Mrs. Jane McLellan, the wife of Archibald McLellan, daughter of Mr. David Blinkhorn, died on the 22d October, 1852, aged 21 years. Two years previous to her death she yielded her heart to the Lord. Shortly after her profession, she was seized with a fatal disease, and gradually sank beneath the stern invader until she yielded her happy spirit into the hands of her blessed Saviour. During her sickness she manifested the greatest composure, her hopes were unshaken in the Saviour, and she vanquished death through the blood of the Lamb. Truly her Christian career was short, but impressive; her gentleness and sweetness of disposition, mingled with energy and trust in God, rendered her worthy of imitation.

"O for a closer walk with God,
A calm and heavenly frame
A light to shine upon the road,
That leads me to my God."

Her heavenly life has left a holy impression that will be long remembered. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints."

Yours truly, J. ROWE.
