

Poetry.

THE CHILD'S DREAM.

"Oh, I have had a dream, mother,
So beautiful and strange;
Would that I could sleep on, mother,
And that dream never change!"

"What hast thou dreamed, dearest one?
Thy look is bright and wild;
Thy mother's ear is ready
To listen to her child."

"I dreamed I lay asleep, mother,
Beneath an orange tree,
When a white bird came and sang, mother,
So sweetly unto me;

"Though it woke me with its warbling,
Its notes were soft and low,
And it bid me rise and follow,
Wherever it might go.

"It led me on and on, mother,
Through groves and realms of light,
Until it came to one, mother,
Which dazzled—'twas so bright.

"As, tremblingly, I entered,
An angel-form drew near,
And bade me welcome thither,
Nor pain nor sorrow fear.

"I know not aught was there, mother,
I only felt 'twas bliss,
And joined that white bird's song, mother,
O, canst thou read me this?"

"Yes, dearest, to thy mother
Such happiness is given—
The Holy Spirit was that bird,
That grove of light was Heaven!"

Influence of Singing on the Health of Children.

One of the prejudices most obstinately maintained against teaching children to sing arises from an opinion frequently broached that singing, if practiced at a tender age, may have a baneful influence on the health, and occasion pulmonary affections. It is not long since this idea prevailed in Germany also; but the most minute investigations, made by government as parents, have proved it to be quite erroneous. From the many thousand instances of contrary results, the German people have at last learnt the utter fallacy of this notion, and have not only ceased to dread singing as being injurious to health, but go so far as to consider it one of the most efficacious means, not only for refining the ear, for developing the voice, but also for giving strength and vigor to all the physical organs it calls into action.

Nothing is better calculated than the practice of singing to produce the power of free and lengthened respiration. Childhood is the fittest period to receive to its fullest extent all the advantages resulting from this branch of instruction. All the organs of the voice are then soft and flexible, and susceptible of the slightest impression. The lungs expand with unobstructed ease; the muscles and nerves connected with the throat and chest yield readily to the action of respiration; the ear receives and conveys sound with facility, and ideas communicated at that early epoch of life are not easily effaced.

On the whole then, we are convinced that singing, or as it may be termed, the art of extending and managing breath, is one of the best preventives of, and surest remedies for, general weakness of the chest; and that its use, provided always it be proportioned to the other physical powers of the singer, is calculated to exert a most favorable influence on delicate constitutions, to impart vigor to the organs connected with the lungs, and thus to conduct to a healthy state of those important functions of the body.—[Selected.]

Politeness between Brothers and Sisters.

By endeavoring to acquire a habit of politeness—it will soon become familiar, and sit on you with ease, if not with elegance. Let it never be forgotten that genuine politeness is a great fosterer of family love; it allays accidental irritation, by preventing harsh retorts and rude contradictions; it softens the boisterous, stimulates the indolent, suppresses selfishness, and, by forming a habit of consideration for others, harmonizes the whole. Politeness begets politeness, and brothers may easily be won by it to leave off the rude ways they bring home from school or college. Sisters ought never to receive any little attention without thanking them for it, never to ask a favor of them but in courteous terms, never to reply to their questions in monosyllables, and they will soon be ashamed to do such themselves. Both precept and example ought to be laid under contribution, to convince them that no one can have really good manners abroad who is not habitually polite at home.

Compound Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla

A NEW and the most valuable Extract introduced, which is put up in Quart Bottles, is cheaper, more pleasant, and warranted superior to any sold. It is prepared from the best

HONDURAS SARSAPARILLA ROOT, combined with Yellow Dock and other valuable productions, which from their purifying effects on the Blood render it the best in the World, purifying and cleansing, giving tone and strength to the whole system.

Spring and Summer Medicine

This Extract is the result of numerous experiments, and the Proprietors feel confident that they have arrived at that perfection in preparing it to which no other manufacturer has yet attained. Every person has heard of Sarsaparilla. All have heard of its uses.—And many Physicians in this City are conscious of the fact that our Extract is far superior to those sold under the names of Townsend's, Sands Bristol's, Brown's, or Bull's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as it contains other prime remedies besides those used by the above named parties, is stronger, contains nothing but Vegetable productions, and is prepared without boiling, which causes it to attain all the volatile and active properties.

Encourage home manufacture.

We pledge our reputation on the truth of what we here state, that we believe it better in every sense than any other Extract of Sarsaparilla ever introduced.

Scrofulous diseases, Cutaneous Eruptions, Rheumatic Affections, Syphilitic disorders, Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Lung and Bronchial Affections, all diseases arising from the injudicious use of mercury, impure state of the Blood or habit of the system, are some of the many diseases which are cured by the use of this SARSAPARILLA.
