

Poetry.

WHEN THE PURSE IS FULL.

Oh! happy are the hours when the purse is full;
Time passes over flowers when the purse is full;
Where'er our fancy wends,
We are sure to meet with friends,
And there's nothing that offends—when the purse
is full!

But weary are the hours when the purse is low;
And low and far the flowers when the purse is low;
Where'er our footsteps range,
Comes the thrilling breath of change,
And the best of friends look strange—when the purse is low!

Morn cometh with a dance when the purse is full;
There is music in her glance when the purse is full;
Life then is something worth,—
There is pleasure upon earth,—
There is beauty, song, and mirth—when the purse
is full!

Yet man, we're often told, though his purse be low,
Is himself the truer gold, though his purse be low;
But the saying is not true,
For the blindest yet may view,
Man's friends are of the few—when his purse is low
CHARLES SWAIN.

BARDS OF THE BIBLE.

Many sparkling passages occur in "Gilfillan's Bards of the Bible," republished in a neat form by the Harpers of New York. The following are illustrations:

"The Bible is a mass of beautiful figures; its words and its thoughts are alike poetical; it has gathered around its central truths all natural beauty and interest: it is a temple with one altar and one God, but illuminated by a thousand varied lights, and studded with a thousand ornaments. It has substantially but one declaration to make, but it utters it in the voices of the creation. Shining forth from the excellent glory, its light has been reflected on a myriad of intervening objects, till it has become at length attenuated for our earthly vision. It now beams upon us at once from the heart of man, and from the countenance of nature. It has arrayed itself in the charms of fiction. It has gathered new beauty from the works of creation, and new warmth and new power from the very passions of clay. It has pressed into its service the animals of the forest, the flowers of the field, the stars of heaven—all the elements of nature. The lion spurning the sands of the desert, the wild rose leaping over the mountains, the lamb led in silence to the slaughter, the goat speeding to the wilderness, the rose blossoming in Sharon, the lily drooping in the valley, the apple tree bowing under its fruit, the great rock shadowing a weary land, the river gladdening a dry place, the moon and the morning star, Carmel by the sea, and Tabor in the mountains, the dew from the womb of the morning, the rain upon the mown grass, the rainbow encompassing a dark place, the light God's shadow, the thunder his voice, the wind and the earthquake his footsteps,—all such varied objects are made as if naturally designed from the creation to represent Him to whom the book and all its emblems point. Thus the spirit of the Book has ransacked creation to lay its treasures on Jehovah's altar, united the innumerable rays of a far streaming glory on the little hill of Calvary, and woven a garland for the bleeding brow of Immanuel, the flowers of which have been culled from the garden of a universe.

"The power of the Bible over man has been long and obstinately resisted; but resisted in vain. For ages has this artless, loosely piled little book been exposed to the fire of the keenest investigations, a fire meanwhile which has consumed contemptuously the mythology of the Iliad, the bandy of the Georgics, the historical truth of Livy, the fables of the Shaster, the Talmud, and the Koran, the artistic merit of many a popular poem, the authority of many a work of philosophy and science. And yet there the Bible lies unhurt, untouched, with not one of its pages singed, with not even the smell of fire having passed upon it. Many an attempt has been made to scare away this fiery pillar of our wanderings, to prove it a mere natural product of the wilderness; but still night after night rises, like one of the sure and ever shining stars in the vanguard of the great march of man, the old column gliding slow, but guiding certainly to future lands of promise, both in the life that is, and that which cometh hereafter.

"While other books are planets shining with reflected radiance, this Book, like the sun, shines with ancient and unborrowed rays.

"Other books, after shining their little season, may perish in flames fiercer than those which destroyed the Alexandrian library; this must in essence remain fine as gold, but inconsumable as asbestos in the general conflagration."

No GOOD DEED LOST.—Philosophers tell us that since the creation of the world not one single particle of matter has ever been lost. It may have passed into new shapes, it may have been combined with other elements, it may have floated away in smoke or vapor, but it is not lost. It will come back again in the dew-drop or the rain, it will spring up in the fibre of the plant, or paint itself on the rose leaf. Through all its transformations, Providence watches over and directs it still. Even so it is with every holy thought or heavenly desire, or humble aspiration, or generous and self denying effort. It may escape our observation, we may be unable to follow it, but it is an element of the moral world, and it is not lost.

MARRY.—Jeremy Taylor says, if you are for pleasure, marry—if you prize rosy health, marry. A good wife is Heaven's last gift to man—his angel and minister of graces innumerable—his gem of many virtues—his casket of jewels; her voice is sweet music—her smiles, his brightest day—her kiss, the guardian of his innocence—her arms, the pale of his safety, the balm of his health, the balsam of his life—her industry, his surest wealth—her economy, his safest steward—her lips, his faithful counsellors—her bosom, the softest pillow of his cares—and her prayers, the ablest advocates of Heaven's blessing on his head.

THE WATER LILY.—It is a marvel whence this perfect flower derives its loveliness and perfume, springing as it does from the black mud over which the river sleeps, and where the slimy eel and speckled frog, and the mud-turtle, whom continual washing cannot cleanse, swim and creep. It is the same black mud out of which the yellow lily sucks its obscure life and noisome odor. Thus we see too, in the world, that some persons assimilate only what is ugly and evil from the same moral circumstances which supply good and beautiful results—the fragrance of celestial flowers—to the daily life of others.—Margaret Fuller.

A PROMISE.—A promise should be given with caution and kept with care. A promise should be made by the heart and remembered by the head. A promise is the offspring of the intention, and should be nurtured by the recollection. A promise and its performance should, like the scales of a true balance, always present a mutual adjustment.—A promise delayed, is justice deferred. A pro-neglected is an untruth told. A promise attended to is a debt settled.

M'KIM & CLEAR,

MANUFACTURERS of Monuments, Tomb Tables, Gravestones, in Italian, American Marble, and Free Stone. Chimney Pieces and Centre Tables.

Every description of ORNAMENTAL WORK executed with neatness at their Establishment, Union Street, (third house East of Mr. Peters' garden.)—Monuments, Head Stones, &c., of the best material, executed in the most improved styles and fully as cheap and durable as any which can possibly be obtained on this continent.

After a long experience in business, both in ENGLAND and SCOTLAND, M'KIM & CLEAR feel satisfied they can execute work equal in every, and superior in many respects to any thing in their line manufactured in this City; and, while they are fully prepared to allow all honest competitors "a clear stage and no favor," they feel convinced they can produce, at all times and on all occasions, workmanship in every respect superior to that of those Americans who advertise their wares at "twenty five per cent less than any shop in the City!" and who, uneducated and uneducated in their art, can only attract attention by by prosecuting the rather unenviable and unprofitable business of denouncing (as keepers of "the pettyshops that are springing up") those who have carefully given their undivided attention to the study of their business, and who fairly and honorably enter the arena of public competition, determined to stand or fall by the superior excellence of their workmanship as judged by a discerning public.

For sale—a large quantity of Soap-Stone, suitable for Stoves.

A "Diploma" and Prize were awarded to R. M'KIM for Excellence in CARVING, at the last New Brunswick Provincial Exhibition. St. John, Nov. 25.

NOTICE OF REMOVAL.

M'Kim & Clear will remove their Marble and Stone Works, on the 1st of May next, from Union street, to Germain street,—Third house north of the Country Market.

S. P. OSGOOD & CO.

IMPORTERS and Manufacturers of MARBLE and STONE Work of all descriptions, such as Head Stones, Monuments, Tomb Tables, Chimney Pieces, Table Tops, &c. &c.

S. P. & Co. have constantly on hand the greatest variety and most extensive Stock in their line to be found in the City, by fifty per cent—all of which will be sold at greatly reduced prices.

We have in our employ at this time some superior Workmen from the States; and we can after a long experience in the business, and with our facilities, recommend our work as superior to any thing that can be found in the Province.

Head Stones and Monuments sold at our Manufactory twenty-five per cent. less than at any other Shop in the City.

P. S. Parties wanting any thing in our line will find it a great satisfaction in calling upon us instead of purchasing work from some of the petty shops that are springing up around us, whose proprietors know nothing about the business.
