REV. JOSEPH ANGUS, of the Baptist College, Stepney, has been awarded a prize of £210 offered two years ago by an Indian gentleman for the best essay on the life of Christ. The adjudicators were three Episcopalian clergymen.

The present Lord Mayor of London, is a member of the Congregational Church. The civic palace called the mansion house, in which the Mayor resides, was built a hundred years ago, and towards its erection £15,000 that had been collected as fines upon dissenters, were appropriated. Recently the Mayor made a splendid dinner party, having his guests made up exclusively of dissenting ministers. Tempora mutantur.

Kossuth is the son of a lawyer and small landowner in Zemplin, and was born in 1806. He is therefore now in his 45th year. He was married in 1841. Previous to the Hungarian revolt he was distinguished for his eloquent advocacy of liberal principles in the Hungarian Diet, but it was in the character of an Editor that his influence was most exerted and deeply felt. When he ceased to be the mere disseminator of discontent, and became the leader of a great revolt, it was not long in becoming apparent that he had taken upon himself duties which neither nature, education or experience had properly fitted him to perform with success. His escape into Asia Minor saved him from the hands of Haynan's headmen, and for an ovation at New York, and other American cities, such as have been received by no other foreigner landed on our shores. In honoring Kossuth we rebuke the leagued despots of Europe—so far it is well. But personal adulation should not be carried too far.—Troy Daily Whig.

The Freehold Land Societies have made encouraging progress. We may estimate the importance of this movement by the lugubrious jeers which it provokes from the enemies to political improvement. In the proceedings of a Meeting of Delegates from the different Societies in the country, it appears that there are at this moment in England and Wales 100 Freehold Land Societies, lying between Southampton and Carlisle. Two millions sterling have been subscribed by the members for the purchase of freeholds, of which 400,000Z. has been actually paid up; and 150 estates have been purchased, and 12,000 allotments made. More than one division of a country in the vicinity of Birmingham is already safe from the clutches of the old parties who have ruled there; and, come an election when it may, the effect of the 40s. freehold movement in that large town will be materially felt in those quarters.—London Patriot.

The cost of the Electro-Telegraph cable across the English Channel to France is said to have been £15,000, only $75,000. It is now complete and in working order.

NEW YORK.

DEC. 7.—The reception of Kossuth by the City of New-York yesterday, was a spectacle of the most imposing character. The day was exceedingly clear and sparkling, with a bracing north-wester and a splendid sky.

The scene on the Bay, on Castle Garden, on the Battery, in the Park, and for three miles along Broadway—the banners, and the arches, and the grand procession, the thunder of the cannon and the shouting, the whole moving panorama of the day, was something for the recollection of a life time. At two o'clock there was not less, probably, than two hundred and fifty thousand people in and near Broadway.—Kossuth was finally escorted to the Irving House, where splendid apartments had been prepared for him, his family, and suite.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Kossuth.—Among the deputations received at the Irving House this morning was one from Gov. Hunt, tendering him the hospitalities of his mansion at Albany. There was also one from New Haven, another from Virginia and another from the Germans at Albany. Kossuth, in short addresses, said he felt deeply obliged for the honor paid him. It has been determined that the dinner of the Press will take place on Monday evening next.

In a speech made on Saturday evening at the Irving House, upon the occasion of an invitation to visit Philadelphia, Kossuth said he was highly gratified at the invitation, and felt anxious to visit the spot where the immortal charter of our independence had been adopted, but that his object in visiting this country was not a personal one, but to promote the great cause of liberty throughout the world, and especially in Hungary. While he was sure the people of the United States sympathized in that object, he could not but say he was deeply distressed at the action which had been taken by Congress, and had it reached him before he left Europe, he would have hesitated about coming to this country. He said further, that he did not know whether he would leave the city at all.

The President's son, Mr. P. Fillmore, waited upon him at the Irving House and said that his father, the President, would be pleased to see and welcome him at the seat of government—and that he desired to know when it was his intention to be in Washington. Kossuth replied that his movements were somewhat uncertain, and that it was somewhat doubtful whether he should go to Washington at all. The action of the Senate was far from being agreeable, and that circumstances would govern his future actions in regard to his visiting Washington and other places.

A meeting is to take place this evening at Newark, N. J., to make preparation to receive him. The City Corporation of New York entertained Kossuth with a dinner at the Irving House on Thursday evening. 300 persons were present. It was a magnificent affair.

HUDSON RIVER RAIL ROAD COLLISIONS.—The way train for Poughkeepsie, which left New York at 4 P. M. on Thursday, when it had reached the centre of a curve running around projecting head lands, was stopped by the conductor to land two Irishmen who refused to pay the fare, and while they were being put out, a locomotive that was sent up behind the train to bring down some freight cars, ran into it about 6 o'clock, P. M. and injured several passengers, some of them severely. The locomotive, which was going at the rate of 30 miles per hour, penetrated into the car among the passengers about two-thirds of the way, cutting out the centre of the car as it went, and completely housing itself within it.

The train was on the east track, and was thrown partly over the west, so as to obstruct slightly the passage of cars. The 5 o'clock express train for Albany, which used the east track, was due there at twenty minutes past 6 P. M., and it was stopped below and sent back to Croton, about a mile distant, with news of the accident, and with directions to switch off and come up slowly on the west track to take off the passengers and perform whatever service it could, and with directions that the next up train should be warned of the accident. The express train returned to Croton, as ordered, and went up on the west track to the scene of the disaster. The passengers of the injured train were removed into it, the obstruction on the west track was cleared away, and when the express train was about to start off, the up train for Peekskill, which left New York at 5 30 P. M., ran into it when going at 30 miles per hour, and did serious damage to a number of passengers. The up Peekskill train, which had previously stopped at Croton, was, for the first time, changed there, from the east to the west track, on account of the first obstruction on the other, and strange as it may seem, dashed away at high speed, without regard to the circumstances. The conductor states that he was told at Croton that the track would be cleared and that he must go ahead; the station man, on the contrary, states that he mentioned the difficulty and supposed that he would slow up in time. The last engine penetrated into the rear car of the express train, split it open, forced the passengers forward, and jammed and bruised many of them—some very seriously.

Several of the Directors made an immediate investigation of the affair, and published a statement of the causes of it. They attribute it to the misconduct of two of the conductors. They announce that Mr. Cary, the conductor of the 4 P. M. train, has been suspended from duty for violation of rules, and that Mr. Nichols, conductor of the 5 o'clock train, will be dismissed from the service of the company for his reckless indifference in his proceedings.

The officers of the company have taken every care to provide for the comfort and relief of the injured, and Mr. Lee, the Secretary, proceeded to Peekskill, early in the morning, with two respectable Surgeons.

Cuba Trade.—The Exports from Cuba the past year were 25 millions, and the imports 29 millions. The increase of trade with the United States in one year is over 2 millions, making our trade with Cuba take precedence of that with every other country.—N. Y. paper.

The Halifax Recorder says—"We understand that Her Majesty's Government have decided upon lighting the Public Works at Bermuda with the Kerosene Gas, and an order has been made for that purpose. OUTRAGEOUS ASSAULT.—We are informed that a desperate assault was made upon Messrs. George and James Stockford, at Lepreau Basin, near Hanson's Mills, in the adjoining Parish of Lancaster, whilst these officers were in discharge of their duty. In the execution of warrants against sundry persons at the place above named, the Stockfords were murderously attacked by Owen Sullivan and William Whalen, aided by Richard Knowles. Mr. James Stockford was struck with an axe by Sullivan, on the head, by which he was knocked down and immediately disabled, whilst down he was stabbed in the hip, with a bayonet, by Whalen. Mr. George Stockford was slightly wounded only.

Certain parties against whom the Stockfords held warrants have been arrested, and are now in jail. The miscreants Sullivan and Whalen have not yet been taken. In due time, however, we trust that these wretches will receive the punishment they so justly merit.—Chronicle.

NEW POST OFFICE REGULATION AS TO NEWSPAPERS.—We observe by a printed form of notice which has been transmitted to us along with a copy of the laws for the government of the Post Office Department, just published in pamphlet form by order of the Post Master General, that Post Masters are in future to send one of such notices to the proprietors or publishers of newspapers instead of returning the papers themselves as heretofore. This is a desirable regulation and will tend to obviate many difficulties connected with the old regulation. A DAILY paper must be notified if any numbers remain uncalled for during two weeks; A SEMI OR TRI-WEEKLY during three weeks; and a WEEKLY during one month; and any MONTHLY periodical during two months. The reason of its not having been taken out whether "refused"—"not called for"—"removed"—or "dead," must be specified by the Post Master in the notice.—Toronto Examiner.

We wish the same could be adopted in New-Brunswick. Ed.
