

their separate action and engrosses their thoughts and feelings within their own peculiar sphere. Alas, that it ever should be, that differences of views which, in our own present imperfect state, would seem inevitable, should ever lead to collision or strife—that in contending for what appears to each to be the true understanding of God's word, angry passions, should be engendered and alienation of feeling arise.—But yet we bless God that there are times and seasons when the true disciples of Jesus, however separated in some matters, can meet and mingle their sympathies and their prayers, and can rejoice together in prospect of that hour when they shall be perfectly united, not only in brotherly affection, but shall be one also in judgment in all that appertains to the kingdom of God.—Hatifax Christian Messenger.

Since our last issue, we have received with pain, intelligence of the death by drowning, of Rev. E. D. Very, Editor of the Christian Visitor, St. John, N. B. Few men in this, or any country, will leave behind them at their demise a purer and more spotless character, and few men are more universally beloved and respected among the circle of their acquaintance, than he was. Possessing a liberal and enlightened mind, excellent social qualities, a kind and urbane disposition, his loss will create a vacuum that will be deeply and widely felt. Mr. Very's name has been used on the reference list of this Association, of which he was an ardent supporter and friend, and some of the choicest productions of his pen have been in support of the glorious principles of union, fraternity and association.

Mr. Very leaves a wife and family, to lament the mournful catastrophe, that so suddenly deprived them of a husband, father, and true friend. But we will venture to say, that there lives not one among those who lament his fate so sincerely, but might well be happy to change positions with Edward D. Very.—Howard Health Ledger.

We had prepared an Editorial in favor of our Institutions, but have deferred it till next week, in order to insert some important and interesting letters from our correspondents, and they may rest assured that it will be always most grateful to our feelings to meet their wishes in every way we can consistent with our duty and the general good. We hope to be able to attend the Ordination of our brother Emerson, at Mauderville.

We are requested by brother Marsters to say that he has received a supply of the Pure Juice of the Grape, imported expressly for the use of the Churches in the Communion Service. It is warranted to be the Genuine Petmas Syrup, or concentrated Juice of the Grape, which is selected by an American Agent, now residing in Turkey. This may be obtained in any quantity at the Colporteur Depository, in this City.

We are also requested to add that he has now on sale, Winchell's Watts' Hymn Book, and any book not in stock he will procure immediately.—We have inspected this department and are thankful to see it in such a well assorted condition, and hope our friends universally will encourage this important agency for the good of all.

The Circular Letter was overlooked until we were at press.—It shall be inserted next week.

The Funeral Sermon preached by the Rev. I. E. BILL, on the death of the late Rev. E. D. Very, is published, and for sale at the Colporteur Depository, in the Custom House Buildings, and also at the Book Store of Messrs. H. Chubb & Co. Price 6d. and proceeds to be devoted to a benevolent purpose. July 23d, 1852.

The deceased was a consistent member of the Baptist Church for twelve years, under the pastoral care of Elder Chas. Thorne. Her death was somewhat sudden, yet in her last moments her hope was firmly fixed on the Atonement of the Saviour, that Saviour whom she in life loved and served. Elder Thorne improved the death of our sister, from Revelation 14 ch. 15 v. to a solemn and attentive congregation. Our sister has left a husband and a large family of children to lament their loss.
