

Poetry.

ALL ARE THINE!

'Tis night! Oh, now come forth to gaze
Upon the heavens, intense and bright!
Look on yon myriad worlds, and say,
Though beauty dwelleth with the day,
Is not God manifest by night?

Thou that created'st all! Thou fountain
Of our sun's light—who dwellest far
From man, beyond the farthest star,
Yet ever present; who dost heed
Our spirits in their human need,
We bless thee, Father, that we are!

We bless thee for our inward life;
For its immortal date decreeing;
For that which comprehended thee,
A spark of thy divinity,
Which is the being of our being.

We bless thee for this bounteous earth;
For its increase—for corn and wine;
For forest-oaks, for mountain rills,
For "cattle on a thousand hills;"
We bless thee—for all good is thine.

The earth is thine, and it thou keepest
That man may labour not in vain;
Thou giv'st the grass; the grain, the tree,
Seed-time and harvest come from thee;
The early and the latter rain.

The earth is thine—the summer earth;
Fresh with the dews, with sunshine bright;
With golden clouds in evening hours,
With singing birds and balmy flowers,
Creatures of beauty and delight.

The earth is thine—the teeming earth,
In the rich, bounteous time of seed,
When man goes forth in joy to reap,
And gathers up his garnered heap
Against the time of storm and need.

The earth is thine—when days are dim,
And leafless stands the stately tree;
When from the North the fierce winds blow,
When falleth fast the mantling snow;
The earth pertaineth still to thee.

The earth is thine—thy creature, man!
Thine are all worlds, all suns that shine;
Darkness and light, and life and death;
Whate'er all space inhabiteth,
Creator! Father! all are thine.

WINTERS IN OLDEN TIMES.—In 1664 the cold was so intense that the Thames was covered with ice 61 inches thick. Almost all the birds perished. In 1693 the cold was so excessive that the famished wolves entered Vienna and attacked beasts and even men. Many people in Germany were frozen to death in 1605, and 1699 was nearly as bad. In 1709 occurred that famous winter called by distinction, the "Cold Winter." All the rivers and lakes were frozen, and even the sea for several miles from the shores. The ground was frozen nine feet deep. Birds and beasts were struck dead in the fields, and men perished by thousands in their houses. In the south of France the wine plantations were almost destroyed; nor have they yet recovered that fatal disaster. The Adriatic sea was frozen and even the Mediterranean about Genoa; and the citron and orange groves suffered extremely in the finest parts of Italy. In 1715 the winter was so intense that people travelled across the Straits from Copenhagen to the Province of Senh, in Sweden. In 1729, in Scotland multitudes of cattle and sheep were buried in the snow. In 1740 the winter was scarcely inferior to that of 1709. The snow lay ten feet deep in Spain and Portugal. The Zuyder Zee was frozen over, and thousands of people went across it. And the lakes in England froze. In 1744 the winter was very cold. Snow fell in Portugal to the depth of twenty-three feet on a level. In 1754 and 1755 the winters were very severe and cold. In England the strongest ale, exposed to the air in a glass, was covered with ice one-eighth of an inch thick. In 1771 the Elbe was frozen to the bottom. In 1776 the Danube bore ice five feet thick below Vienna. Vast numbers of the feathered and finny tribes perished. The winters of 1774 and 1775 were uncommonly severe. The Little-Belt was frozen over. From 1800 to 1812 also the winters were remarkably cold, particularly the latter, in Russia, which proved so disastrous to the French army.—English paper.

PICTURE OF MENSCHIKOFF.—Menschikoff has invariably refused to sit to an artist. He is about 70 years of age, of middle stature, has close-cut milk-white hair, a high open forehead, sharp-defined features, and a bright sparkling eye. His gait is haughty, but slightly limping, from a wound he received in a singular manner, at the siege of Varna, in 1828. One evening, having given some orders that he wished to see implicitly obeyed, he strolled through the camp; and as he was returning to his quarters he stopped and remained with his legs stretched wide apart while he enjoyed a pinch of snuff. Suddenly the report of a heavy gun was heard, and the Prince fell headlong to the ground. When he was taken up it was found that a cannon ball had passed between his legs and wounded him severely in the thigh. Prince Menschikoff is one of the most extensive landed proprietors in the empire, and counts his serfs by thousands; but unlike the generality of the Russian nobles, he adds daily to his wealth. His economy is without a parallel, and indeed is stated to descend to parsimony of the lowest grade; but, however grinding his extortion in his patrimonial estate, on all grand state occasions his appearance, carriages, and suite are most magnificent. He possesses a most superb mansion at St. Petersburg; his establishment of servants and equipage is on a scale of the most lavish expense, and he is surrounded by numerous aides-de-camp glittering in "barbaric pearls and gold." Another striking peculiarity of this remarkable man is the aversion he entertains for foreigners. Not one—even an ambassador—has ever been permitted to enter his palace. He is both rough and fickle, and when anything offends him becomes absolutely brutal. But while he bends to the imperial yoke from motives of avarice or ambition—he revenges his official servitude by browbeating, threatening, and abusing all who have the misfortune to be connected with him; and as he is a man of considerable talent and indomitable energy, he succeeds most marvellously in his amiable occupation. It is not therefore to be wondered at that he has many enemies. Menschikoff married the Princess Delgorouki, by whom he has a son and daughter.—United Service Gazette.

LESLIE'S STOVE VARNISH.

A valuable discovery by which all Stoves,

Pipes, Grates, Franklin's, Iron Railings, and

every description of Iron work, (where an intense heat is not required,) whether exposed to the weather or not, may be kept a splendid Jet Black with as beautiful a polish as a Coach Body and with one third the labour bestowed on other preparations.

This is a valuable preparation on account of its anti-corrosive properties; all Stoves and Pipes which are put away during the summer should have an application of the Stove Varnish which would effectually prevent the rusting or corroding

of the Iron.

The Varnish is strongly recommended to Families

and the Public in general, from three facts;

First, its cheapness brings it within the reach of all; Second, from its high polish and durability,

two applications during the year being at all necessary for a Franklin; and lastly, from no labour

being required in its application, this last fact justly entitles it to the name of "SERVANT'S FRIEND."
