

Poetry.

THE MOTHER.

A softening thought of other years,
A feeling link'd to hours
When Life was all too bright for tears,—
And Hope sang, wreath'd with flowers!
A memory of affections fled—
Of voices—heard no more!—
Stirred in my spirit when I read
That name of fondness o'er!

Oh Mother!—in that early word
What loves and joys combine:
What hopes—too oft, alas!—deferred;
What vigils—griefs—are thine!
Yet, never, till the hour we roam—
By worldly thralls oppress,
Learn we to prize that truest home—
A watchful mother's breast!

The thousand prayers at midnight pour'd
Beside our couch of woes;
The wasting weariness endured
To soften our repose!—
Whilst never murmur marked thy tongue—
Nor toils relaxed thy care:—
How, Mother, is thy heart so strong
To pity and forbear?

What filial fondness e'er repaid
Or could repay the past?—
Alas! for gratitude decay'd!
Regrets that rarely last!—
'Tis only when the dust is thrown
Thy lifeless bosom o'er;
We muse upon thy kindness shown—
And wish we'd loved thee more!

'Tis only when thy lips are cold—
We mourn with late regret,
'Mid myriad memories of old—
The days for ever set!
And not an act—nor look—nor thought—
Against thy meek control,
But with a sad remembrance fraught
Wakes anguish in the soul!

On every land—in every clime—
True to her sacred cause,
Fill'd by that effluence sublime
From which her strength she draws,
Still is the Mother's heart the same—
The Mother's lot as tried:
Then, oh! may Nations guard that name
With filial power and pride!

OMER PACHA.

The following details relative to Omer Pacha, who commands the Turkish army on the Danube, are taken from the Journal des Debats:

"Omer Pacha is a native of Croatia, and was consequently by birth an Austrian subject. He was born in 1801, at Viaski, a village situate in the circle of Ogulini, 13 leagues from Plume. His family name is Lattas. His father was Lieutenant Administrator of the circle; his uncle was a priest of the United Greek Church. Admitted when very young into the School of Mathematics at Thurm, near Carlestadt, in Transylvania, and after having completed his studies with distinction, the young Lattas entered into the corps of the Bonts et Chassees, which in Austria is organised on a military footing. In 1830, in consequence of a misunderstanding with his superiors, he left for Turkey, and embraced Islamism. Chosrew Pacha, who was then Seraskier, took him under his protection, procured him admission into the regular army, and attached him to his personal staff. He even gave him his ward in marriage, who was one of the richest heiresses of Constantinople, and the daughter of one of the Janissaries whose head he had caused to be cut off in 1827, when that corps revolted against the Sultan Mahmoud. In 1838, Lattas, who had taken the name of Omer, was chief of battalion, and was appointed aid-de-camp and interpreter to General Chranowski, who had charge of the instruction of the Ottoman troops encamped near Constantinople. Omer was thenceforward actively employed in the reorganization of the Turkish army, and still protected by Chosrew Pacha, obtained successively important missions, and command in the army.

The troubles of Syria and the Albanian insurrection of 1846, gave him occasion to distinguish himself, and attracted to him the attention of the Sultan. He was sent to Kurdistan, and succeeded in obtaining the submission of that province, which was nearly independent of the Porte. Named in 1848 to the command of the army sent to the Danubian provinces, he made the authority of the Sultan respected, while at the same time he respected the susceptibilities and privileges of those provinces, placed as they were under the double protection of Turkey and Russia. The year 1851 was the most brilliant period of the military career of Omer Pacha. Named Commander-in-Chief of Bosnia, the principal chiefs of which had refused to recognize the Tanzimat, that is, the new organization of the empire, he combated successfully, though with an inferior force, the Beys of that country. At last he was sent to Montenegro, where he found himself for the first time commanding a regular army of 10,000 men. The intervention of Austria, as is known, put a term to that expedition before decisive operations could be commenced. At the present date Omer Pacha is at Schumla, at the head of nearly 100,000 men. He is described as displaying great activity in its organization, and is occupied with fortifying the country which may become the theatre of war. Omer Pacha is about 52 years of age, below the middle height, but with a martial expression of countenance. He speaks with the same facility the Servian, the Italian, and the German tongues. After the insurrection of Hungary he undertook the defence of the refugees whose extradition had been demanded by Austria and Russia. He proceeded to Schumla, where he made acquaintance with the principal refugees, and on his arrival at Constantinople he interfered zealously with the Sultan in their favor. He took several of them with him to Bosnia and Montenegro, and confided to them important posts. Some of them have distinguished themselves greatly, and have remained in the service of Turkey."
