DEPARTED INFANTS.

"In their mouth was found no guile."

Forth, as the birds of spring they come
Around our hearts they twine,
With all their growing, winning charms,
Like tendrils of the vine;
Yet oft, while wrapp'd in cloudless joy,
They feel the morning ray,
And feeding on the dews of love,
They fleet like dews away;

Sweet, lisping tones were on their lips,
Affection's tenderest wile,
The simple want, the cherish'd name,
But not the sound of guile;

So, all unharm'd by falsehood's snares,
That haunt our earthly race,
Before the Great White Throne they stand,
And see our Father's face;

And in His Temple, day and night,
Do serve Him, void of fear;—
Oh, Mourner! let thy infant's bliss
Check thy repining tear.

The Family.

THE BIBLE A LIGHT.

David compares the Bible to a lamp or lantern. And what a lamp or lantern it is to a person in a dark night and a strange place; the Bible is to a little child, who is journeying to heaven. Dear children, you will lose your way if you do not make use of God's word.

A great many years ago a young man had to go into two or three villages to read the Bible to the poor, and to explain it to them. The villages were several miles apart; and as he had sometimes to walk across ploughed fields, and meadows, and by the sides of ditches, when it was very, very dark, he could scarcely find his way. So in winter, he used to take a lantern in his hand, and then he could get on pretty well. Sometimes it rained very hard; then the wind blew as if it would blow him back as fast as he attempted to get forward; but with his lantern he managed, by God's help, to get on. And though he was very tired when he got home, yet he was thankful to God for his care over him, and for the light which his lantern gave him, especially if he had any one with him, (which was sometimes the case,) who was ignorant of the path. The lantern lighted his way, and theirs too.

Dear children! to walk safely through the world, and to get to heaven at last, and to show others the way, we must take the Word of God and follow its directions, just as the young man took his lantern and walked in the light it shed upon his path.—[Penny Gazette.]

THE FAMILY ALTAR.

God has made family religion one of the most valuable safeguards against the inroads of vice: and many a man, who stands high in community, looks back upon the instruction received at the hearthside, as the instrument of saving him from destruction. Early life is the time to make permanent, religious impressions upon the mind, and children will receive lessons of wisdom, which after time cannot efface.—Doubtless one reason why vice prevails to such an extent in our times, is because there are so few family altars—so little family religion. Our fathers prayed in their families and vice was unable to undo the impressions formed in youth.—If they cannot pray, let them read the Bible in the hearing of their families every morning, or every evening—let them sing devotional hymns—let them at least, impress moral truth upon the minds of the young. If this should be done, many a father and mother would have reason to bless God for children over whom they now weep with tears of anguish.

Ye who have never prayed, will you, as guardians of your dear children, set up this obstacle in the way of vices which may ruin these children. It will make the management of your family more easy, and will bring pleasure to your home.

FORGET-ME-NOT.

FROM THE GERMAN.

"Grandmother," said little Gretchen, "why do you call this beautiful flower, blue as the sky, growing by this brook, a 'Forget-me-not'?"

"My child," said the grandmother, "I accompanied once your father, who was going on a long journey, to his brook. He told me, when I saw this little flower I must think of him; and so we have always called it the 'Forget-me-not'."

Said happy little Gretchen: "I have neither parents, nor sisters, nor friends, from whom I am parted. I do not know whom I can think of when I see the 'Forget-me-not'."

"I will tell you," said her grandmother, "some one of whom this flower may remind you—him who made it. 'Every flower in the meadow says, 'Remember God,' every flower in the garden and the field says to us of its Creator, 'Forget-me-not.'"

Do not smoke.—A scientific writer in the N. Y. Tribune comments on the growing rage for smoking, and says:—

"Tobacco, employed in this way, being drawn in with the vital breath, conveys its poisonous influences into every part of the lungs. There the noxious fluid is entangled in the minute spongy air-cells, and has time to exert its pernicious influence on the blood—not in vivifying, but in vitiating it. The blood imbibes the stimulant narcotic principle, and circulates it through the whole system. It produces, in consequence, a febrile action in those of delicate habits. Where there is any tendency to phthisis and tubercular deposit in the lungs, debility of these organs, consequent on the use of tobacco in this way, must favor the deposit of tubercular matter, and thus sow the seeds of consumption. This practice impairs the natural taste and relish for food, lessens the appetite, and weakens the powers of the stomach."

This Extract is the result of numerous experiments, and the Proprietors feel confident that they have arrived at that perfection in preparing it to which no other manufacturer has yet attained. All have heard of its uses.—And many Physicians in this City are conscious of the fact that our Extract is far superior to those sold under the names of 'Townsend's, Sands, Bristol's, Brown's, or Bull's Sarsaparilla,' inasmuch as it contains other prime remedies besides those named by the above-named parties, is stronger, contains nothing but Vegetable productions, and is prepared without boiling, which causes it to retain all the volatile and active properties.

CHILSON'S

Patent Air Warming and Ventilating Furnace.

(FOUR SIZES.)

THE fame of this well known FURNACE has now become so extended, that it would become mere perogation to enter into any elaborate detail of its construction. Since the period of its first appearance, it has attracted the attention, and gained the commendations of many individuals, who hold high rank in the scientific world, and completed an entire revolution in the construction of "HOUSE WARMERS."

The antiquated and now exploded notion of obtaining a sufficiency of pure warm Air from a small surface of Red Hot Metal, in contact with which, an inadequate supply of Cold Air disseminates into the apartments above a sluggish current of burnt deoxygenated air, unfit for respiration, is rapidly being supplanted by the introduction of our House Warmers, which, from its peculiar construction, can never become overheated, and by its extensive and well proportioned surface, is capable of warming a large volume of atmospheric air.

Another prominent peculiarity of our Furnace, is its complete adaptation for Wood or Bituminous Coal, the flues being so arranged that they cannot become closed by soot or ashes; this point has never before received the attention of Furnace Manufacturers, and is indeed the only article in which this description of fuel can be used to any advantage.

And when we take into consideration the fact, that this has become the standard on which all new Furnaces are founded, and the only Heater on which attempts at improvement are constantly being made, and add thereto, that it has received numerous Medals and first Premiums from various Scientific Institutions, not to make mention of the "World's Fair" (where, in competition with articles for similar purpose, from all parts of the world, it received the GREAT PRIZE MEDAL)—it must convince every unprejudiced mind that this Furnace affords a hold the highest rank for the purposes to which it is applied.

Any information respecting our Furnace, or the general subject of "Heating and Ventilation," together with our pamphlets containing Cut of Furnace &c., and an Appendix of over 1000 References, will be promptly forwarded to all who address the Subscribers by Post.

We are also the Agents for, and have constantly on hand, an assortment of the Patent Mirror-Marble Chimney Pieces—a new, cheap and elegant substitute for Marble—at prices varying from $18 to $150 each, a sample of which is in possession of the Editor of this paper.

Besides the above, we have always in our Warehouse a large stock of Cooking, Office, Hall and Parlor Stoves, Ranges, Registers, Ventilators, &c., &c., which we are happy to present for inspection at 51 and 53 Blackstone Street, Boston.
