and people often visited the town to hear the Indian girl. In consequence of this and her selling peculiarly nice baskets, she carried on a brisk trade, so that the family at home were taxed to their utmost in order to supply the demand. But envy, that "green eyed monster," never happy in view of another's success, endeavored to enter the field without a single trait of excellence of beauty, virtue, voice, or of wares, who endeavored to imitate the song of the original, but in this she was laughed to scorn by an appreciative public. Unsuccessful in every attempt at counterfeiting, she was at length obliged to follow the other at a short distance and cry out ME TOO!

It is most acceptable to both PALATE and STOMACH. Sufficiently easy to ensure gradual but decided benefit, yet so mild as never to do harm, no matter how long its use may be extended. (The author used it uninterruptedly nearly four years for CONSUMPTION, with PERFECT SUCCESS, and then discontinued its employment abruptly without a single unpleasant effect.) No other tonic enjoys such a reputation as this.

It restores tone to the nerves, including the mind. It confers health on such organs as are dependent for efficiency on muscular action, such as the Lungs, Heart, Stomach, &c., &c. And unless afflicted with some disease involving absolute organic loss, it will SUSTAIN THE SYSTEM.
