The Cross.

SWLET is the cross! Sweet is the cross! Huppy are they who bear it well; Who, for the cross, count all things loss, Have wealth of bliss no tongue can tell.

The cross is on a toilsome height, But this doth bring it nearer God; And they who scale that hill of light Shall bless the steps their feet have trod.

The cross is twined with bleeding thorns, But mingled richly with them there, The lily of the vale adorns, And Sharon's rose embalms the air.

The cross is girt by many a storm, When death's cold glooms et shroud its head; But, mortal, lock ! behold the Form That by the cross rose from the dead.

Stand thou, O cross! by night and day, Uncharged amid a changing world, When earth and sea have pass'd away, And, like a scroll, the sky is furl'd.

Stand ! pointing upward, through all space, Through endless years to glory given, The emblem of a boundless grace, The guard and ornament of heaven !

[Communicated to the Recorder and Register.] Letters to a Daughter.

My Dear Daughter H :- 1 propose to spend a leisure hour this afternoon in writing you. T. is also engaged in the same undertaking, and will write all" the news. I therefore will direct my pen in another channel, and occupy your mind with other subjects.

You are now enjoying in your school superior advantages, and no doubt, are under influences that will mould your character and mind through life. Not only will what you learn, be valuable in forming the mind and fitting you for usefulness, but the habits and tastes you contract-the n anner of thinking -spending your time, etc., are cf immense importance to you. In order to aid you somewhat in these things and some others, suffer me to give you a few hints.

1st. Endeavor to fix your mind on whatever you engage in. To let it wander and be unstable, while engaged in study, listening to lectures e.c., will thwait your intentions to accomplish the object you have in view. The study of mathematics is well calculated to concentrate the faculties of the mind, and overcome any dispositions to the fault of which I speak.

2nd. Do nothing superficially. "What is worth doing at all is worth doing well." Light, hasty, interrupted study is mischevious in its tendencies, for it creates a bad habit, such as may follow you in the avocations of life.

3rd. Study system in your plans and labors : have your regular hours of close study, and let nothing interrupt you. Get your lessons alone, if possible; too much assistance is very injurious.

Form but few intimate acquaintances, and ee that those are of the righ ous, refined and intelligent. Spend but a small amount of time in conversation, and let that be generally of a sober, sentimental kind, -guard against idle gossiping and backbiting, which is slander. Make it a principle not to speak ill of any one-whether mates or instructors. You can find excellences enough in them to occupy all you ought to say of them personally Lemember constantly the scripture injunction : " Ho unto others as you would hat they should do unto you ;" " Speak evil of no man ;" " Love your enemies."-Neither do nor say anything but what you would be willing to say were the Saviour present. You can be civil without being intimate ;- be courteous, but not rude ;- suffer rudeness from no one. Receive particular attentions from no gentleman till you are acquainted with his character and principles, and not then till you have consulted your parents, teachers, or some discreet friend : and under all circumstances remember that no one who esteems you will be more familiar than decency and true politeness admits, and any breach of these is an insult upon your honor, and should be regarded as a forfeiture of your of its force, or I should have been instantly killed. I recovered in a few hours, and am here to record this renewed instance of the goodness of God; and now it alarms and distresses me to think how poorly 1 have treated this Infinite Benefactor. I am troubled abcut the state of my soul ; and what shall I do that I may find peace with God in the pardon of my sins ?"

This awakened sinner was directed to the Saviour by abundant counsel and fervent prayer. He soon after found peace, and has gone again to sea, hopefully a follower of Him who " loved him and died for him."

1. God thus preaches on the sea. And what discourses are delivered tiere! Now the terrors of the storm utter the sermonand now the sea in its calmness, like a molten looking-glass, declares the glory of God. And again his goodness preaches, as the periled mariner escapes the fatal breaker, the fury of the monsters of the deep-escapes the fatal fall from aloft, when life was hung upon a slender thread! Let us pray that God will so preach by these means, and all others of his choice, that seafaring men shall hear, repent, believe, and be saved.

2. The goodnes of God leadeth to repent. ance. All other appeals had left this hardened mariner unreclaimed. But this did the work. It uttered a voice that could not be resisted. May every instance of his mercy to mariners be as effectual. SIMON.

Conversation with a Child.

A few years since there was in a Sabbath school with which I was acquainted a girl about twelve years of age. She was a kind and p'easant child, and her conduct won the approval of her friends One day she went to see her minister and as he took her by the hand, she looked up composedly but earnestly, and said, " Sir, I have come to you with a heart burdened with sin, to ask if you can tell me how I may find relief;" and the tears sprang from her eyes.

"You speak," said the minister, " of the burden of sin. Did you always feel it to be a burden?"

- " No, sir,"
- " Is it long since-months or weeks?"
- "Weeks, I think."
- " Do you distinctly see what sin is?"
- " It is offending God, is it not sir ?" " If you avoided bad actions, would that be
- sufficient ?" " No; my heart would still be sinful."
- " Have you seen what sin deserves ?"
- "Yes-death."
- "God would then be just and good, if he punished you for sin ?"
 - "Oh, yes."
- "And have you then any hope of being saved from the punishment due to sin?"
- " If you were to be called out of this world
- "I trust not, sir-some hope."
- "Where would that hope be resting ?"

In France, Belgium and England they place a slate or flat stone, and plant the tree upon it; by this means, the roots branch out, and you can have no tap root. You must never expect to raise fruit from suckers. When Mr. Cobbett left Long Island, (he was a great agriculturist) he did all he could in England to raise or produce that beautiful apple, (I think you call it the Newtown Pippin;) he took grafts with him and grafted them on Paradisc stocks, viz., stocks raised in England from the piprins of apples. Some of them he let grow three years, and wrote back to Long Island for more grafts. When he got them, he cut off those which had grown three years, and grafted again with his newly imported ones from Long Island. They grew and fruited, and were good apples, but not to be compared to what he had in Long Island, and he very truly said it was American air and land. We cannot produce apples or pears in England, equal either to you, France or Belgium.

I will now say something about potatoes, which Cobbet railed so much against; for the last eight years, the farmers have adopted a system, (and I am proud to say that I was man's grasp; viz., when the potato is kept Hardware will be found :for seed, throw it into ground plaster ; in England we use fallen lime, or hydrated lime in powder; the cut side takes up the lime, and prevents its exhausting itself in the earth; it prevents wire-worms, snails, or other vermin attacking it. I see that small potatoes are sold for seed ; they may do well, but I prefer a good sized potato set, that is a potato of good size, cut in two or three pieces, and leave two eves or sprouts; but even in the small potato set, I should recommend a small por-

N EWI.Y IMPROVED MODEL MELODE-ONSI-A full assortment of these instruments EWLY IMPROVED MODEL MELODE-N ONS I—A full assortment of these instruments will be kept constantly on hand for the future, at the Cabinet Warerooms of the Messrs. Lawrence, (at the head of King Street, over the Drug Store of Chaloner & Hunt,) who will be happy to wait upon parties wish-ing to examine or purchase. The price of these in-struments vary from £16 to £48, according to size and atyle. They are believed to be unsurpassed in all the essential points pertaining to good instruments, espe-cially in regard to Equality, Power, Sweetness of tone Promptness of Action, and Style of Finish. Each in strument has a fixed price, from which no deduction can be made. Hence persons incapable of judging of an instrument stand in no danger of deception. From a large number of recommendations voluntarily given by distinguished Musicians, the following have been selected: [From Wm. B. Bradbury.]

[From Wm. B. Bradbury.] Messrs. Mason & Hamlin,-Gents,-I heard with pleasure of your commencing the manufacture of Me-lodens, feeling assured th + you would be able from your practical skill, ample fa ilit es, and peculiar advan-tages, to effect important i uprorements in the con-struction of these Instruments Having now had an opportunity of examining a number of your instru-ments, I am by no means disappointed in the resuit. You are certainly producing Melodeons, which, in all sirable characteristics are, so far as I can perceive, faultless. An Ins rument possessing so many beau-ties, is admirably adapted to the parlor and the church, and 1 am satisfied that so soon as the public become acquainted with the superior merits of your instruments, your only trouble will be to supply the demand. New York, June 2, 1854. WX. B. BRADBURY.

[From Lowell Mason.] "After having carefully examined the Melodeons of Messrs. Mason and Hamlin. I am enabled to say, that, in my opinion, they are decidedly superior to any oth-ers with which I am acquainted." New York, July 1, 1854. LOWELL MASON.

[From George F. Root,] Henry Mason, Esq.,—Dear Sir,—Having had an opportunity of examining Mason & Hamlin's "Model Melodeons," I'm happy to bear testimony to their great excellence.

In general characteristics, and especially in quality and uniformity of Tone and Tuning, they seem to me to be superior to any that I have yet examined. Yours, very truly, GEORGE F. RC 12. New York, May 25, 1854.

[From Edwin Bruce.] Mr. Henry Mason,-Dear Sir,-It is with nuch pleasure that I offer my testimony as to the excellence of the improved "Model Melodeons" manufactured by Mason & Hamlin. I have examined them with much satisfaction, am prepared to express my congdent opi.i-ion, that they are the most perfect Instruments of the kind manufactured, so far as I know. I might mention several points, in which I think they excel, as the fol-lowing: the Tone, both as regards Quality and Quan-tity. the Action, which is exceedingly prompt and tity; the Action, which is exceedingly prompt, and the tune, which is as perfect as any instrument well can be. I have no doubt that the "Model Melodeons" are destined to become universal favorites, as they re-ally deserve. Yours, &c., EDWIN BRUCE. Conductor of Music as Boundoin Street Chusch. Boston, May 31, 1854.

Believing these instruments to be decidedly superio to those of any other make, and having full confidence in their ability to give perfect satisfaction to the most fastidious. The Inhaler is worn on the breast under the liner without the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid.—supplying the lungs constantly with a bearing and agreeable vapor, passing into all the air-cells and passages of the lungs that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine. Here is a case of ASTHMA CURED.

Here is a case of ASTHMA CURED. BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 20th., 1853. For about eight years I have been severly afflicted with the Asthma; for the last two years I have suffer-ed beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing and my sufferings, were so great at times, that for hours together in the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most cele-bsated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr, Curtis's Hygeana or Inhaling fortune to procure Dr, Curtis's Hygena or Inhaling Hygean Vapor, and threry Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most vio-lent attacks, and was in great distress, almost sufficating for want of breath. In less than ten minuites from the time Iapplied the inhaler to my stomach, and took a teaspoon full of the Cherry Syrup I was reliev-ed in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. 'I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and an now comit with the greatest possible benefit, and am now com-paratively well. God only knows the amount of suffer-ing this medicine has relieved mc from. My advice to the suffering is—TRY IT. MARGARET EASTON.

CONSUMPTION CURED .- NEW YORK, DEC. 27th 1853.-I came to New York in the ship Telegrap my native place is St. John, New Brunswick, when reached the city, my health was very poor, had a very bad cough, raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood, bad pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physician pronounced my case consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I ascidentally heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vaof Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Va-por and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily believe was the means of saving my life. Soon after wearing the Inhaler, I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the di-sease made its appearance upon the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better until it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler, as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it. JOHN WOOD

DEAR SIR :—I am happy to be able to certify to the efficiency of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and to the truth what it is represented to accomplish.—Hav-ing a little boy suffering greatly from teething, who could not sleep and at night by his cries would not per-mit any of the family to do so, I purchased a bottle of the Soothing Syrup in order to test the remedy.—and when given to the child according to the directions, its effect upon him was like magic, he soon went to sleep and all pain avd nervousness disappeared. We have had no trouble with him since; and the little fellow will pass through with comfort the excraciting pro-cess of teething, by the sole aid of Mirs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. W. R. R. Yours affectionately,

From the New York Observer.

God's Goodness on the Sea. One of the sons of the ocean called for little conversation. Ho was an officer of a whaleship. His face was bronzed by tropical suns, and well he knew the perils and hardships of the Arctic ocean. He had just returned from a three years' voyage.

" It will give me," said I, " great pleasure to hear anything von have to say." "Well," said he, "I am deeply interested and troubled about the welfare of my soul. And I have come to see you on that subject. And I am more afficted by the sense of the goodness of God to me than by other ideas that enter my mind. And two facts tha occurred during my late voyage have brought God's goodness before me as I have never felt it before. One of these facts is this. It was dark as midnight, and blowing a gale, and I went aloft to help to take in the foretopgallant sail. I laid out on and jerk of the sail threw me right over the yard, and entirely clear of it. But I caught a This was all that saved me from being dashed to pieces on the deck, eighty or nine-ty feet below. It was nothing but God's goodness that prevented my being swept into eternity in all my unpardoned guilt. How much I owe to the Divine goodness.

" On Jesus Christ." "Do you hink you see what he has done for our salvation ?" " He has died for us."

"If I had died for you, would that have been sufficient ?"

" No sir."

"Why, then, does his dying save us ?" "He is God as well as man, and therefore can save us from our sins." "You could not trust in my death; can you rust in his?"

"I desire to trust ; and he has said I may.

"If I had offered to die for you, though it would not have saved you, it would have been a great proof of love, would it not?" " Oh, yes !"

" And you would love me for it?"

" Yes,"

" And do you love Jesus Christ for his ove ?"

"I hope to-I did not."

"What gives you hope that you now love him ?"

"I love to think of him; I love to pray to him; I wish to give my sinful heart to him. and to be his."

" Do you think that you have seriously. when alone, endeavoured to give yourself up to him, to be his child, and to honour him as your Saviour ?"

" Oh ves."

The minister paused.

She then looked on him with earnestness and said, " Do you think, sir, I am right?" Will Jesus Christ receive me ?"

He said a few words for her direction and ncouragement, and dismissed her full of hope. Dear children, thus would we have you feel the burden of sin; thus you should go to Jesus Christ for salvation. Give up your hearts to him, and pray to be his for time and eternity. There is no other way to obtain forgiveness, or to become holy and happy. He bids you come. He waits to receive you. He is ready to bless and save you.

" See Israel's gentle Shepherd stand. With all engaging charms, Hark ! how he calls the tender lambs, And folds them in his arms.

" Permit them to approach, he cries, Nor scorn their humble name; For 'twas to bless such souls as these The Lord of angels came."

A good anecdote is told by some French writer, of the insurrection which ensued in St. Petersburgh after the death of the Emperor Alexander, with a view of preventing the accession of Nicholas. Some were ardent enough to aim at the foundation of a republic at once, and parties of the insurgents were instructed to shout lustily in favor of the change. They obeyed with the drilled submission which distinguishes the Russian solthe yard for the purpose. A powerful flap dier ; but one old grenadier, not seeming to rope, as I was going down, and held by it till the other men on the yard came to my help. This was all that saved me from being dashed to nice.

Long and short Manures.

An excellent article on this subject, quoted from the Germantown Telegraph, will be found on page 67 of the present number, but some of the arguments that should be understood, are there not given. I hose who haves long manures on hand in the fall, and have lands intended for use in the following spring, which may be plowed in the fall, and which soil contains a sufficient amount of clay and carbonaceous matter to retain ammonia, may fertifize with long manures, deeply plowed under; for the decomposition of these manutes will be sufficiently slow to insure the best European Markets under great advantages owing to the unp ralled depression in the Manufacturabsorbtion and retention of all their ammonia ing districts, and the very great reduction in the prices of Goods. Purchasers can therefore rely on getting absorbtion and retention of all their ammonia of Goods, Purchasers can therefore rely on getting by the supernatant portions of the soil, and GREATER BARGAINS THAN EVER. their slow decay will assist in ærating by giving free admission of atmosphere, while the spring plowing will elevate and mix the manures throughout the soil.

We do not advocate the use of long manures in spring, or at any time in sandy or very loose soils, unless those soils are black by the presence of carbon to receive and retain all the volatile gases which may result buy goods, at such prices as will defy competition. tain all the volatile gases which may result from the decomposition of he manure, but for soils that are plastic and clayey, requiring disintegration from the action of winter frosts, we would fearlessly recommend ridging and black furrowing, and the covering up in these ridges of long manures; for certainly the admixture of inert materials of a carbource-ous character in the compost heap, apply with equal fairness to such soils as are capable of equal fairness to such soils as are capable of Low. retaining aminonia, being fertilized with long or undecomposed manures.

For hoe crops, and many others requiring soil in fine tilth, the decomposed manure should then be used in preference to the long, which, from mechanical causes, would interfere too seriously with the action of tools in tended to disturb the soil, causing the undue disturbance of roots, breaking off their, fibres, etc. But the treatment of manures to render them short, should be such in the compost heap, as not to permit the loss of ammonia, and all the facts in relation to such treatment we have before given, such as the arrange-ment of a pump, return to the drainage twice a week on the muck, and thus prevent fire-fanging, the admixture of decomposed swamp muck, and other carbonaceous matters capa-ble of absorbing ammonia liberated dariog the fermentation. The slight use of dilute sul-phuric acid or of plaster, or other sulphates capable of changing the carbonate of ammo-nia to sulphate of ammonia, will also do away with its volatile character. and all the facts in relation to such treatment with its volatile character.

The facility of adding the missing constituents of the soil to the general compost heap in solution is very great, many of which, par-ticularly those of an alkaline character will assist in the decomposition of the manure by softening the woody fibre, liberating the inorganic constituents, and rendering parts solule which otherwise would for a time remain comparatively inert .- Work Furmeri

CHA! ONER & HUNT, DRUGGISTE, I was in the first boat that came alongside of a whale. As I threw the harpoon into him, and he felt the wound, he struck the boat in terrible fury, as if to averge his injury. His fluke, as he struck with it, carried away a Jan. 10. part of the boat, cut off the most, as if it had been by a cannon-ball, and laid me prostrate and senselers in the bottom of the boat. But the stroke had been somewhat deadened be-fore it reached me, and I received by pert while its spiritual advantages are invaluable.
