OBITUARY.

The intelligence contained in the following extract of a letter just received from London, will be read with painful emotions by the numerous relatives and friends of the deceased both in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. To us it was wholly unexpected. We were accustomed to receive letters from Mr. Lyons frequently since his residence in London, but for the last few months we had heard nothing from him. Little did we think that he had written us for the last time; but so it is, God's ways are not as man's ways. It is for us to acknowledge his sovereignty, and bow in submission to his righteous will. We sympathize deeply with the lonely widow of the departed, and pray God to be her support in this time of sorrow. It will be gratifying to the friends to know that he was not left without divine consolation in the trying hour, that the promises of the bible sustained him as he passed through the dark vale. This thought is more precious than gold to surviving friends.—En.

368 Strand, London, Aug. 30th, 1854.

DEAR SIR.—Agreeable to the request of Mrs. Lyons, I have to announce the death of Mr. J. Lyons, late of Roxbury, Massachusetts, advocate of 36 Clincey street, Pimlico, London, who departed this life on the 19th day of August, 1854. He suffered very severely for five months before his departure, but at the last died quite easy; his prospect was bright, but left evidence behind, that to depart and be with Christ was far better. Mrs. Lyons bears up under her cross with great patience; I never knew a wife more attentive and more devoted than she was to him under his immense sufferings. She is staying under our protection for the present.—In losing Mr. Lyons I need only say that I have lost a friend I much esteemed. I became acquainted with him about three years ago, just a year after I returned from my labors in the Missouri as a Colporteur to the American Tract Society. Wishing you every prosperity in the Redeemer's cause, I remain, dear Sir, yours in the gospel. J. MORLEY.

MRS. SARAH C. DeNETT, OF CARLETON.

DEAR BRO.—We have great reason to praise God not only for mercifully removing the recent fearful visitation from our City, but also for exempting us as a Church and congregation to such an extent from its desolating power, only one of our number having been called to exchange worlds during its prevalence amongst us, viz, our endeared sister, whose name stands at the head of this communication. Mrs. D. was the beloved wife of our esteemed brother Lewis DeNett, and fifth daughter of our respected Brother, Deacon John S. Clark. She received religious impressions from her honored mother, (whose memory is still and always will be dear to us all), She was early connected with Sand Point Sabbath School as a scholar, and subsequently as a teacher. She was baptized and received into Carleton Baptist Church with her husband and a number of others, by the Rev. E. Clay, in the Spring of last year, and continued a zealous and faithful member up to the time of her departure, which occurred on Thursday, the 10th ultimo, in the 32d year of her age. Honorable mention must not be omitted of the deep interest manifested by her in behalf of our beloved Zion, especially the indefatigable and persevering efforts which she put forth (in conjunction with sisters Deborah McLeod, Susan Ketchum, Clarissa Ring, Emma DeNett, Milicent Ketchum, Phebe Hauson, Mary Eagles, and others whose names we have not been able to ascertain) for the completion of the House of God, and it is satisfactory to know that (although our sister did not live to see the noble work accomplished) the preparations for the Bazaar, to raise the necessary funds, (so happily commenced by her) is progressing so favourably as to warrant the conclusion that this praiseworthy object will be crowned with complete success. We might speak of our departed sister's usefulness in the Sabbath school, and her many excellencies as a wife and a mother (she having left two fine little boys), but it would make this communication too lengthy, we will therefore conclude by expressing our prayerful desire that our beloved brethren the Father and Husband may be afforded a continuance of that sustaining and comforting grace which has enabled them thus far to honor God by a manifestation of Christian fortitude and resignation, and that the protection and blessing of Heaven may follow her offspring until they join her happy spirit in glory.—[Communicated.]
