

Poetry.

THE TRUE END OF BEING.

"NONE OF US LIVETH TO HIMSELF."

Not to myself I live—
The whispering sunbeam seems to say,
As from the gladdening fount of day
It swiftly wings its cheerful way:
This is my Being's great design—
No selfish wills that light confine,
But on the starry world I shine.

Not to ourselves we live—
The starry hosts in concert sing;
When shadowy eve begins to spring,
To others then we freely bring
The light that we receive.
And blending then the cheerful ray
We come at silent close of day,
To watch the hours of night away.

Not to ourselves we live—
The blooming flowers bring sweet reply,
To bless the earth like stars more high,
Than those that cheer the distant sky,
Our life of bloom we give.
To others' ears, to others' feet,
We breathe to shed our fragrance sweet,
That smiles of heaven and earth may meet.

MUSIC AT HOME.—Music serves to make a home pleasant, by engaging many of its inmates in a delightful recreation, and thus dispelling the sourness and gloom which frequently arises from petty dispute, from mortified vanity, from discontent and envy. It prevents for the time at least, evil thoughts and evil speaking, and tends to relieve the minds of both performers and hearers from the depressing effects of care and melancholy. Young people need and will have amusements. If an innocent and improving kind be not provided at home, they will seek some kind elsewhere. If they find places more agreeable to them than their homes, those homes will be deserted; and thus the gentle and holy influences which ought to encircle the family fireside, will be in a great measure lost.

Let parents, therefore, take pains to encourage and gratify a taste for music in their children, and it will amply repay them for so doing.

"For surely Melody and Heav'n was sent
To cheer the heart, when tired with human strife;
To soothe the wayward heart, by sorrow rent,
And soften down the rugged road of life!"

LIVE FOR SOMETHING.—Thousands of men breathe, move, and live; pass off the stage of life, and are heard of no more. Why? They did not a particle of good in the world; and none were blest by them, none could point to them as the instrument of their redemption; not a line they wrote, not a word they spoke, could be recalled, and so they perished—their light went out in darkness, and they were not remembered more than the insects of yesterday. Will you thus live and die, O man immortal! Live for something. Do good, and leave behind you a monument of virtue that the storms of time can never destroy. Write your name by kindness, love, and mercy, on the hearts of the thousands you come in contact with you year by year, and you will never be forgotten. No, your name, your deeds, will be as legible on the hearts you leave behind, as the stars on the brow of evening. Good deeds will shine as bright on the earth as the stars of heaven.—Chalmers.

BATHING.—Sir Astley Cooper was a great believer in the efficacy of bathing. Hear what he says to the ladies about it;

"Immediately on rising from bed, and having all previously ready, take off your night dress, then take up from your earthen pan two gallons of water, a towel, quite wet, but not dripping; begin at your head, rubbing hair, and face, and neck, and ears well; then wrap yourself behind and before, from neck to chest, your arms and every portion of your body.—Remand your towel into the pan, charge it afresh with water, and repeat once all I have mentioned, except the head, unless that be in a heated state, when you may do so, and with advantage. Three minutes will now have elapsed. Throw your towel into the pan, and then proceed with two coarse long towels to scrub your head and face and body, when four minutes will have you in a glow; then wash and rub your feet, brush your hair, complete your toilette, and trust me that this will give new zest to your existence. A mile of walking may be added with advantage."

Particular Notice.

THE Subscriber would respectfully announce to his many Friends and Patrons, that he is prepared to supply them with all kinds of DRUGS, MEDICINES, PATENT MEDICINES, PERFUMERY, SOAPS, BRUSHES, CONFECTIONARY, SPICES, &c., &c., of the very best description, and at the very lowest rates.—At this season of the year, there is nothing so healthy or invigorating to us, as to those in health, as a walk around Reed's Point, and it is much to be regretted, that there is not a greater number of persons, willing to avail themselves of this exercise.

To those who do extend their peregrinations thus far, we would say step into GARRISON'S DRUG STORE, and examine his Stock; although you may be surprised at the very excellent quality, and low prices of his goods, you will not be urged to purchase. All we ask is a visit.
