Gospel News.

How oft the sound our ears assail, What's the news ?—what's the news? What's the news? The best of tidings I make known; The Lord of Glory left his throne And to our lower world came down— That's the news.

He came, redemption to procure; That's the news,—that's the news. He came salvation to secure,-That's the news. For this he suffered every pain;
For this on Calv'ry He was slain;
For this He left the tomb again—
That's the news.

His wings of mercy o'er us brood— That's the news,—that's the news. Our foes are by his power subdued— That's the news. He conquered all the hosts of hell; The glorious truth I love to tell, My Saviour hath done all things well-That's the news.

For the Christian Visitor. "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heav laden, and I will give you rest.

With tearful eyes I look around Life seems a dark and stormy sea; Yet midst the gloom, I hear a sound, A heavenl; whisper,-"Come to me."

It tells me of a place of rest, It tells me where my soul may flee; Oh! to the weary, faint, oppressed, How sweet the bidding—"Come to me."

When nature shudders, loath to part From all I love, enjoy, or see; When a faint chill steals o'er my heart, A sweet voice whispers-" Come to me." "Come, for all else must fade and die, Earth is no resting-place for thee; Heavenward direct thy weeping eye, I am thy portion—Come to me-"

O voice of mercy, voice of love!
In conflict, grief, and agony,
Support me, cheer me from above.
And gently whisper—"come to me."

A whole Family Saved.

Nearly forty years ago, in a town in this Commonwealth, there was in the congregation of which the writer was pastor, a family consisting of a father, mother and four daughners. At the time the writer became pastor of the congregation, the mother only was a professor of religion. She was a consistent and devoted Christian, firm in her adherence the cause of her Master. Two or three years after my settlement, the oldest daughter about eighteen years of age, was visited with marked symptons of consumption. She was not at all aware of her danger: but flattered herself that in a short time, her health and strength would return. In visiting her from week, I saw that her disease was making steady progress, and would certainly terminate fatally. At a proper opporthought it was very cruel that I should excite he fears without cause. But in a short time she was convinced that I had kindly told her the truth. On visiting her again, I found her a state of great anxiety relative to the salation of her soul. She soon found peace in lesus, and then she could hardly find language to express her gratitude for my fidelity. w weeks before her death, she was received into the Church. Her death was joyfu: and triumphant.

The father, a moral and industrious farmer, when his daughter was received into the Church, thought that it was a needless ceremony. But when he saw how joyfully she owned her Saviour before men, and how peacefully she died, his feelings changed .-He had witnessed the power of grace to sustain the soul in a dying hour. He was speedily led, himself, to cry for mercy. The death of the daughter was blessed as the means of bringing the father into the kingdom of God. By the instrumentality of a Pastor's Bible Class, the daughter was espoused to Christ. On the day of her admission to the Church a singular spectacle was witnessed in that congregation. She was admitted in company with seven young men. Two of these young mene felt, that they were called of God to preach the Gospel. One of them died in his College course; and the other is now a useful pastor of a Church in this Commonwealth. The second daughter, some twelve years not, seek it now ! since suddenly finished her earthly course. All the other daughters have since been bought into the visible Church and have gone to the eternal world. The father is also asleep in Jesus. The mother is still left behind; and is bringing forth from in ner old age. When her Sun sets, we have no doubt, that it will be in a

The history of this family encourages individual Christians to pray and labor for the conversion of their family friends. On my first acquaintance with them only one member of the family was pious. When this Christian mother saw that her daughter was narked as a victim for consumption she became importunate in prayer for her conversion, and seconded all the efforts of her pasto to boing her to Jesus. The conversion of her husband was also a burden upon her soul day and night. She did not pray and labor it vain. One by one she saw salvation come into her household. When her Lord shall call her home, we confidently believe the ones. Just at the last, as the drowsiness that she will meet an unbroken family around the throne of God, and that they will unued-

Christian will you pray and labor for the conversion of the impenitent members of your own households? You see what God has done for this family. Take courage, God dreamy tone which the tongue uses when is a prayer hearing and prayer answering sleep steals over its muscles, and the sweet prizing sick persons of their danger. Had this pastor, through a false kindness, feared and foreborn to express his apprehensions in the case of this young woman, what would have been her end? In all human probability, she would have slept the sleep of eternal death. Her pastor could not let her die thus, les her blood should be upon his own head. James the second, in the Great Chamber at scene, an officer in the Church, who accompanied him remarked, "What greater happiness can there be than to witness such power of divine grace on a sick bed?"

Let Christian ministers and private Christians be seasonably faithful in this respect to their sick friends, and their fidelity may save many souls from ruin; while neglect may leave them to sleep on until they wake in everlasting burnings.

The Escaped Slave.

During the night of 21st March, 18-, a Turkish or Algerice captive escaped from confinement, and, after swimming an amazing distance, just reached an English vessel in time to save his life. The night was still and starlight, but without the moon; and few could realize the difficulty of his appalling task when, leaving the galley to which he had been chained, he swam off for an English The distance was dreadful, as seen from the deck; but to the captive, with his eye close to the water, it must have appeared sufficient to destroy all hope of passing it alive. He had obviously marked with care; by daylight, the anchorage of the vessel; and, having filed his fetters and manacles, he slipped quietly into the sea, and started for freedom or death. It was past midnight, the men were turned in, and the sentinel, while patrolling the deck in perfect silence, heard, as he thought, a splash on the ship's side; he listened, and heard another, with a soft moan, and all was still again. He passed the word, and some of the seamen sprang from their berths to the deck, and thence to the water's edge. Here they found the poor exhausted captive senseless, but having his arm entwined in the ladder at the ship's side, which kept him afloat.

British sympathy was soon on fire; the man was hauled on deck; restoratives were applied plentifully and successfully; and, when little revived, this new subject of the British crown was stowed away in one of the sailor's hammocks till the morning.

The following day was one not to be forgotten; the adventure of the night had got wind, and every soul was on fire to know more of the particulars and the event. Some were whispering here, and others there, while imagination was at work in all, when in the presence of the men on deck the captive was brought up and presented to the commander, who pointed him to our mast-head. The man was strong, and much recovered, but felt still the effect of his late exertions; he tried te speak, but failed; his eye turned wildly round upon the crew, then upon the officers, and when it was directed to the streamer which never floats over a slave, he sprung to embrace the mast which carried it, advanced to the belaying pins, and then fell upon the deck with ecstasy, as if in the act of worship,

Such an instance will serve better than a thousand speculations to explain the patriotic devotedness of our British seamen. The fact that they bear and serve a flag which gives perce for death. After I retired she wept, and freedom to every slave under heaven, that and stirs into action all that is most noble and daring in our nature. Her Majestv's navv is more exalted by no one feature in its service than by this-its thunders form a protection for the free, and its presence opens a refuge to the enslaved. He who will become a British subject, on board our ships as on our soil, is guarded in his freedom by the British power.

Reader, above this national majesty lifted up into the nations, only one standard rises through the vast superiori y of that freedom which it imparts. A slave is subjected in his body only, while his spirit may be free; but a SINNER is enslaved by his own passions and in his own soul, although he may enjoy the freedom and opulence of worldly society. It is this slavery of the soul that MERCY designs to terminate; and Jesus, the friend of sinners, has raised his standard to the nations,that all who become Lis subjects may be free! He will not have us as slaves; but to as many as receive him willingly to them gives he power to become the sons of God, even to as many as believe on his name.

The glorious liberty of sons of God is found and enjoyed under his guidance and protectection, and by his support. " He is the freeman whom the truth makes free,

And all are slaves beside.' Reader, if you have obtained the pardon which the TRUTH gives, you are happy. If

Touching Incident.

A few days since a sweet child, a girl of six summers, residing in Brooklyn, was taken to her rest under circumstances peculiarly affecting. She had lost a younger brother but a little while before, and never ceased talking of him, or wearied of hearing her parents tell of the happy home to which he had gone. About two weeks ago, she asked her father to tell her again where her brother was. "In Heaven, my child," said her

"Well, I am going to Heaven too," she replied meekly, " for I have taken for my text, 'Suffer little children to come unto me." Her father soon after left his home to transact some business in Boston, and in his absence she was taken sick. The physicians were called and pronounced her disease "congestion of the lungs," She suffered but three or four lays, during which she was as patient and meek as became one of Christ's litof death came upon her, she closed her ly s ng the song of redeeming love forever said in a voice perfectly audible, Prolific Sheep. At the great Fair recently held near Philadelphia, by the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society, some very peculiar sheep were exhibited; the merits of which were the expair of these sheep, and another and only pair became the property of Mr. A. T. Newbold, also of Philadelphia. From Dr. E. we learn that two of his Tartar or Shanghai ewes brought three lambs last February, all of which have been raised; and now (Nov. 29) two more lively lambs, about a fortnight old. But this is not all: as the two ewe lambs, born last February, have each a lamb, making the old ewe a grand mother within nine months, and her progery seven. These sheep breed twice every year, and have, when six lambs at a time. The fleece is rather hairy, but excellent for the coarser fabrics, such as blankets and carpets. The quality of the mutton is represented to be the finest in the world, delicate and entirely free from any rank or wooly flavor. They are of good size, and very docile, have Roman noses, drooping ears, and their faces are covered Their weight is about the average of our common country sheep, and they are very hardy. We cannot tell you where the Valparaiso squash seed is to be foundbut it isn't worth raising. The "top onions," and all the other seeds you desire, may be found at Ruggles, Nourse, Mason & Co's seed store, at Ruincy Hall, and probably at the other seed stores in Boston .- N. E. Far.

Vinegar.

MESSES. EDITORS,-This has become an almost Indispensable article. The care many families too, who purchase their vinegar at a very considerable expense and are obliged to do with a very inferior article. How very essential it is then, that we should all know how to be supplied with the best of vinegar, and that too without a great expense. I will therefore propose a method by which I think expense. The juice of one bushel of sugar-beets, worth twenty-five cents, and which any farmer can raise with little cost, will make from five to six gallons of vinegar, equal to the best made of cider or wine. First, wash and grate the beets, and press the juice in a cheese-press, or in any other way which a triffing expense.

COPARTNERSHIP NOTICE.—The Subscribers having formed a Copartnership under the name and style of GEO. C. GARRISON & CO. would take this opportunity to inform their friends and the public that they will continue the DRUG and APOTHECARY bysiness in all its varieties, at the old stand, Reed's Point. They have also opened another at the head of King-st., in the store formerly occupied by N. Adams, and nearly opposite that celebra. the best vinegar can be procured at a trifling and grate the beets, and press the juice in a cheese-press, or in any other way which a little ingenuity can suggest, and put the liquor we have on hand a good assortment of Drugs, into a barrel, cover the hung with guaze and Medicines, Perfumery, Confections. into a barrel; cover the bung with guaze and set it in the sun, and in fifteen or twenty days of all it will be fit for use. By this method the very best of vinegar can be obtained without any great trouble; and I hope all who like good vinegar will try it.

DEAR SIR :- I am happy to be able to certify to the efficiency of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and to the truth what it is represented to accomplish.—Having a little boy suffering greatly from teething, who could not sleep and at night by his cries would not permit any of the family to do so, I purchased a bottle of the Soothing Syrup in order to test the remedy.—and when given to the child according to the directions, its effect upon him was like magic, he soon went to sleep, and all pain and nervousness disappeared. We have had no trouble with him since; and the little fellow will pass through with comfort the excruciating process of teething, by the sole aid of Mrs. Winslo Soothing Syrup. Every mother who regards the health and life of her children, should possess it. Lowell, Mass., May 20, 1853. H. A. ALGER.

The Cramp and Pain Killer was the first thing that aforded him any permanent relief. David Barker was four days and nights of intense suffering, by one bottle of the Cramp and Pain Killer. T. H. Carmon—suffer-ing from Cramp in the Limbs, the cords of his legs knotting up in large bunches, was cured by the Cramp and Pain Killer. At another time a few applications entirely cured him of an exceedingly bad RHEUMATIC AFFECTION IN THE BACK.

A young lady, fifteen years of age, daughter of John W. Sherwood, was long affected with SPINAL COMPLAINT, after being reduced to the verge of the grave, was cured by the Cramp and Pain Killler.

JOHN BUCKMAN, after having suffered everything butdeath from RHEUMATISM which seemed to pervade almost every part of his body was cured by the Crampand Pain Killer. Mrs. D vis was cured by it, of Billious Cholic.

BEDICATED INHALATION.—A New Method I—A most wonderful discovery has recently been made by Dr. Curtis for the cure of Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, colds, and all Lung, Complaints, by Medicated Inhalation. Dr. Curtis's Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, has accomplished the most wonderful cures of Asthma, and Consumption in the City of New York and vicinity for a few months past, ever known to man. It is producing an months past, ever knowe to man. It is producing an impression on Diseases of the Lnngs never before witnessed by the medical profession. [See certificates in hands of Agents. ] The Inhaler is worn on the breast under the linen, without the least inconvenience, the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid.—supplying the lungs constantly with a bearing and agreeable vapor, passing into all the air-cells and passages of the lungs that cannot possibly be reached by any other medicine Here is a case of ASTHMA CURED.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Dec. 20th., 1853.

For about eight years I have been severly afflicted with the Asthma; for the last two years I have sufferwith the Asthma; for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bed, getting what rest I could sitting in my chair. My difficulty of breathing and my sufferings, were so great at times, that for hours together in the past six years I have had the aid and attendance of some of the most celebrated physicians, but have received no permanent benefit, and but little relief. I at length had the good fortune to procure Dr, Curtis's Hygeana or Inhaling Hygean Vapor, and Chrery Syrup. At the time I first obtained it, I was suffering under one of my most violent attacks, and was in great distress, almost sufficatobtained it, I was suffering under one of my most vio-lent attacks, and was in great distress, almost sufficat-ing for want of breath. In less than ten minuites from the time Iapplied the inhaler to my stomach, and took a teaspoon full of the Cherry Syrup I was reliev-ed in, a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and am now com-paratively well. God only knows the amount of suffer-ing this medicine has relieved mc from. My advice to the suffering is—TRY IT. MARGARET EASTON. the suffering is-TRY IT. CONSUMPTION CURED.—New York, Dec. 27th, 1853.—I came to New York in the ship Telegraph, my native place is St. John, New Brunswick, when I reached the city, my health was very poor, had a very bad cough, raised a good deal of matter, which was frequently mixed with blood, bad pain in my left side, and was very weak and emaciated. My friends and physician pronounced my case consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard beyond the reach of medicine. I accidentally heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a package, which I verily believe was the means of saving my life. Soon after wearing the Inhaler, I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the disease made its appearance upon the Inhaler. I took the Cherry Syrup as directed, and continued to do so, my cough gradually growing better until it entirely left me, and I now consider myself cured. I still wear the Inhaler, as the use of it is rather pleasant, and believing it strengthening and purifying to the lungs, I feel unwilling at present to dispense with it.
