

Poetry.

ADMIRABLE THINGS.

The hand outstretched to meet a brother.
A life exposed in saving others.
God's preacher seeking out distress,
With will and power to make it less.
The soaring student-boy retired,
With holy inspiration fired.
Love's mission, overleaping creed,
Teaching the deaf and blind to read.
The hand that wields the hammer, then
With equal skill takes up the pen.
The patriot toiling for his kind,
With energetic soul and mind.
The steam-press, engine, forge, and plough.
Pearl-drops on the labourer's brow.
The poet's sweet and hopeful song.
Humanity waging war with Wrong.
A mother, at the close of day,
Teaching her little ones to pray.
The Christian spirit taking flight,
From this dim world to endless light.
And all things as through life we plod,
Which brings us nearer truth and God.

The Wife's Last Letter.

The following touching fragment of a letter from a dying wife to her husband was found by him some months after her death, between the leaves of a religious volume which she was fond of perusing. The letter, which was literally marked with her tears, was written long before the husband was aware that the grasp of a fatal disease had fastened upon the lovely form of his wife, who died at the early age of nineteen.

There are, doubtless, many to whom this affecting missive will recall some blest associations of a wife's love and an early happy home. Many who have left behind them homes where happiness and health made their abode, but who will return to desolate hearths to weep over the graves of the loved and lost:—

"When this shall meet your eye, dear G—, some day when you are turning over the relics of the past, I shall have passed away for ever, and the cold white stone will be keeping its lonely watch over the lips you have so often pressed, and the sod will be growing green that shall hide forever from your sight the dust of one who has so often nestled close to your warm heart. For many long and sleepless nights, when all beside my thoughts were at rest, I have wrestled with the consciousness of approaching death, until at last it has forced itself upon my mind; and although to you and to others it might seem but the nervous imagination of a girl, yet dear G—, it is so.

"Many weary hours have I passed in the endeavor to reconcile myself to leaving you, whom I love so well, and this bright world of sunshine and beauty; and hard indeed is it to struggle on silently and alone, with the sure conviction that I am about to leave all forever, and go down alone into the dark valley. 'But I know in whom I have trusted,' and leaning upon His arm, 'I fear no evil.' Don't blame me for keeping even all this from you. How could I subject you of all others, to such sorrow as I feel at parting, when time will soon make it apparent to you.

"I could have wished to live, if only to be at your side when your time shall come, and pillow your head upon my breast, wipe the death damps from your brow, and usher your departing spirit into its Maker's presence, embalmed in woman's holiest prayers. But it is not to be so—and I submit. Yours is the privilege of watching, through long and dreary nights, for the spirit's final flight, and of transferring my sinking head from your breast to my Saviour's bosom. And you shall share my last thought; the last faint pressure of the hand, and the last feeble kiss shall be yours and when flesh and heart shall have failed me, my eye shall rest on yours until glazed in death; and our spirits shall hold one last fond communion, until gently fading from view—the last of earth—you shall mingle with the first bright glimpses of the unfading glories of that better world where partings are unknown.

"Well do I know the spot, dear G—, where you will lay me; often have we stood by the place, and as we watched the mellow sunset as it glanced in quivering flashes through the leaves and burnished the grassy mounds around us with stripes of gold, each perhaps has thought that one of us would come alone, and whichever it might be, your name would be on the stone. But we loved the spot—and I know you'll love it none the less when you see the same quiet sunlight linger and play among the grass that grows on your Mary's grave. I know you will go often all alone, when I am laid there, and my spirit will be with you there, and whisper through the waving branches, 'I am not lost, but gone before.'"

FELLOWS'

Compound Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla

A NEW and the most valuable Extract introduced, which is put up in Quart Bottles, is cheaper, more pleasant, and warranted superior to any sold. It is prepared from the best

HONDURAS SARSAPARILLA ROOT, combined with Yellow Dock and other valuable productions, which from their purifying effects on the Blood render it the best in the World, purifying and cleansing, giving tone and strength to the whole system.

Spring and Summer Medicine

This Extract is the result of numerous experiments, and the Proprietors feel confident that they have arrived at that perfection in preparing it to which no other manufacturer has yet attained. Every person has heard of Sarsaparilla. All have heard of its uses.—And many Physicians in this City are conscious of the fact that our Extract is far superior to those sold under the names of Townsend's, Sands' Bristol's, Brown's, or Bull's Sarsaparilla, inasmuch as it contains other prime remedies besides those used by the above named parties, is stronger, contains nothing but Vegetable productions, and is prepared without boiling, which causes it to retain all the volatile and active properties.

Encourage home manufacture.

We pledge our reputation on the truth of what we here state, that we believe it better in every sense than any other Extract of Sarsaparilla ever introduced.

Serofulous diseases, Cutaneous Eruptions, Rheumatic Affections, Syphilitic disorders, Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Lung and Bronchial Affections, all diseases arising from the injudicious use of mercury, impure state of the Blood or habit of the system, are some of the many diseases which are cured by the use of this SARSAPARILLA.

CHILSON'S

Patent Air-Warming and Ventilating Furnace.

(FOUR SIZES.)

THE fame of this well known FURNACE has now become so extended, that it would become mere supererogation to enter into any elaborate detail of its construction. Since the period of its first appearance, it has attracted the attention, and gained the encomiums of many individuals, who hold high rank in the scientific world—and completed an entire revolution in the construction of "HOUSE WARMERS."

The antiquated and now exploded notion, of obtaining a sufficiency of pure warm Air from a small surface of Red Hot Metal, in contact with which, an inadequate supply of Cold Air disseminates into the apartments above a sluggish current of burnt deoxygenated NOY air, unfit for respiration, is rapidly being supplanted by the introduction of our new House Warmers, which, from its peculiar construction, can never become overheated, and by its extensive and well proportionate surface, is capable of warming a large volume of atmospheric air.

Another prominent peculiarity of our Furnace, is so complete adaptation for Wood or Bituminous Coal; the flues being so arranged that they cannot become closed by soot or ashes: this point has never before received the attention of Furnace Manufacturers, and is indeed the only article in which this description of fuel can be used to any advantage.

And when we take into consideration the fact, that this has become the standard on which all new Furnaces are founded, and the only Heater on which attempts at infringement are constantly being made; and add thereto, that it has received numerous Medals and first Premiums from various Scientific Institutions—not to make mention of the "World's Fair," (where, in competition with articles for similar purpose, from all parts of the world, it received the GREAT PRIZE MEDAL,)—it must convince every unprejudiced mind that this Furnace already held the highest rank for the purposes to which it is applied.

Any information respecting our Furnace, or the general subject of "Heating and Ventilation" together with our pamphlets containing Cut of Furnace &c., and an Appendix of over 1000 References, will be promptly forwarded to all who address the Subscribers by Post.

We are also the Agents for, and have constantly on hand, an assortment of the Patent Mirror Marble Chimney Pieces—a new, cheap and elegant substitute for Marble—at prices varying from $18 to $150 each, a sample of which is in possession of the Editor of this paper.

Besides the above, we have always in our Warehouse a large stock of Cooking, Office, Hall, and Parlor Stoves Ranges, Registers, Ventilators, &c., &c., which we are happy to present for inspection at 51 and 53 Blackstone Street, Boston, June 11.
